Making Memorable Impressions

(The real first class of the new millennium)

Starting New Memories

by Jenna Mazzucca

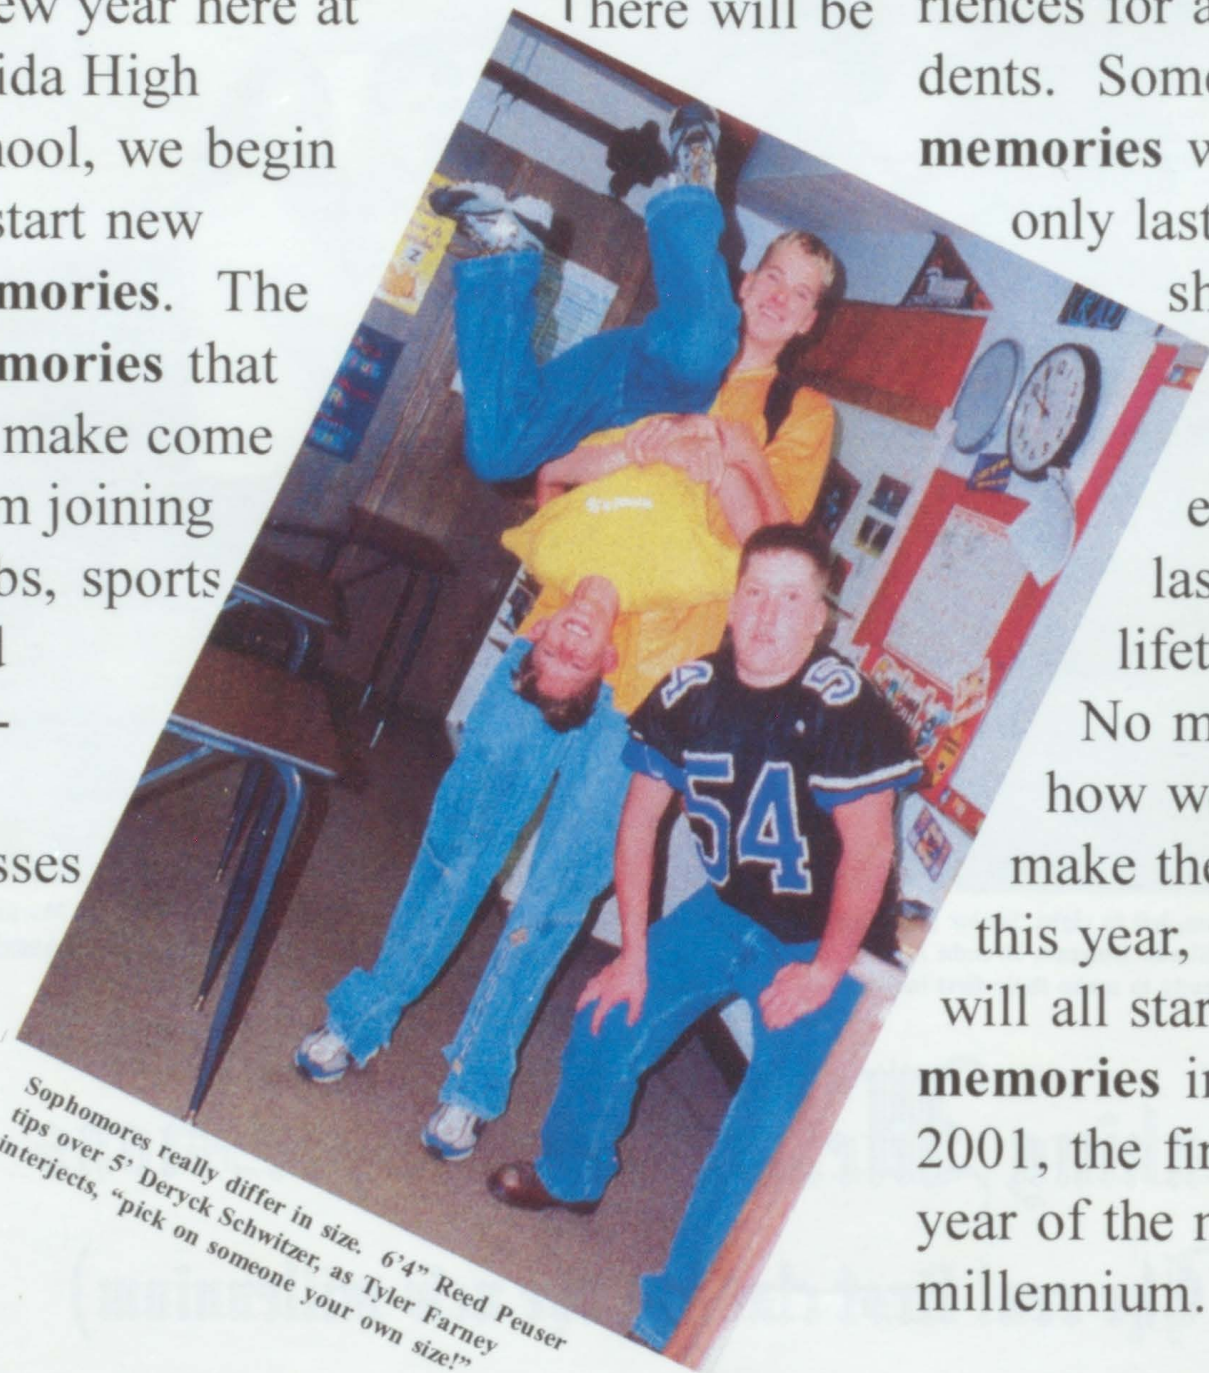

As we enter upon a new year here at Salida High School, we begin to start new memories. The memories that we make come from joining clubs, sports and taking classes with our peers.

There will be memorable experiences for all students. Some memories will only last a short while, others will last a lifetime. No matter how we make them this year, we will all start new memories in 2001, the first year of the new millennium.

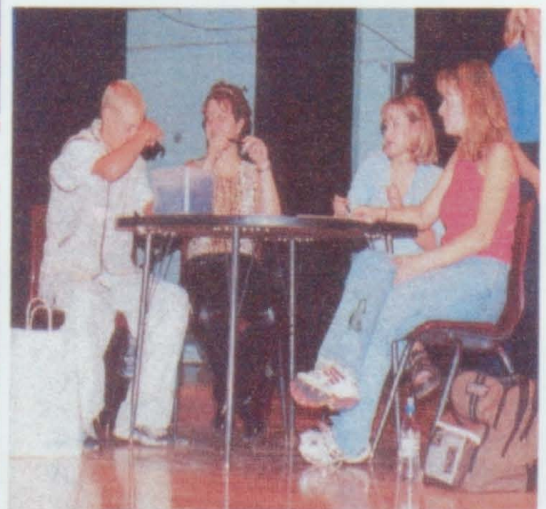

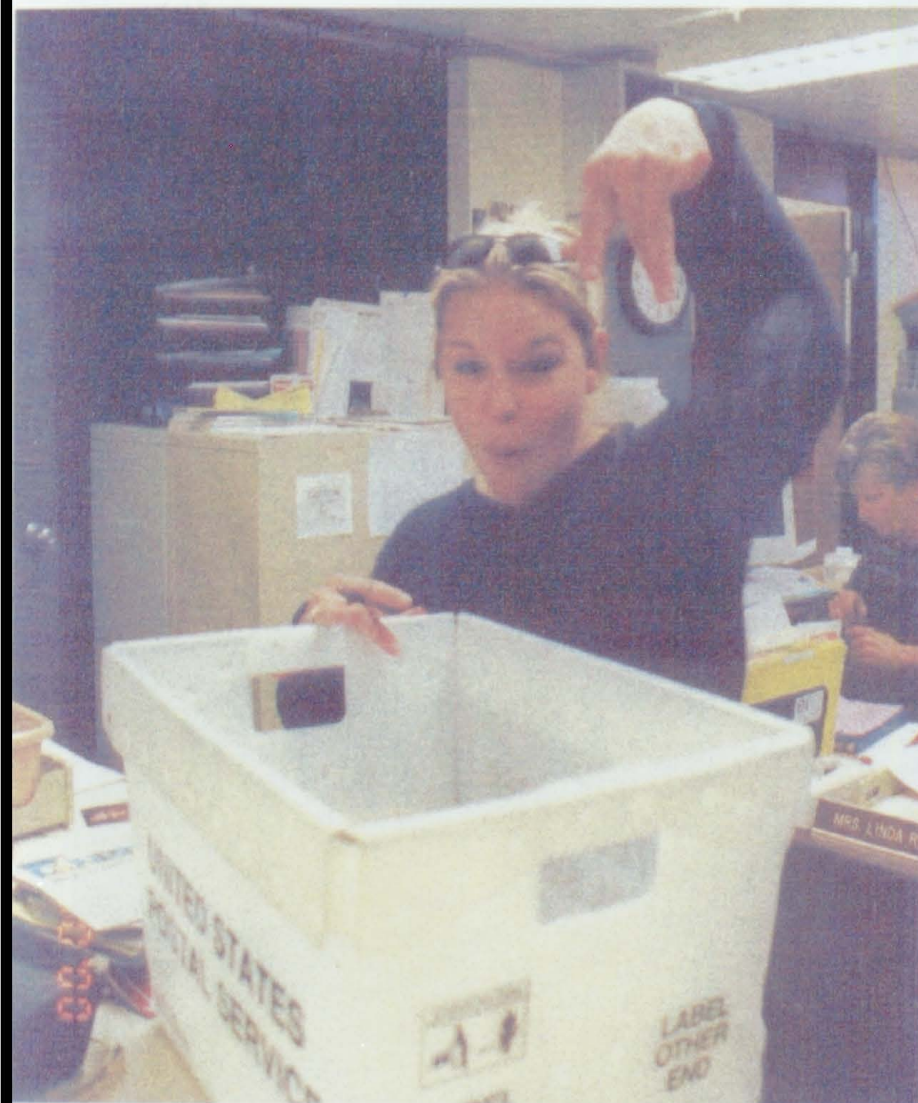

Sophomores really differ in size. 6'4" Reed Peuser tips over 5' Deryck Schwitzer, as Tyler Farney interjects, "pick on someone your own size!"

The inseparable bunch: John "Tito Quick" (before he had to leave school due to cancer-but he'll be back next year); Reed "Peuse" Peuser, Mitch "Chico" Curran, Jim "Jaime" Curran-gotta wear shades and yes we're bros; and Josh "Dague" Dague. Can't see him but Aaron "Vee" Vigil is on the other side. How do people acquire nicknames?

Above: Sassy Julie Warren asks, "Do ya love me?"
Below: Picture day and Le Resume' staff members attend to business: Soph. Mitch Curran, and editors Jenna Mazzucca, Dara Pierce, and Jessi Kaan.

Cherished Memories

by Dara Pierce

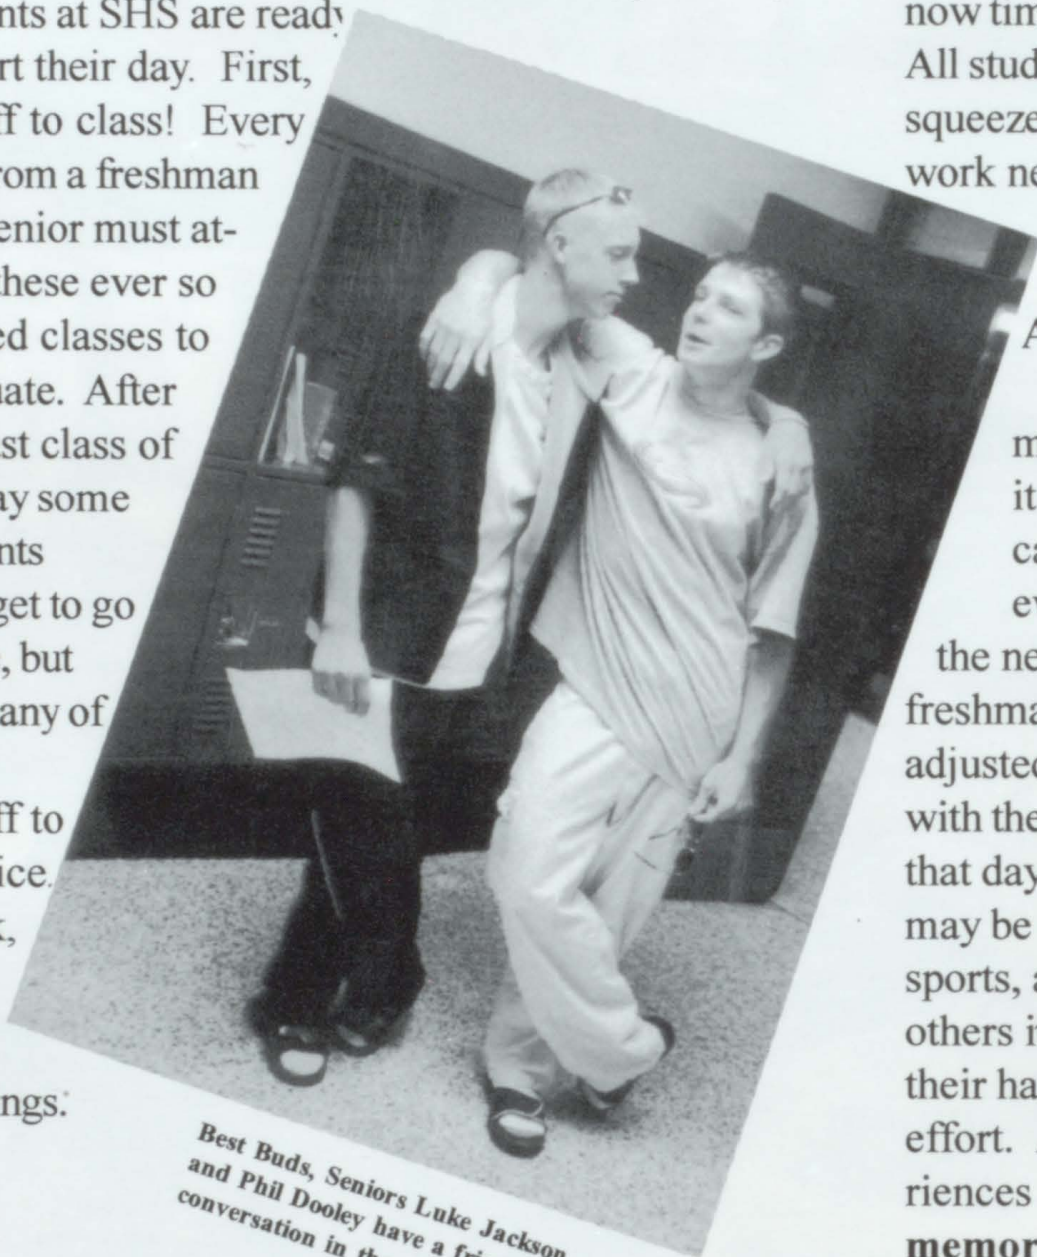

It's 8:12 a.m., and the students at SHS are ready to start their day. First, it's off to class! Every one from a freshman to a senior must attend these ever so needed classes to graduate. After the last class of the day some students may get to go home, but for many of us it's off to practice, work, or club meetings.

When work, practice, or meetings are through, it's now time for homework. All students must squeeze in that homework needed to pass their classes.

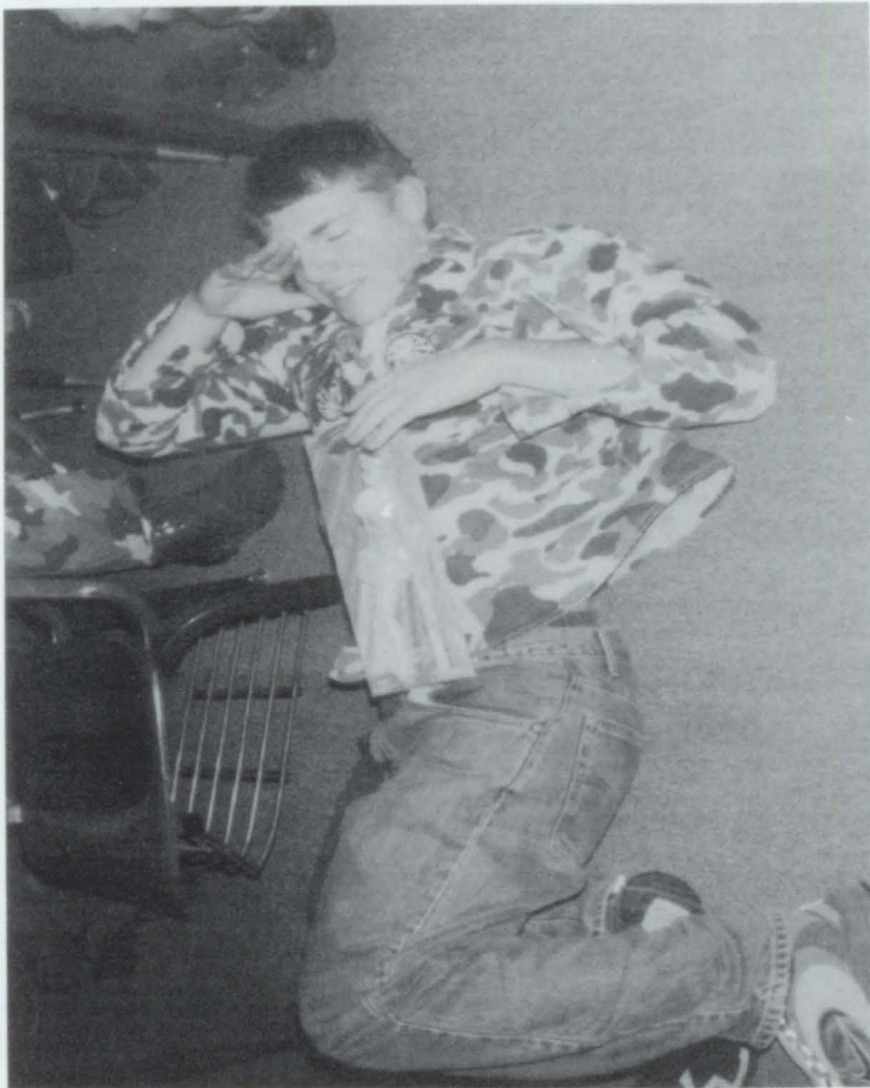

At the end of the day, no matter how busy it was or in some cases wasn't, every student from the newly adjusted freshman to the well adjusted senior will take with them a memory of that day. For some it may be of a friend, sports, and clubs; but for others it may be of all their hard work and effort. All of these experiences will be cherished memories that will last forever.

Best Buds, Seniors Luke Jackson and Phil Dooley have a friendly conversation in the Senior Hall.

Above: Seniors Shana Duncan, Gracy Morgan, Kathy Zuber, Mandy McEnulty, Dara Pierce, Leah Underwood, Terry Moore, and Natalie Swartz all sit on the bench before school. Below: "Nap time." Junior Justin Krebs wakes up from his afternoon nap in Mrs. Curran's english class to find himself holding a barbie.

It seems that summer break is never long enough. It is hard to MAKE the most of summer when you're working or training for sports, but we always find a way to MAKE it LAST-and savor it.

When we did get a break from working or training, we tried or Hot Shots, shooting pool.

"The best part about my summer was going to California with the Gerlach family. It was the second time I'd been out of Colorado in my life," said sophomore Deryck Schwitzer.

So whether we spent time

Students make summer-a time that is so short-live on in their memories.

to escape by getting out of town-Salida in the summer just doesn't seem to cut it for many of us.

Camping is usually part of our summer fun, but with the fire ban this year, it was difficult to get up into the mountains-so we were stuck with F St., and of course, just hanging out at the bank, this summer at the usual hang outs or took trips out of town, we all tried to MAKE it LAST because before we knew it, we were right back here at Salida High, eagerly anticipating the arrival of NEXT summer and another break from our grueling day to day learning. Summer will return.

Deryck Schwitzer keeps himself and others entertained down at the bank with the Mountain Dew bottle! Do the Dew! Jr. Dolan Potts regulates the swimmers at the Salida Hot Springs Pool, another hot spot this summer. And one last group hug and night out for Srs. Annette Perez, Cammeron Davidson, Craig Nelson, Brent Wilcox, Ari Kahan, Jenna Mazzucca, Veronica Nay, Lisa Mc Farland, Julie Warren, and Dan Arnett, with Jrs. Rochelle Valdez, Kelsie Holmes, and Nicole Deturk, and last but not least; the little guys- sophs. This year Salida High School added a new club to its list, the Student Booster Club or STUBOO as it is called.

"A few students and I decided to decorate for the first home football scrimmage this year. Then the athletic booster club congratulated us on our efforts," said STUBOO President Lisa McFarland. STUBOO is modeled after the athletic booster club.

The athletic boosters have had a very successful year. They have raised over $1,600 for Sr. John Quick who has cancer and has been out of school since the beginning of the year. They have been selling clothes and paraphenilia with Spartan logos, and they had their most successful Spartan Pride BBQ yet at the beginning of the year.

This has inspired the students to show more spirit by decorating for home events. They asked the athletic booster club to sponsor a new club that would give support to all of Salida's atheletic teams. The booster club has been very generous in donating a monthly amount to the club for supplies.

Once they had the money they just needed the manpower. Anyone who was interested in boosting school spirit was asked to join and help with decorating, making locker posters, team posters for the halls, and supplying goodie bags for teams that they couldn't decorate for, such as golf.

Lisa McFarland, Gracy Morgan, Annette Perez, Shana Duncan, and Jenna Mazzucca are the charter members.

Homecoming is always a memorable event for the students at SHS. Homecoming 2000 started out with spirit week. Monday was pajama day; Tuesday "goofy" day; Wednesday class color: Seniors having blue, Juniors green, Sophomores orange, and Freshman red; Thursday, originally opposite sex day, was changed to favorite team day, but many students dressed in opposite sex anyway; and Friday was the traditional purple and white day.

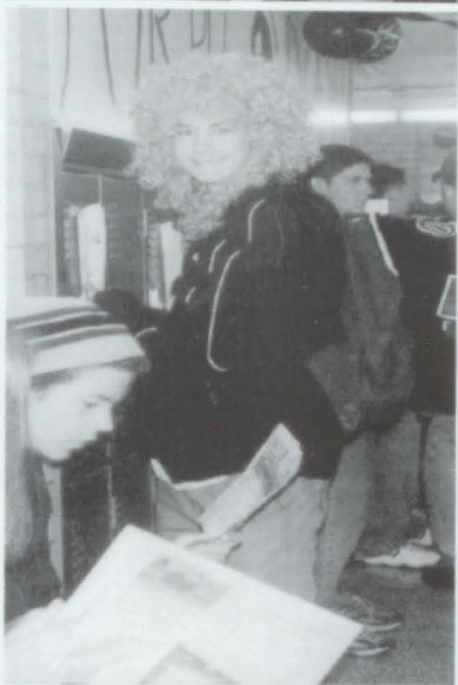

Friday afternoon was the pep assembly. At the pep assembly Kindra Ryff was crowned queen, and her court consisted of Brenda Abbott, Carley Talada, and Julie Warren. Following the assembly was the parade down "F" Street. The theme for the parade was superheroes. The Senior class won first prize with their "Batman" float, and the Juniors came in second with "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles." The chili supper and pep rally followed the parade, with the Senior class winning a prize of $100 for the class comp at the pep rally. The football game took place that evening. The Spartans played a tough fought game, but the game was a loss.

Saturday was also full of events for the Homecoming weekend. The Lady Spartan volleyballers lost to the Fountain Valley Danes in a hard battled game. The Spartan boy's soccer team won their game against the Fountain Valley Danes. Homecoming 2000 winded down on Saturday night with the dance.

FCCLA, Family Career Community Leaders of America, donated $350 to the OB department for a digital camera. The club was able to donate the money for the camera through funds collected last year for their Newborns in Need project.

President Lisa McFarland and Vice President Dara Pierce learned of the Newborns in Need project at a district planning meeting last year. President Lisa McFarland said, "When we heard about this project we thought that it would be a great way to give back to the community."

The Newborns in Need project was started last year, but didn't take off too well. "It was hard to get the community to donate things that babies would need because we didn't really have good publicity for it last year," commented McFarland. At the end of the year last year, the club applied for a $150 grant from the EPYCS club at Salida High School. They received the grant from EPYCS, but weren't able to use it until this year.

Pam Cantonwine, who works at the hospital, did some research for the club to find out what the hospital needed for the babies. The hospital said that all they really needed was a digital camera to take pictures of the babies. The club decided that this would be the way that the money for Newborns in Need would be spent.

Clubs & Organizations Offer Diverse Activities

-by staff

Busy, Busy, Busy! Whether, it's STUCO, FBLA, VICA or whatever, many students at SHS are involved, and things are Happening!

What would high school be without extra activities? Sure, academics are essential, but clubs, activities, and organizations, all teach life skills that will also carry students further.

For instance, Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) is planning a year-end trip reoccurring event. Then there's Foreign Language Club (FLC) that according to President Jenna Mazzucca is trying to do more hands on activities rather than just bringing in speakers. "We've been learning how to prepare differnt kinds of cuisine, and make various projects instead of just hearing about it," said Mazzucca.

Getting back to academics, there is also National Honor Society (NHS) in which Mazzucca is also presito Ocean Journey and Hard Rock Cafe in Denver. Now that would be something to look forward to besides finals.

"We also do fundraisers and eat a lot of food," said VP Dara Pierce.

Student Council (STUCO) is as active as ever. The first annual Salida High Talent Show was held on Jan. 18, 2001 in the John Held Auditorium. Quite a large crowd showed up to watch the 5 acts that performed. This may be a dent. "You have to be a junior and have at least a 3.35 GPA to be considered and then membership is offered by Principal Carrick. If a student accepts, the candlelight ceremony is held in the Spring. Seniors who previously had not qualified may be accepted as well," according to Jenna.

These are just a few of the offerings. Students who want to "round out" their educations should consider activities rather than just attend school for 4 years.

Future Jeopardy or Millionaire contestants: Both the JV and Varsity Knowledge Bowl teams practice every Tuesday & Thursday at lunch. JV hones their skills in Mr. Lambert's room and Varsity masters their skills in Mr. Sanger's room. At their regional monthly competitions in Alamosa, K-Bowl has been within the top three placements each month. At the Delta meet, the contenders overcame tremendous obstacles including getting there late due to road problems. Furthermore, there was a monumental error on the written test that left them 35 points behind. Yet they rallied by scoring 80 points in 4 oral rounds-an unheard of achievement-and actually took 1st place, but a judge shorted the team 2 points in the last round, so they ended up 3rd.

Captain Terry Moore accepts his 2nd place trophy in the Individual Competition at the the Delta Meet. He placed 2nd in the written test and 1st in the oral testing. Mr. Jerry Reed of Alamosa presents Terry his trophy.

Sr. Gracy Morgan placed 1st in Accounting. Sr. Terry Moore received his 1st place award in Economics and Soph. Emily Orrill won 1st place for Business Math. "It's a good year-one of our best," said Mrs. Stagner.

The Making of a Classic

20-Drama

Bringing back memories to most who attended, the drama club presented the classic three-act play, Our Town. It is the most performed play in the country. So many have seen it, and some have even acted in this play.

The story of Our Town follows two families throughout everyday life--growing up, marriage and death.

Clare Tischer, David Richardson, Terry Moore, Shannon Smith, Graham Davidson, Ty Montgomery, Autumn Leva and many others acted in the performance.

Tischer, president of the drama club as well as being Emily Webb in Our Town said, "I was pleasantly surprised by the number of guys who joined drama this year.

"As a group, it gave us better opportunities when we chose our one acts and spring play."

Earlier in the school year, drama presented its annual one-act plays. "Mirrors," "The Whole Shebang," and "Beauty" competed to gain a stage for league competition.

"The Whole Shebang" originally won the contest but "Mirrors" was chosen to compete at league because a main character in "Shebang", Jessi Kaan, graduated early and would not be able to attend.

Tischer said, "I'll miss everything about drama but especially the people. Drama members are not your average people and that's why it was so fun."

Leaving Our Final Impressions

Winterfest week went well despite little participation from the student body during Spirit Week. “Not many people dressed up, but those who did, went all out,” said senior Kathy Zuber.

Aside from Spirit Week, Shauna Sheridan, Crystalyn Soules, Natalie Swartz, and Clare Tischer were named to the royal court. The candidates weren’t named until Monday, instead of the usual Friday before Winterfest, because of such close votes between about eight girls. On Friday, during the Pep Assembly, basketball captains Dan Arnett and Phil Dooley crowned Natalie Swartz as the 2001 Winterfest Queen. “When they put the crown on my head, I felt like I just ran a 400, because my stomach was in knots!” commented Swartz. Also on Friday night, the girls and boys basketball teams played against the Florence Huskies. Both the boys and girls teams lost.

The Winterfest dance followed on Saturday, with the theme of “Unchained Melody” and the colors of maroon and silver. It brought in $560 for Student Council, making it the third largest ever, despite the snow that fell steadily all day. Oh well, doesn’t “Winterfest” mean snow?

Co-op Is What You Make of It

-by Megan Welch

"I really enjoys doing CO-OP!"

Any kind of extra experiences that kids get are a good thing. "I think the satisfaction they get out of it has a lot to do with the effort they put into it," added Roberts.

No matter what the kids in CO-OP choose to do this year, they will always have their memories and the experience that will help them in their futures.

This year the Seniors at Salida High School are making and getting job experiences and gaining credit as well.

Twenty-three students are participating in the CO-OP program.

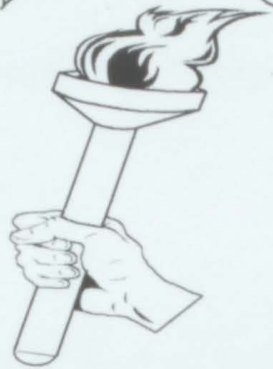

A new face in the department is Ms. Roberts who took over for Mr. Lowe. She commented, "I really enjoy running CO-OP."

Impress Me!

-by Jenna Mazzucca

Impress me! Show me what you're made of! Mike Surber impressed us and showed us that he was made of State championship material. This year at the Pepsi Center in Denver, the 130 lb. wrestler soared to the top. Other SHS athletes have worked hard during their seasons to impress the rest of the student body. Sports play a major role in some of the students' lives, taking up hours each night for practices and time on weekends for games. Many athletes give up free time outside of the season for training. No matter how each season ends, every team works hard to improve as the year goes on.

Making Improvements

-by Brie Murdock,
Nora Krause, and
Emily Orrill

Progress, Progress, Progress. After a rough beginning of the season for varsity volleyball, it all really smoothed out in the end.

Coach Dave Horton has been head coach of the Salida High School girls volleyball team for the past four years. Of this year's team he said, "Tremendous job. The girls have improved immensely since last year. The skill level of this team is the best since my four years of coaching began."

With the addition of two new coaches, Heather Potts and Erin Schmidt, the C and JV teams have gotten much attention.

C-team player Niki Argys says, "It was a lot of fun. I think being involved in volleyball made the beginning of high school a lot easier. I got to know a lot of the upperclassmen before school even started."

Sophomore and JV setter Rebecca Medina said, "JV played great this season. We never lost a home game and only lost one league game. I think our team has a good mixture of skills and we work well together."

Although varsity didn't go as far as they would've liked to, the girls made improvements and had a well-fought season, making the next season one to anticipate.

Making the Most of a Great Season

-by Megan Welch

This year the Salida Spartan boys golf team worked hard to make the season a memorable one. This season was especially memorable for senior, Simeon Chelf, who was the only golfer to make it to State this year. "It was good to be at State, I had fun," Chelf stated.

Coach Barry Spence proclaimed, "Chelf had a really exceptional first day at State. It's just a huge accomplishment to even make it there." Chelf commented on the season that overall, "The team struggled a little this year, but had a great season."

With such young team Coach Spence said, "The team did a great job this year, we had a really successful season."

This year the boys golf team consisted of three seniors, one junior, and seven freshmen. Spence anticipates the team to be strong next year.

"Even though we might be missing some of our low scorers, we will have a good team." One freshman, Chase Bayuk, has been playing varsity and looks to have a bright future.

This year the Salida team placed third at the Salida tournament, third at the La Junta tournament, and fifth at Alamosa. With so many young players, the boy's golf team sure made the most of their season.

We Almost Made it!

-by Jessi Kaan

"The season was pretty great even though we were jipped out of state," expressed co-captain and Senior Luke Jackson. The boys 7-8 record barely missed qualifying for state competition.

When asked about what made the season so close to excellent, co-captain and Senior David Richardson said, "The foreign exchange students provided some extra 'umph' this season, and they really made a difference." The top scorer, Leo Ondraschek from Germany, made a season total of 16 goals. "They brought confidence and experience to the team because they came from places where soccer is played constantly and they are extremely comfortable with it," explained Coach Bright about the foreigners.

The boys played very well, but after losing to ECA, and losing their chance at state, the wind was taken out of their sails. "We continued to play competitively after the ECA game, but our heart and soul approach was diminished," said junior Corey Dobson.

Coach Bright projected that, "Although next year's team will be a young one, due to the six seniors leaving this year, as the season progresses, I think the other teams in our league will recognize Salida as a force to reckon with."

Making Memorable Times

-by Jenny Ragan

The 2000 Salida High School Cross Country teams left quite a few memorable impressions on our minds this season. The most memorable accomplishments were that of junior Molly Kerrigan and senior Simeon Brandon. Their outstanding finishes at the State meet held at Kent Denver really topped off an exciting season.

Molly's qualifying for the State meet made it her third year in a row, which kept the streak alive of a Salida lady Cross

Simeon also qualified for state 3 out of his 4 high school years. He placed high at the state meet, receiving 10th place out of over 130 other runners.

Also qualifying for state were freshmen Nick Daugherty and Hallie Bevan; sophomores Robin Gerlach and Deryck

Schwitzer; and junior Josh Dalrymple

The Salida boys had a considerably smaller team than they have had in previous years with 5 runners. However, the girls team was larger this year with 9 female runners.

While teams will be losing 3 key seniors next year, this young team is sure to keep striving for excellence and leaving their impressions wherever their feet touch the ground.

Making an Effort

-by Stephanie Edmonds

The 0-9 Salida Spartan Football team had a very challenging season, but they persevered. "Football has to be fun, but it is hard to have fun loosing. The boys kept the joy going. They never got disappointed to the degree of quitting," Coach Bob Sanders proclaimed.

Although there were no wins this season, the team, with great leadership from the seniors, had some improvements.

Both individual and team improvements made impressions in everyone's minds. According to Coach Sanders, mistakes were made all year that cost the team a few possible victories. The teams that the Spartans faced this year were all challenging, but the players all stepped up and played well. The Lake County game which was the last of the season was the closest to a win for the Spartans.

"If you ask a Spartan football player to step up to the line, they do it, they don't step back in fear, they just step up and accept the challenge," noted Sanders.

Coach Sanders is optimistic for next year. The team has quite a few quality athletes returning. "We can only go one way from here, up, and we plan on doing that," stated Sanders.

A Memorable Experience

-by Dara Pierce

Once again, both the fall and winter squads had unique opportunities.

On September 19, 2000, members of both squads attended a Colorado Rockies baseball game where they got to walk onto the field and be recognized. They remained on the field through the national anthem and were shown on the big screen before the start of the game. Even though the Rockies lost, it was a memorable experience for those involved.

Also, the fall squad was composed of nine members instead of the usual eight. The winter squad originally had eight members, but by the end of the season, only six members remained. So numbers on the squads was also different than usual.

Fall captain Leigh Ann Ertl said, "We had a lot of fun this year, and got many more things done than in years past. Having nine members on the squad allowed us to work more on stunts also."

Winter captain Kathy

Zuber said of her squad, "Having only six members on our squad was a challenge, but we made it through the season with a lot of effort."

As usual, the girls worked hard to keep spirits soaring throughout the year. Rah Rah and show your SPIRIT!!

Highly spirited Dara Pierce enjoys the game.

We'll Remember This One

The 2000-2001 wrestling season is one that will stay in the school's memories for years to come. Sending seven people to State this year meant having one wrestler in each of over half of the weight classes. Although we only had one come out on top, with Mike Surber taking first at 112 pounds, there were some other teammates worth mentioning: Senior Simeon Brandon took 6th at 103 pounds, Junior Josh Hightower took 5th at 145 pounds, and Senior Cameron Davidson took 5th at 152 pounds. "After having some tough sports seasons at SHS, it was nice to bring home a State championship for the Spartan faithful," commented Coach Doug Horton.

The most impressive aspect of the season was Surber going on to the Rocky Mountain National competition and placing first. Seeded 19th out of 64 wrestlers, Mike surprised and impressed all. He along with teammates Simeon Brandon and Cameron Davidson will represent the southern half of the state in the all-state games this June.

Aside from the individual accomplishments, the team as a whole did well, too. They took second at the Rob Mikel and Regional competitions. With such an impressive season, Coach Horton promised that they will make next year great too. Horton has high hopes for sophomore Robin Gerlach, who is attending a 28 day intensifying camp this summer, and for junior Josh Hightower.

Making Impressive Moves

-by Nora Krause & Brie Murdock

Not only was the basketball team sharpening their skills, they were also working together as a team. Head Coach Matt Reavis said, "Getting a few wins early in the season helped out the confidence of the team." The team created a new image, which was a major improvement from last year.

There were three team captains for the varsity squad: Dan Arnett, Phil Dooley, and Jim Curran. Phil Dooley commented, "My senior year during basketball season was super. Salida Spartan basketball I think will improve in the years to come. This was by far the most fun year."

Jim Curran added, "At least we had a few wins this year, and we did great at Mesa State camp. I hope the team continues to improve."

Having a 6-14 record was a major improvement from last year with only one win. With the upcoming JV players, and the current varsity players, the team hopes to improve their skills even more for next year's season. At the end of the year Mr. Reavis took all the seniors to a Nuggets-Lakers game, making it a memorable experience for a group of guys that he has coached for four years. All the practices and games really made this year memorable.

Making Adjustments for the End of the Season

-by Niki Argys, Jen DeLuca, & Heather Kailey

The girls had a rocky start in the beginning, but they ended the season with a bang, winning the last 6 of 7 games. Co-captain Kelsie Holmes commented, "Even though there were a lot of off-the-court quarrels this season, they seemed to disappear on the court and we played really well together." The girls' teamwork ended the season with a 13-7 record.

Kelsie thought that, "The highlight was when we went had that end of the season winning streak and the semi-finals in district competition."

Making it to the second round of districts, the first game was away against Manitou Springs where they had a triumphant victory of 33-20. After progressing into the second round, their final district game was away against Colorado Springs Christian School. Unfortunately, the girls lost 25-49, but Head Coach Dave Horton thought, "The girls peaked at the right time."

He also thinks they have done a great job of improving fundamental skills.

"My goals for next year are to continue to improve on basic skills, especially shooting and to have more development over the course of the summer."

With one player graduating, co-captain Brenda Abbott, along with working on the essential skills in the off season, we expect to see good impressions.

Impressions on the Court

-by Dara Pierce

What an impressive season for tennis! "It was great because there was a great group of players, excellent weather, (there was?) and a great facility," said Coach Dave Horton.

The team continuously improved throughout the season and ended with one of its best records in years.

Typical spring weather-as in SNOW-caused districts to be played on a Sunday afternoon after being delayed for two days because our team was snowed in.

Once at districts, the girls made their presence felt. Beating most of the teams they were supposed to, the girls played competitively.

The #1 doubles team of Laura Kelso and Nicole DeTurk placed 4th in our region. Laura said, "At districts I was able to find out how well Nic & I progressed. It was the best season for us and I'm looking forward to next year."

Not only did the varsity team have a great season, but JV did also. JV got to play more matches than ever before due to overscheduling for the varsity team.

The younger girls progressed and developed their games. Coach Ed Lambert said of his girls, "I really enjoyed the new girls and there's a lot of positive potential for upcoming years."

Pride is high also. The girls are proud of their courts.

Making the Most of a Small Team -by Jenny Ragan

For having such a small golf team, the girls created quite a few memorable occasions.

When you only have four girls on the team, you all get to play and you get to play a lot. This led the golfers to missing quite a bit of school.

"Going to every tournament was very hard, especially when I was out two weeks sick. Missing that much school can really hurt, but we did a great job by getting all of our assignments in and staying eligible the whole season," said Jenny Ragan.

Not only was the team small, but they were also quite young-no seniors.

"I am really looking forward to next season as we have no seniors. All the girls seem to want to improve," said Spence.

"I think we made the most of what we had to work with this year," said Ashley. "I think we all had a lot of fun and definitely improved along the way."

One most memorable item is that all four girls scored personal bests this season-a memorable feat in itself.

Ashley's personal best was a 128. Katie improved vastly and scored a 125. Erika greatly improved and achieved a 110. Finally Jenny a season best with a 118.

With no seniors leaving, the girls should be more experienced next year and maybe there will be a few more of them.

Soccer Makes Impressive Gains

-by Erin Salisbury

Improvement was a major theme of the girls soccer team. They finished with a record of 5-8-1. This was a tremendous change from the past. The girls soccer teams have not been that strong previously because there have not been a lot of club programs for them to get experience. Many of the starting varsity players have little or no experience.

"We had a really good time and we improved a lot!" junior and co-captain Molly Kerrigan said. She added, "I think that we will be really good next year."

Reflecting on the season, Coach Bright said, "It was a successful year. I feel that we accomplished things we never did before. We laid a great foundation for future teams."

Awards were announced on May 18 and both Molly Kerrigan and Erin Salisbury were awarded 1st team All-League status. Receiving honorable mention were Tina Potts and Leah Underwood. Leah, the only senior was the top scorer.

The girls have made memorable impressions and things only look better for next year. Fr. Britny Pierce said, "I think we worked together well and improved." Look for a "bright" season next year!

Running Into Changes

-by Nora Krause & Katie lee

It seems like every year there is some kind of change that occurs within the sports programs. Well this year saw an abundance of changes in both track teams.

For one, Coach Butacan, who transferred to the middle school, coached the girls instead of the boys. Change one.

Coach Lowe, who left for Canon City last year, was replaced by Coach Tim Vrudny, Noah and Nick's dad. Change two.

Finally, Coach Frame

moved back to Kansas and in stepped Coach Watson, Josh and Jeremiah's dad. Change three. Gino Guccione-of custodial fame-was also brought on board to help with throwing.

Although very much a "rookie" coaching staff, at least one trackster qualified for State as opposed to nobody qualifying last year.

Sr. Cammeron Larson will be attending State competition in mid May in the discus event.

"I'm really excited to go to State this year. I think it will be a really good experience for me," said Cammeron.

We run into changes every year. This year just had an exceptional amount of changes for the tracksters. As they acclimate to each other, we can look forward to more State qualifiers, more personal bests, and just more interest in this intense sport. Maybe, we'll even get a new track-let's hope.

Chasing Memories

-by Nora Krause & Katie Lee

Girls track definitely made a lasting impression as many of them chased down their personal best records this season.

The return of Coach Butacan, who is now teaching at the middle school, caused several changes in the program. His coaching style is quite different from that of Coach Frame from last year, but the girls adapted and rallied to the change.

Senior captain Natalie Swartz said, "Coach Butacan has helped us to get where we are, and he is just a great coach."

Last year's team sent only one runner to State, however, eight girls are going this year showing a vast improvement.

Two relay teams qualified. The 800 meter medley relay team of Amber Canterbury, Brenda Abbott, Natalie Swartz, and Kelsie Holmes will be running, as will the 3200 meter relay team of Jennifer Philipps, Jen DeLuca, Hallie Bevan, and Autumn Leva.

Furthermore, Kelsie Holmes qualified in the 400 meter dash as did Natalie Swart in the 200 meter dash.

Freshmen Jen DeLuca said, "I'm really excited that our relay qualified and it will be an awesome experience for me to go to State as a freshmen."

Let's hope State goes well for those going. With only 3 seniors graduating, it is a fair prediction that next year should be a strong season.

An Impressive Future -by Jenna Mazzucca

Although the team didn't finish with a winning record, there's no doubt they are improving as the years go by. Their record was better than the few years past, and with such a young team, they're making a strong team for the future. The team started with seven seniors and only two finished off the season, Duke Furcheau from Sagauche and Aaron Wing. The rest of the varsity team consisted of three freshmen, six sophomores, and two juniors. "The baseball team's definitely improved and I'm looking forward to my senior year, then we'll all be seniors and we should have a strong team," said sophomore Todd Little.

So even though they weren't record-breakers this season, the future promises a more impressive team.

Making the Grade

by Jenna Mazzucca

High school is made up of academics. There is no denying that most of us focus in on our classes. True, some of us play sports and join clubs, but academic performance is where society puts the main emphasis.

The academic program has been going through some major changes in the last few years with teachers retiring and new teachers becomnig part of the faculty. Every student and teacher is adjusting to these changes and we're all trying to make the grade.

Seniors Pam Cantonwine and Gracy Morgan work diligently on their accounting. "I plan to major in business, so this class will prepare me for college," commented Gracy.

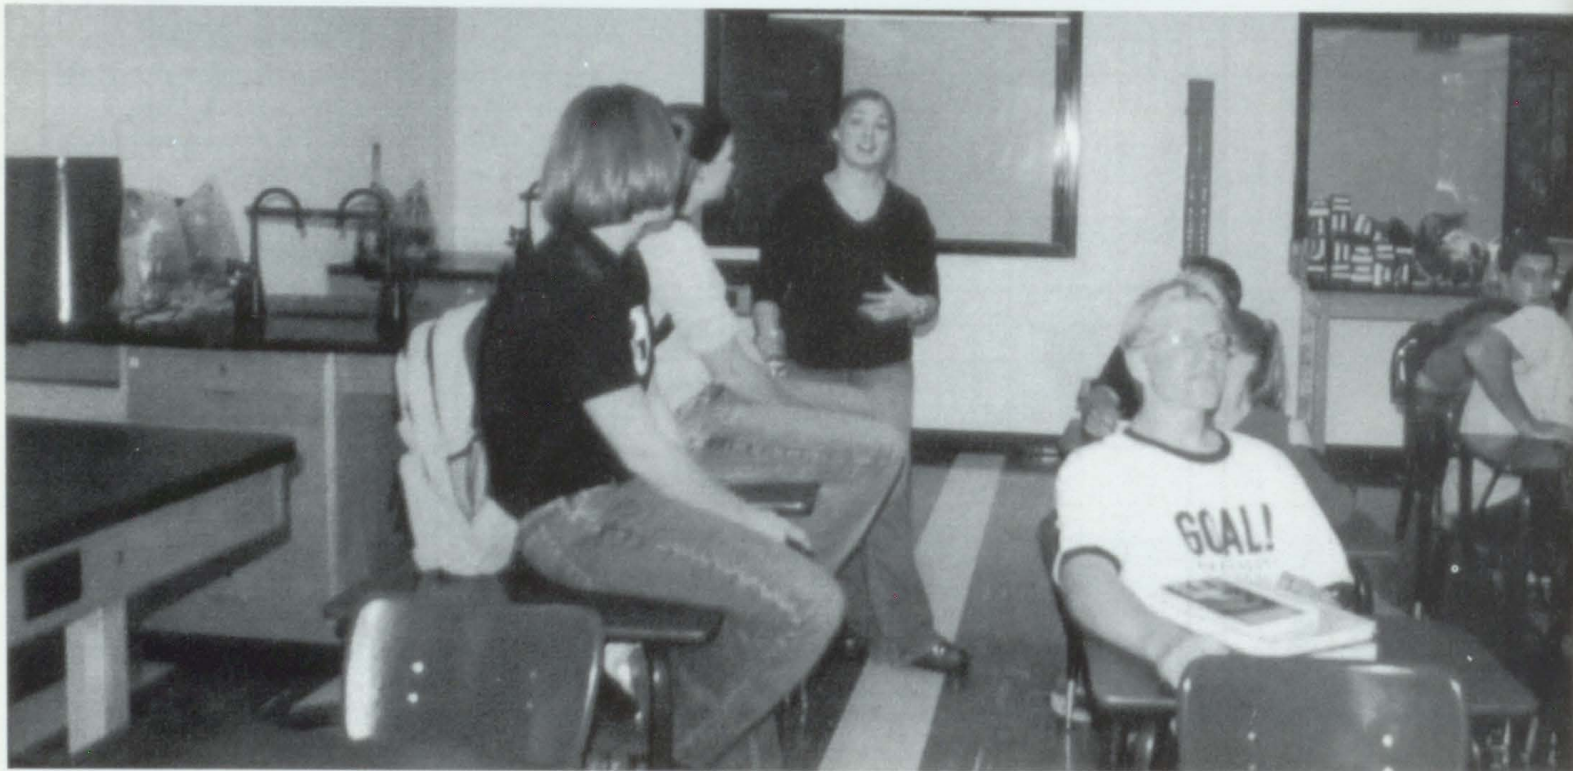

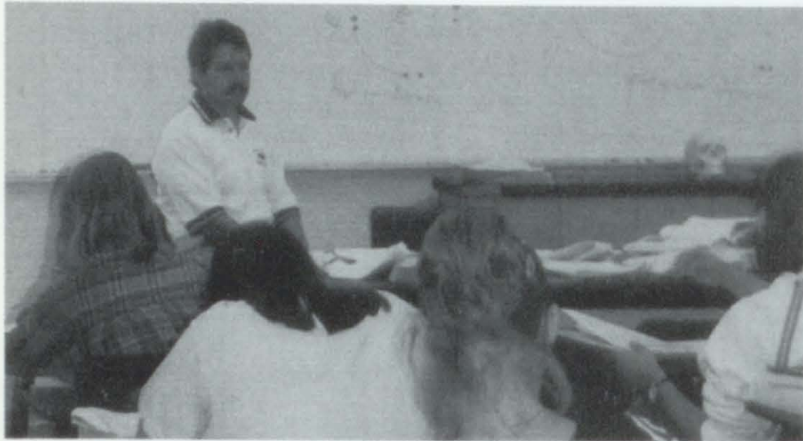

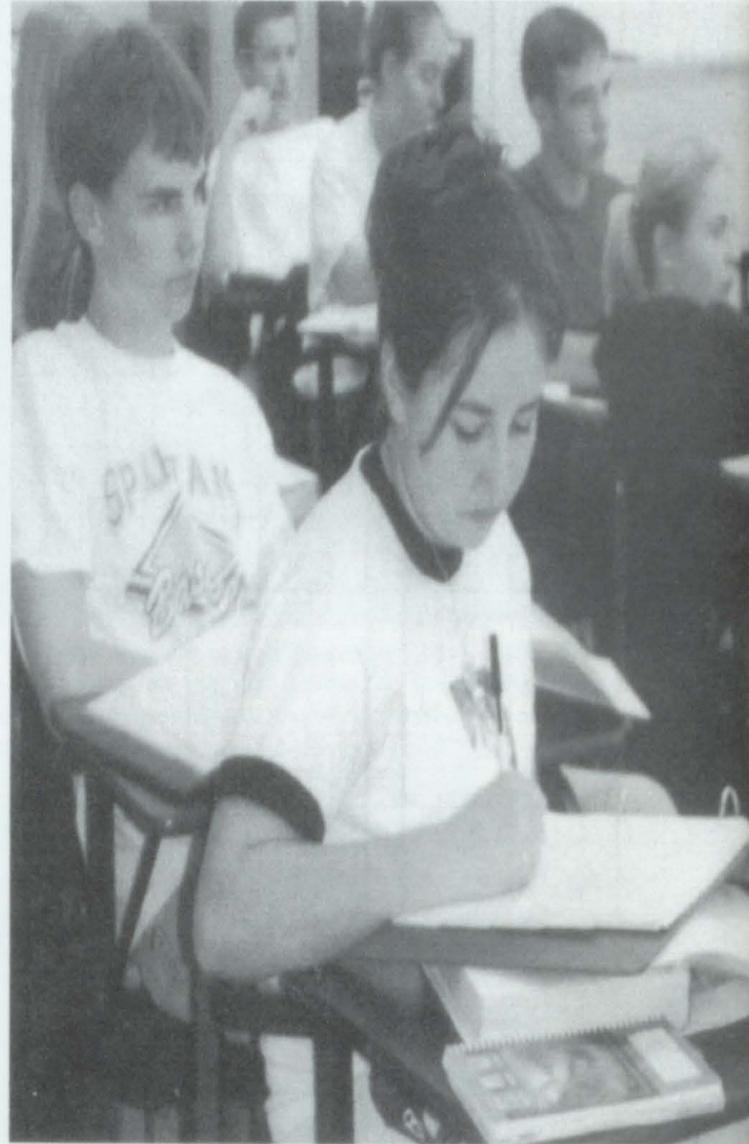

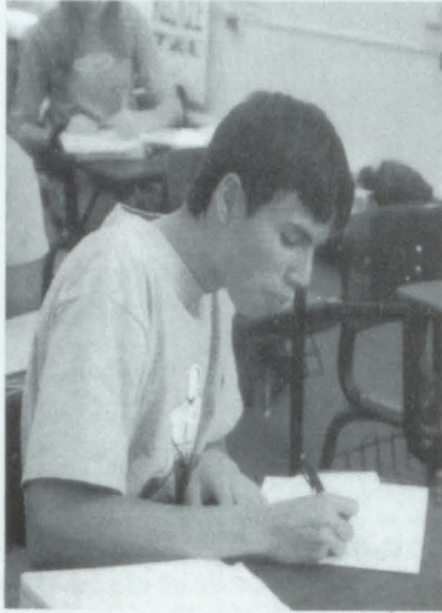

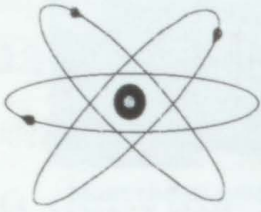

Above: Junior Kathy Swaro, Seniors Mike Bondurant, Aaron Wing, and Matt Goodwin all discuss something in Advanced Biology. Hopefully, it's about something that has to do with the class. Senior Brandon Shepherd is unamused by their conversation and more interested in what our photographer is doing. Below: Senior Graham Davidson, and Juniors Colleen Erbsen and Jon Chelf work on Accounting in Mrs. Thompson's class.

Counter-clockwise: Juniors Ben Heckel and Krystal Avila calculate an answer in Mrs. Horton's Algebra II class . Sophomore Alberto Correa works on his Geometry in Mrs. Horton's class. Dr. Horton lectures on covalent bonds in general biology while sophomores Jessica Buck, Caley Vosburgh, Jenni Cristelli and Junior Jodi Mazza take notes. Senior Toni Orr says something thought-provoking in Dr. Horton's advanced biology class while Juniors Katie Spencer and Katie Swift, and Seniors Dave Richardson, Aaron Wing, and Michael Bondurant listen intently. "Deep Thoughts!"

"Bacon anyone?" Sophomores Alexa Beilharz, Felicia Mundell, Niki Marle, and Code Kuester dissect a pig heart in Dr. Horton's biology class. When's lunch?

New Experiences

-by Erin Salisbury & Nikki Argy

Change has come to the math and science departments. Mrs. Dawn Adams, Ms. Katie Baumhover, and Dr. Doug Horton are all new additions. This required an adjustment in schedules and classes for the other teachers.

Mrs. Adams has picked up the slack, teaching many math and science courses. She said that she has really enjoyed working here and that once she gets her feet on the ground, she will enjoy it even more.

Ms. Baumhover also had a lot of challenges as well with this being her first year teaching ever. Fresh out of college she said that, "Because I had no idea of what I was doing, this has been a phenomenal learning experience." She has really enjoyed seeing how kids think and interpret concepts.

Dr. Horton came to us from the middle school. He said that he "loves the kids at the high school." He said that it has been great because, "We can do labs and it is quiet. The kids are serious, so we can get so much more done."

The major response of the new teachers was that to teach at the high school you have to be very prepared. With older kids every day is intense and a learning experience, and you cannot fake your way through lectures. In math and science the teachers and kids have been making memorable impressions on each other.

America's history in Mr. Lambert's class. Seniors work together in Mr. Lambert's second semester government class. Some of Mr. Lambert's history students had the pleasure of seeing the 'Rambling Roy' Smith play for their classes. Roy told the students his life story which was filled with incidents of discrimination.

Precision and accuracy are essential. Sr. Haley Anderson and junior Leslie Hay work their 10-key machines in their accounting class.

Below: Business teacher Lynn Stagner takes care of some business of her own. Lower left: Tyler Whaley is amused by something Mr. Lambert said in American history. Maybe it was his gerrymandering drawing.

Making Adjustments

-by Nicole Webster & Felicia Mundell

The history and business department welcomed a new teacher this year, Ms. Yvette Roberts. She moved to Salida from Grand Junction where she worked at the Census Bureau. She commented that she really enjoyed her first year teaching at SHS. She is the advisor to the Tenderfoot Times, and a sponsor of Key Club, along with teaching her business and history classes.

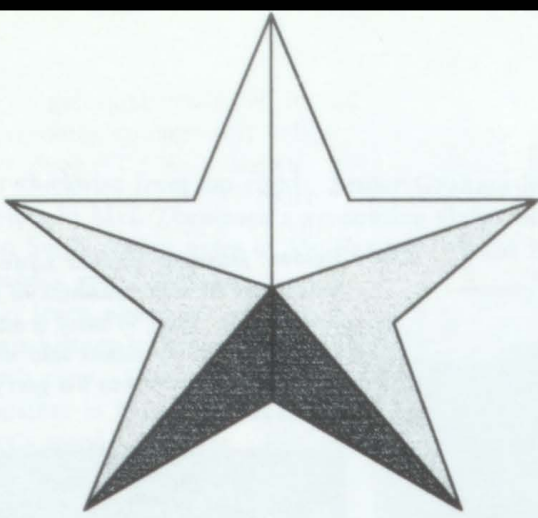

Speaking of history classes, Mr. Lambert and Mrs. Slaughter did something new this year. They invited Roy Smith, an African American who's been through a lot of racial prejudice, to talk about his experiences with racism and what he has been doing to try and stop it. Roy is an ideal model for the students to see firsthand what persecution can do and what it has done in the past.

On the other side, the business department added two new courses, multimedia, and web design, both of which were full year classes.

Ms. Roberts did a virtual stockmarket plan with her economics students. The plan taught students what it was like to play the stockmarket, giving students a hands on look at what it was like to win and lose money.

Mrs. Thompson's Careers 2000 class was cut to a one semester economics class in which the curriculum has stayed basically the same.

Right: Freshman Kristal Canterbury and Krystal Perse read up on some ideas for spring projects in Mrs. Kerrigan's Clothing I class. Below: Mrs. Kerrigan's clothing class gets out supplies to start on their projects. Far Bottom: Line-up! Stand straight! and count off. Freshmen PE students take Horton's grueling instructions.

Making Changes

-by Erin Salisbury & Liz Doran

Although the Physical Education and Home Economics classes are still providing the basic curriculum, there were some minor changes. The graduation requirement for PE credits has been dropped from 1.5 to 1, which is taken as a Freshmen. The total amount of PE credits that can be earned is now 1.5, after that is reached, the student may take the class but not receive a credit for it. Because of these changes, PE II is no longer offered.

No changes were made to the Home Economics credit system, but the program's goals were geared in a new direction. "Identifying to the students activities that reinforce CSAP standards is a new goal in educating," said Mrs. Kerrigan. To do this she had to make sure to point out the math in manipulating recipes, calculating the number of people a meal will serve, and figuring out the cost of goods required to make the creations. Not only did she have to reinforce math in the classroom, but also aspects of the other core classes.

The programs provided have not changed dramatically, and there was no new equipment, but slight alterations were made to help prepare students for CSAP tests and to encourage them to take more academic classes. These changes will make memorable impressions on what the students take out of their high school experience.

Sophomore Requirements Teach Life Skills

-by Tina Medford & Stephanie Kernan

Not only are Speech and Health classes required for SHS students, they are required to gain important life skills that will be used in the future. New to the teaching staff is Mr. Dave Horton, whose healthy and active lifestyle make a good example for his class. Included in his lessons are information about the effects of drugs and alcohol, and all around physical fitness.

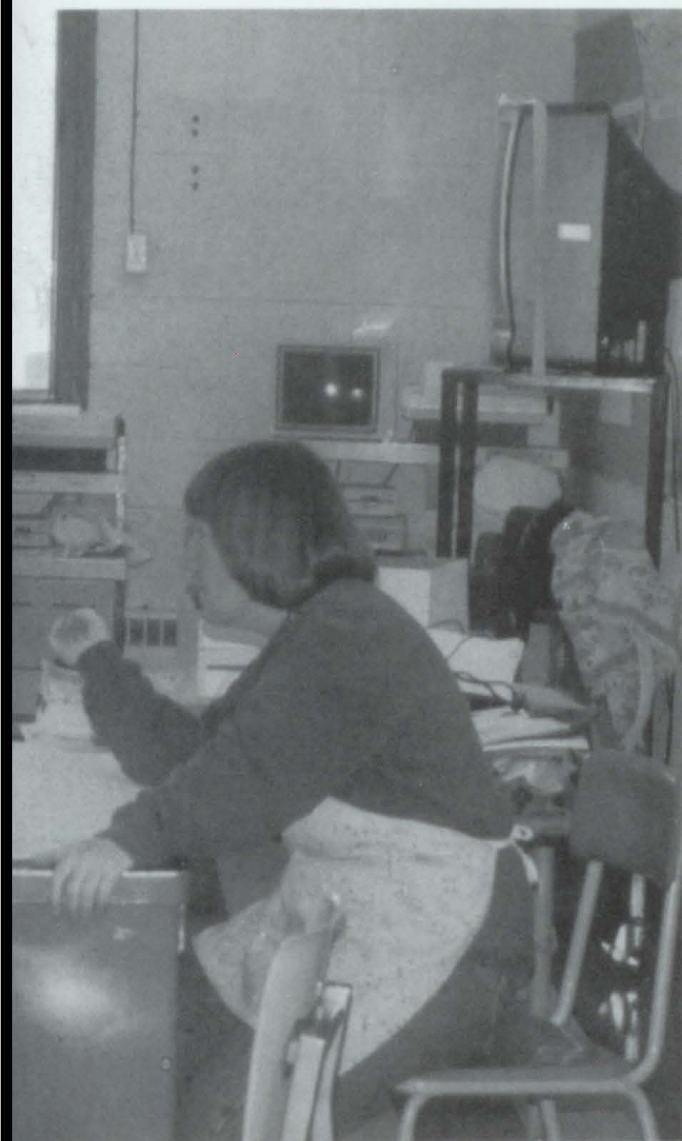

Mrs. Kerrigan teaches the partner Health class about nutrition and human sexuality. Most students find the slide show about STD's the most memorable because it is the most shocking. Mrs. Kerrigan's class includes relationship skills involved in dating and parenting. Students are never bored in this class!

After the snickering is over from Health class, students must keep a straight face and remember their lines in Mrs. Curran's speech class. Mrs. Curran enjoys teaching the class because communication is such a natural part of life. She's proud to see the progress of her students from no eye contact and cracking voices to becoming experienced public speakers.

These teachers teach lessons that make memorable impressions that help guide us through our journey toward adulthood.

Making Memorable Changes

-by Jenny Ragan

Making memorable changes is the theme for the art department this year. The new art teacher is Susan Ragan, former Junior High Art teacher. "I have really enjoyed making the change from Junior High to High School. The kids are a lot more enjoyable to work with" Ragan told us.

Mrs. Ragan has also been making quite a few changes in the curriculum. Said Ragan, "I have really tried to incorporate more of what the students want to try this year. Computer art and clay have been very popular."

Another change is what the Art Club has been doing under her sponsorship. Some of the members have been working on painting murals in the biology room, the French room, and the Middle School gym.

Some other changes are the students keeping a PowerPoint portfolio of their artwork and bringing back the local art show. "I highly encourage my students to keep a portfolio on PowerPoint. Once they get to college, they will be ahead on what companies and businesses are looking for in an employer." Ragan said. "Also, the Art Show was held on March 2nd with the Collage Concert. I thought that the attendance by the community was great."

So all in all, there have been many memorable changes this year for the art department, all for the better. These students are the artists of the future and making these much needed changes will help pave their way. 75-Art

Impressionable Languages

-by Katie Lee & Nikki Marle

Language is a must for any student, or even, any person. Learning these different languages is not very easy. The classes SHS offers are French, Spanish, and English. All three languages contain a curriculum in grammar and literature. With these foreign languages also comes culture. Ms. Hagen, the new Spanish teacher, has come back to SHS from an eleven year absence. Now that she is back, she teaches Spanish in a variety of ways. Ms. Hagen voiced that she loves teaching Spanish because she loves teaching the uniqueness of the language. On her hands-on days, the classes participate by singing and dancing to the Spanish fiestas. Her class also enjoys cooking and consuming the unique Spanish foods. Ms. Hagen exclaimed, "I would encourage anyone to enter a whole new world!"

Now for the preferred language: English. The English courses are taught by many teachers, including Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Slaughter, and Mrs. Curran. Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors must take English each year, and a Composition and Literature class is offered to Seniors.

Some of the English courses include plays, grammar, and poetry. Mrs. Curran, who currently teaches freshmen and junior English, boasted, "I am lucky (to teach) because I love it!"

Making Improvements

Motivation is Booming!

-by Gabrielle Sadler

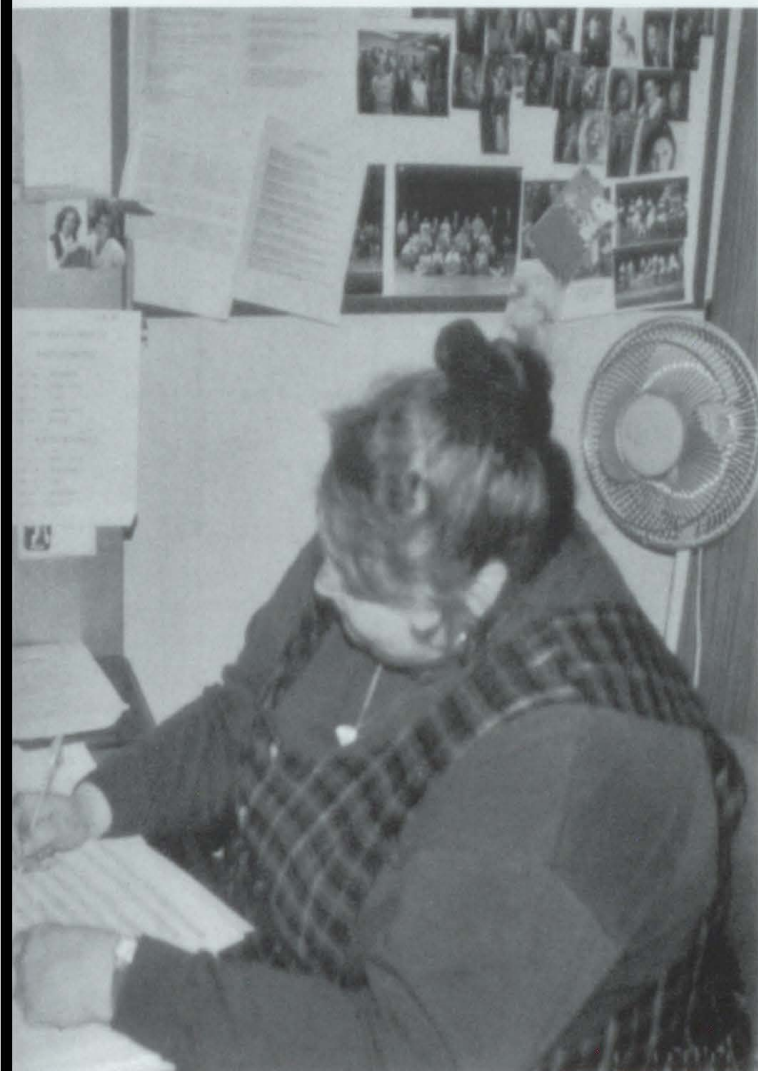

Crystalyn Soules. She said these girls are "an example to the other students."

Students may also audition for Western-State or Adams-State competitive choir. This year, eleven students made Western and seven made Adams. This is an improvement compared to six at Western and two at Adams last year. Mrs. Timbrell feels that "the attendance to these honor choirs will improve participation and motivation."

The choir has presented two outstanding concerts already this year, and they feel confident about their upcoming performances this spring. Keep singing folks-you make us proud!

Choir has been making numerous improvements in all areas of choral skill. With a new director and a fresh start, the motivation is booming. Mrs. Timbrell said, "They have made good progress. Intonation has improved as well as blend and balance. They (students) are beginning to listen to each other and are enjoying working together more. The students are really coming together as a choir."

For the first time in years, the SHS vocal program sent three students to All-state, the most competitive honor choir offered. Mrs. Timbrell was very excited to send Jodi Jones, Carley Talada, and Mrs. Vaillia Davidson lends her talents and dedication to both choir and band.

A Memorable Year

Special Feature by Dan Timbrell

What a memorable year this has been for the band students. The band is getting bigger and better with over 70 members. The thirty members of the jazz band started off the year playing at the football games and a fall concert with the symphonic band. The Christmas concert drew an impressive crowd, with guests standing in the lobby throughout the evening.

Individuals have been making many improvements as well. In jazz band, the year began with the Pike's Peak all-star regional jazz band. Followed by western Colorado select jazz band and All-State jazz band. Qualifying in one or more of these bands were; Cameron Davidson, Zac Timbrell, Mike Daley, Simone McGinnis, Landen Andrews, Jodi Jones, Emma Schleicher, Luke Donovan, and Pat Moorhead. In all three jazz festivals, Salida had more students qualify than any school in the state.

Concert band had an impressive year as well.

Members participated in western Colorado select band, Top of the Nation honor band, Colorado honor band, and All-State band. In all of these competitions, the Salida students broke all school records from last year and once again qualified more students than any school in the state. Qualifying in one or more were; Graham and Cameron Davidson, Crystalyn Soules, Gabrielle Sadler, Lacey Hinthier, Jodi Jones, Jonathan Trujillo, Zac Timbrell, Emma Schleicher, Jessi Warthen, Austin Butterfield, Jimmy Amettis, Megan Marchase, Hallie Bevan, Simone McGinnis, Mike Daley, Luke Donovan, Landen Andrews, Beth Sheets, Nikki Marle, Nikki Smith. Zac Timbrell also qualified for the All-State Orchestra for the second year.

Hopefully the band will continue it's success in the years to come.

Making Changes

-by Jenny Ragan

Making memorable impressions is what the Tenderfoot Times Newspaper does best. Even though quite a few things have changed for the Tenderfoot staff this year, the award winning newspaper has stayed quite the same. Yvette Roberts, the new Tenderfoot Times sponsor, is up for the challenge.

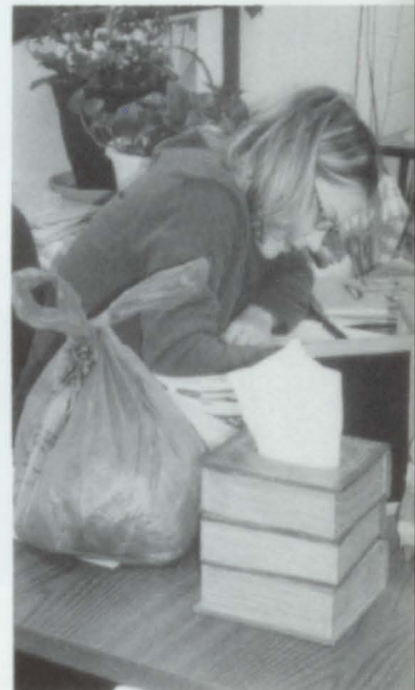

With fourteen years of experience as a newspaper sponsor, Ms. Roberts said, "We have made a lot of changes so far this year. We had an editor change at semester, so Dusty Paquette is our new editor-in-chief, with Dolan Potts and Tyler Whaley as associate editors."

Ms. Roberts also feels that her students learn quite a few valuable skills, by working on the newspaper, that will help them later in life. "My students not only learn writing skills, but they also learn a different way of looking at things. Time management skills are also very important. Getting everything done on time is a must, especially after all of the writing and re-writing. Making the deadline is crucial."

Even with all the changes and a new sponsor, the Tenderfoot Times Staff will keep on striving to make the best newspaper they can, and make a few memorable impressions along the way.

Making Memories

-by Jenna Mazzucca

The yearbook staff has been making adjustments with its second year as an after school activity. "It's really hard to get people to attend meetings and motivate staff members to finish assignments," commented assistant editor Dara Pierce. Yearbook used to be a class and staff members had an hour to work everyday. Starting last year they began to meet once a week after school.

"It's tough as an editor to only have one meeting a week, but it's worth it once the book comes out in the summer," added Editor Jenna Mazzucca. The yearbook staff is the one that preserves memories by putting them into stories and photographs for students to look back on in years to come.

The 1999-2000 Le Resume' received 5 awards at the CHSPA Sweepstakes awards in Denver last November, including a first place for photography by Colleen Erbsen and Dara Pierce. "I was surprised to do so well as a sophomore!" exclaimed Colleen.

The theme this year is Making Memorable Impressions, one that Dara and Jenna have been waiting to use since their sophomore year. "We've had this planned for a long time, and we're really excited to make this book a memorable and impressive one."

The MMI is for 2001, the REAL first class of the new millennium.

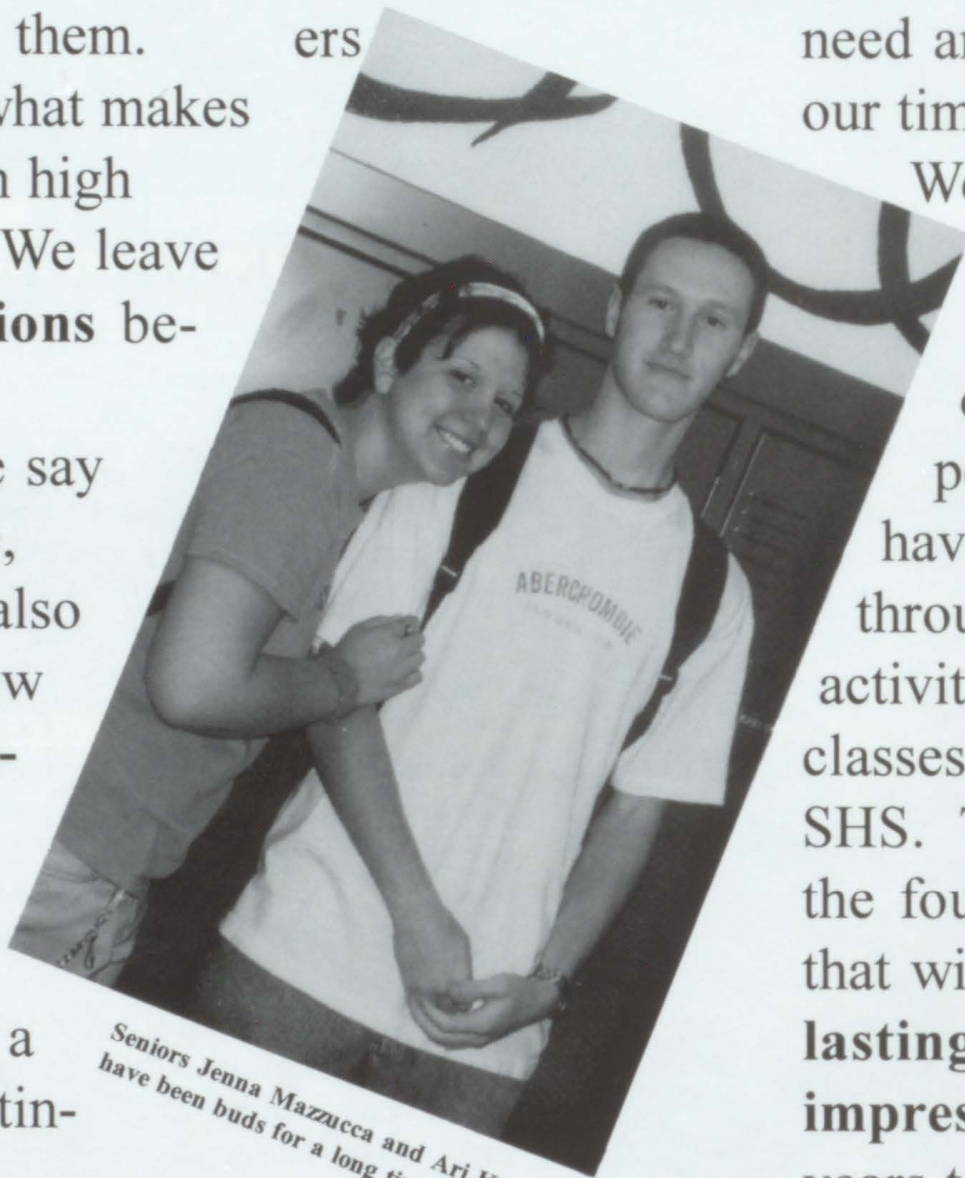

Lasting Impressions

by Dara Pierce

Impressions: we all make them; we all leave them. This is what makes up life in high school. We leave impressions behind when we say goodbye, and we also begin new impressions when we arrive at a new destination.

Some impress us more than others

Seniors Jenna Mazzucca and Ari Kahan have been buds for a long time.

They are there for us in our times of need and also in our times of joy.

We have made impressions of the people we have met through our activities and classes here at SHS. These are the foundations that will leave lasting impressions for years to come.

Making Our Way to the Top

-by Jenny Ragan & Megan Welch

As another year goes by, the Junior Class of 2002 slowly but surely is working hard to make its way to the top.

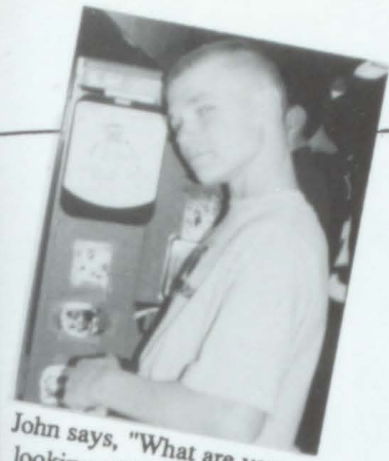

Like every Junior class, it's our duty to raise money for Prom-not an easy chore! Class Secretary Molly Kerrigan stated, "I'm really excited about Prom this year! The fund raising has been a new experience for the whole class, but it will definitely be worth it by the time Prom comes around."

President Laura Kelso added, "I am very pleased with our fundraising efforts and success thus far. I suspect we will have a very well put together prom and these experiences this year have taught us all a lot."

Another major change for the Junior students this year is the more challenging classes. Many juniors are in weighted classes, which prepare us for the ultimate upcoming challenge: college. Many juniors are starting to consider if college and the SATs and ACTs are right for them.

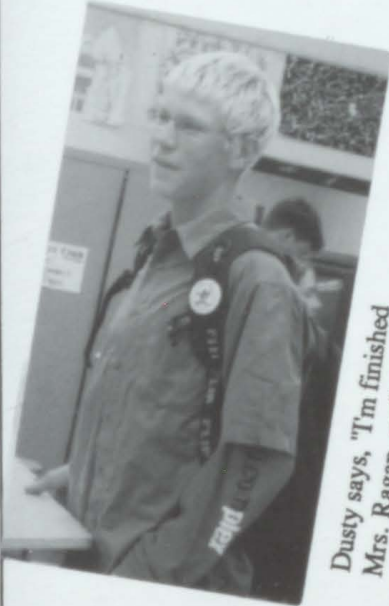

While our junior year is full of challenges, it is also full of great opportunities and even greater memories. These are the things that will surely be memorable to us-the Salida High School Class of 2002.

Class of 2003-Inscribing Memories

-by Autumn Leva & Gabrielle Sadler

This year as sophomores of Salida High, the Class of 2003 is just blossoming in their highschool careers. Each individual of the class has become more comfortable and independent as time goes on.

Sophomore year is the one in which people really start to develop a sense of themselves, and personalities really start to come out.

No longer at the bottom of the pecking order, the sophomores really have room to become a bigger part of the whole picture. More and more people this year are joining school activities and taking their places as leaders. Soon, the Class of 2003 will be seniors, and what a great senior class they will be!

Memorable impressions are left behind as each class graduates and moves on to life in the real world. This class wants to leave its memory as well. President Susie Eggleston thinks the Class of 2003 will be remembered most by their sense of humor. "Our class enjoys humor, but we respect others in doing so," said Eggleston.

The Class of 2003 usually works together to achieve its goals, but sometimes having too much gets in the way. Eggleston claims, "Calvin and Hobbs state it best: I've got plenty of common sense, I just choose to ignore it."

Does this describe most teenagers? Perhaps, but it seems to be the definitive phrase for the Class of 2003. Well, with two years left, we'll just have to wait and see what kind of final impression they leave on SHS.

Dakota Getsinger concentrates on his move.

Freshmen ROCK the House

-by Jen DeLuca & Niki Argys

Nick Vrudny awaits his geometry lesson. "Let's get started!"

Michelle Ertl towers above Tommie Myers.

Sophie Russell draws her self-portrait.

On August 24, 2000, the Class of 2004 made a memorable first impression on Salida High School. They started the first day of their freshmen year. To some it was scary, to others it was a breeze, but we can all say we had butterflies in our stomachs.

Freshmen class president Heather Kailey represents freshmen feelings with, "I was excited, yet a little nervous at the same time." She added that most freshmen were, "a little scared and intimidated with their new surroundings."

One of Heather's goals for the year is, "uniting everyone so they can work together as a whole."

Another issue among most freshmen was freedom because in the middle school, we were locked in a building for seven hours a day.

Fr. Marcie Spears's opinion on freedom is, "I think we have more independence than freedom in high school because we can go out to lunch and do whatever we want off campus, but when we come back into the building, we are under school restrictions."

There are many things to like about high school. Some like being with the upper classmen, others like the off-campus privilege. So what is the class of 2004's favorite thing about high school? Who knows, but one freshman, Danielle Bess said, "My favorite thing about high school is the fact that we only have four years left."

The Class of 2004 is pretty excited with their first memories of high school and looks forward to impressing the rest of the student body as they continue to ROCK the house.

120-Freshmen

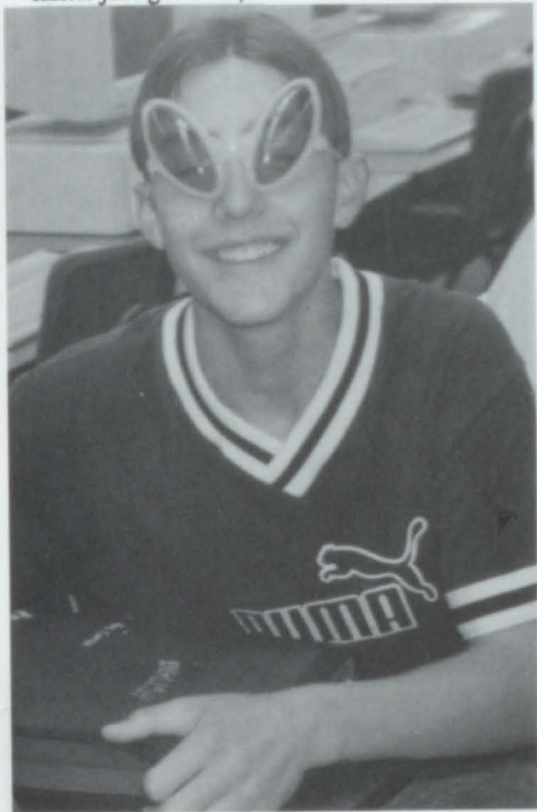

Freshmen P.E. students try to "untangle" without letting go of their hands.

"Yes, we're supposed to be in journalism, but we can't work on an empty stomach, ok?" Britny Pierce, Niki Argys, and Jen DeLuca gotta get a snack (even though lunch just got over).

Jason Sanchez: Intense concentration on math or serious daydreaming? Looks like Jimmy Amettis wants to know.

Jamey King, what are you so "bugged" about? Could it have anything to do with spirit week and you're just into the festivities?

The president of the class (Heather Kailey) knows how to act mature, but Jen DeLuca and Marcie Spears have to play kissy-face with the camera. Grow up girls.

"Heh Dad, jealous of my hair?" Kristen Lambert's fro is "right on."

"OK, so it went in the water. If I move quickly and retrieve it, maybe no one will notice me," assumes Ronnie Thrasher.

Making a Difference

-by Gracy Morgan

There have been many differences made in our school this year. A lot of new additions have come to our faculty. New teachers had to be hired to compensate for the teachers that were lost last year: Mr. Leavitt, Mr. Frame, Mr. Farney, Mr. Butacan, Mrs. Vargo, Mr. Lowe, and Mr. King. The new faculty includes: Dr. Horton, Mrs. Hagen, Mrs. Ragan, Miss Baumhover, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Timbrell, and Mrs. Roberts. "I have seen a lot of effort being put forth to overcome problems left from before," said Mrs. Adams, new math and science teacher.

Another important difference is that Mr. Robert Carrick took over Mr. Ragan's position as principal, and is handling things without the help of an assistant principal. Carrick said that his duties and responsibilities have increased greatly and that it is a struggle to manage his time between activities and deadlines.

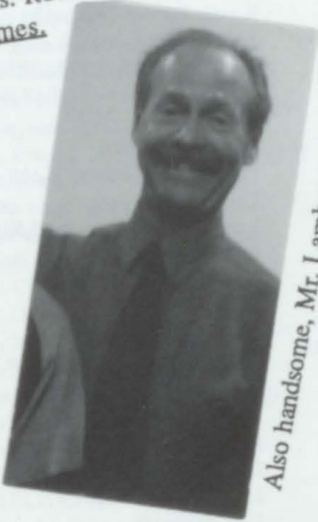

We won't forget the impressions from the past, and by making these changes we are starting new memories for the future. Each school year seems to bring new faculty faces to our halls.

Handsome Mr. Reavis

Mrs. Roberts inherits Tenderfoot Times.

Also handsome, Mr. Lambert

Mrs. Thompson instructs Gracy Morgan on the finer points of Accounting.

New math and science teacher Mrs. Adams grades some papers.

Ms. Baumhover's first year of teaching will be memorable.

What Made the Major Impressions ?

-by Dara Pierce & Jenna Mazzucca

As we started the new millennium in 2001, many local and national events made major impressions on us. With the implementation of the CSAP and mandatory ACT tests state-wide, the students at SHS added new stress factors beyond those of classes. On the mornings of February 13, 14, and 15 the sophomore and freshmen classes tested on parts of the CSAP tests and Terra Nova. The juniors attended ACT help sessions to prepare for the mandatory ACT test taken on April 25. The seniors were excused from school for these mornings but some came to help in serving snacks provided by the cafeteria.

Salida High School had some of its own impressive events take place this year as well. Mr. Reavis and his first hour class came in on a Monday in November to a flooded classroom. The pipes were turned off over the weekend and froze, causing a crack. When the ice began to melt and the water was turned back on, it began to leak into Mr. Reavis's room through the ceiling. What a mess!

Vandalism had never been an issue in Salida High until this year. Staff returned to school the week before Christmas break to graffiti on the walls of the inside of the school. The red spray painted walls were covered with red and green paper. The day back from Christmas break, students discovered that someone had broken in and sprayed the fire extinguishers all over lockers. Again-what a mess!

Along with some of these negative impressions made on the student body, there were some positive changes implemented as well. The school received new soda and candy vending machines from the Coca-Cola company. The money from these machines goes into the Principal's fund. Salida High School also got a new mascot this year, a cartoon Spartan named Stewie. The mascot was named and given a theme song "Danger Zone" in a contest. The winner was from Mr. Reavis's 4th hour Sociology class who celebrated by spending the $50 on a class party. The first annual SHS talent show was the brain child of Student Body President Simeon Brandon. "It wasn't a huge success, but it was the first one. I'd like to see different kinds of talents than just singing-more like Kiki's toes. All who participated were brave," said Simeon. The first place winner(s) received $50 and the second place received $25. The talent show had a good turnout with approximately 250 attending. The new radio station in town, KSBV, started getting more involved in the football games by sponsoring tail-gate parties, and poster contests.

Every year brings changes in the community and at SHS. How we handle these changes and the impressions we get from them are up to the individual. Whether we take the new mascot, vending machines, vandalism, flooding, talent show, or testing as positive or negative experiences is our prerogative.

Another exciting event this year was Mr. Lambert eating a 180-day old donut that had $100 to give to Ed for eating the donut. Simeon Brandon raised

As we wind down the 2000-2001 school year, the class of 2001 makes their last impressions. Whether they be impressions on fellow students, on athletic teams, in their classes, or in clubs, every one of us is making last imprints and memories here at SHS. It's been a long four years filled with the ups and downs of adolescence. We have all been here for each other during a time of our lives when we were becoming the people we will be forever. We have shared each other's joys and successes, whether they be wins in sporting events, participation in clubs, or an A on that test that we studied so hard for. We have also been here to divide each other's griefs whether they be the losses in sports, failure to make the grade, or a bigger tragedy that affected us all.

It's not just the class of 2001 who is making its last impressin, with the retirement of Mr. Sanger and Mrs. Ragan along with the Hortons leaving to pursue other endeavors, we will have to say our final goodbyes to these great teachers as well. Mr. Sanger has taught here for 28 years and has had a tremendous impact on every student's life that he came into contact with. He is a one of a kind history teacher with lectures that kept everyone interested and learning. Mrs. Ragan has been with most of us as an art teacher since junior high school and has let us run with our creativity and imagination while in her class. The class of 2001 was Mrs. Horton's first math class here at SHS. She is one of those teachers who has bonded with most of her students on a more personal level beyond math. Dr. Horton is another teacher whom we have had since junior high school. He has instilled discipline in his students which kept them on track during school and will for the rest of their lives.

So a final goodbye to all who are departing to embark on new adventures and journeys, Above: After receiving their caps and gowns, the class of 2001 gathers for a final picture outside of Larimer Gym. Left: The Senior Yearbook staff members & Mrs. C stagger in the hall for a impressive picture. We're outta here!

The impressions and impacts that we have all made on each other will help us in our futures. The good times and the bad have left memories with us that will last a lifetime.
