Aug. - Sept.

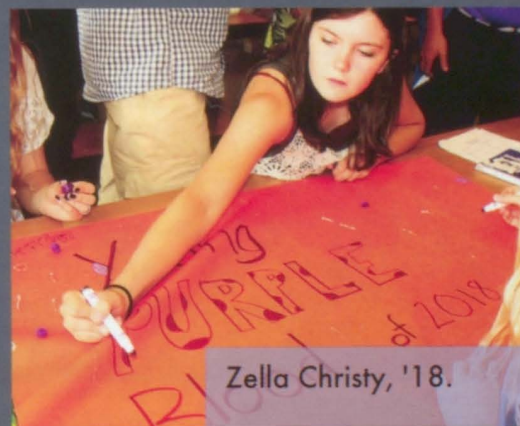

As the school year begins, students get the chance to capture the excitement, the spirit, and the pride that comes with a new year at Salida High School. For freshmen, it can be a new beginning. For sophomores, it's another year to form bonds with friends. For juniors, it's a time to figure out their interests and who they want to be. For seniors, the start of the year is the beginning of the end, but also the start of the future. Capturing new experiences within teams, clubs, and classes are what students look forward to as they prepare to take on the rest of the year.

first day of school frenzy

Before getting thrown into the mix of high school, freshmen get a chance to find their way in the halls and classrooms on their own.

Starting your first day of high school is nerve-racking enough without having to deal with all the upperclassmen in the school. Luckily, for our freshmen, they have the chance to avoid just that. Freshman Academy, the day before school starts for the rest of Salida High students, is dedicated to helping the freshmen find their way from class to class, learn the day to day schedule, and meet the teachers. The day is filled with ice breaker activities such as a trivia game, poster making, and the "Spartan Olympics."

"We use Freshman Academy as a way for the students to get to know the teachers and build a fun and positive environment." // Jessica Adamson '15

building momentum

Every year the mountain bike team starts the season by camping and riding in the Salida area. They practice skills, endurance, and develop team bonding.

before the season starts...

Lauren McDonald, senior, stands proudly at 14,000 feet. She hopes that climbing at high altitudes can prepare her for the coming race season.

After a 10 minute and 40 second sprint up and down 'S Mountain, Taylor Stack pushes to the finish line to claim first place in the Tenderfoot Hill Climb.

The Cross Country team lays in "legs up the wall", a restorative pose used to benefit the body and mind, especially after a long, hard run.

Members of the cross country team came together over the summer to climb 14'ers, and improve strength by performing physical activity at high altitudes. They completed Mount Red Cloud and Mount Sunshine.

SHS cheer hosted a camp for aspiring cheerleaders this summer. They helped the 3 to 13-year-old girls with tumbling, cheers, and a dance. The 3-day camp resulted in a performance at the September 12th football game.

During the "Fly In" at the Salida Airport, the cheerleaders collected donations from the community and other participants to help pay for competitions throughout the season.

Kelsey Peter, senior, Shelby Kroschel, junior, and Katrina Kintgen-Mietelski, sophomore, help serve breakfast at the Salida "Fly In," where a variety of pilots came together to eat.

To encourage team bonding, the cheerleaders also organized an overnight "lock-in." During the night they had a team dinner, followed by a viewing of the classic cheer movie, "Bring it On."

This year's football preseason started directly after the 2013/2014 school year ended. Throughout the summer, the team had multiple practices every week that focused on weight lifting, scrimmaging, and becoming closer as teammates. The team also attended multiple camps before the fall season started.

“ Nick is the MVP of this game because he is a whole-field player with good technique. ”

// Natalie Kreski, '16

In the first game of the Spartan Boy's soccer season, Salida and Woodland Park were neck and neck in the first half. After halftime, Salida came out on top with a win of 3-1. Dustin Linza scored two goals and Nick Thayer scored one.

memories: old & new

The first day of school is iconic in the eyes of both freshmen and seniors. It is a new step for some and the final step for others. Top right: Charlie Hanley, freshman. Bottom right: Sierra Reed and Tristan Ricci, freshmen. Left side: Sarah LaCroix, senior, and Gianna Giorno, freshman.

"One piece of advice I would give to freshman is to respect the upperclassmen so you can get the respect when you are a senior, and to be yourself."

// Sarah LaCroix, 2015

"When I got lost on the first day, it was a total face palm moment. I had to ask myself over and over to remember where my right class was."

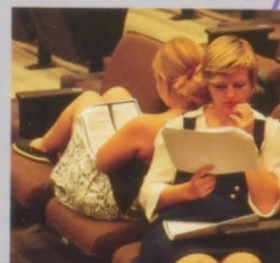

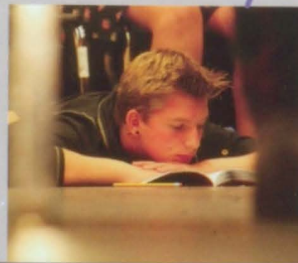

// Charlie Hanley, 2018

"One thing that I will always remember from high school are my art classes because in those classes, everyone comes together."

spirit: senior style

Nursing Home, Superheroes, Neon, and Togas // While the rest of the school dressed up for different spirit days throughout the week, seniors dominated with their own special days. The Class of 2015 filled the halls with neon outfits, capes, spandex, walkers, dentures, and plenty of togas to go around.

homecoming havoc

Ruth Bartel, Kelsay Lundberg, and Charlotte Price, seniors, cheer as the Doom rises up into the sky. Both Kelsay and Charlotte were nominated for homecoming queen this year.

Flames engulf the wooden pallets that were collected throughout the day to make the bonfire a memorable one.

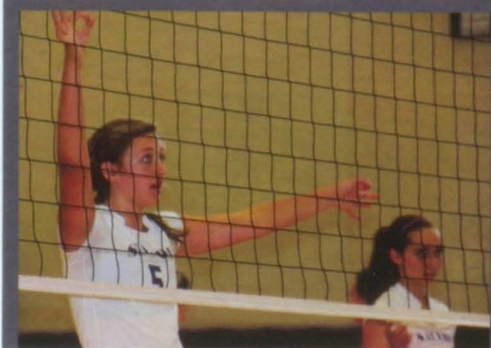

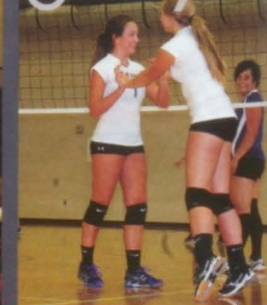

The mascot, Doom, makes an appearance at the Homecoming bonfire, lifting school spirit and exciting students for the upcoming events. Students show support for their town and team, by creating an "S" with their fingers.

dance the night away

Salida High School changed it up by listening to some older tunes at the "throwback" themed Homecoming this year. This included popular songs that students listened to in middle school as well as some old school rock and country. This theme was incorporated into all Homecoming events. For the parade, each grade chose a time period to depict on their float, and the music at the bonfire also included throwback songs.

//The Final Decision

The Salida Spartans dominated the Leadville Panthers, Friday, September 5th, at the Homecoming football game. Senior Nathan Lowe said "The team couldn't have played any better for the Homecoming game." Senior Faith McKenna was crowned homecoming queen during halftime. "I'm just happy I got to spend the week with the other nominees," she commented.

sparkling spirit

Trevor Love and Paul Schubert, sophomores, wear their favorite hunting gear for twin day.

Matthew Fisher, Jacob Denwalt, Shade Hadley, and Domenico Marinucci-Given, freshmen, pose during spirit week on black out day. The students show their spirit by dressing in all black leading up to the big Homecoming game.

Freshmen Ashton Martinez and Gianna Giorno throw it back to the 80's. Both girls flash big hair, neon colors, and off the shoulder shirts.

Sara Buckingham and Audrey Klein, freshmen, flash their Spartan pride by wearing their cheer uniforms on purple and white day of spirit week.

Painted Pride // Tristan Ricci and the freshmen class painted their faces and bodies to show their school spirit.

Winners Again // This year the senior class once again took first place in the float competition with their Caveman themed float.

Class of Cavemen // Seniors Jake Schoenfeld and Kelsey Peter put some finishing touches on the senior float.

Added Laughter // Ainsley Bright, junior, works on inflating balloons. The junior class chose a 1970's theme.

Spraying Spirit // Freshman Matthew Fisher works on his class' 80's themed float. The freshmen placed third in the competition.

Jukebox Boogie // The final float of the competition was modeled by the 1960's and created by the sophomore class.

drive to the finish

Junior Jhett Trenary and senior Dylan Murphy pose during the Salida Boys Golf tournament on September 13.

Freshman Hunter Wall placed 3rd overall with a final score of 163, 3 strokes away from 1st. "I think golf is a great experience."

Freshman Sam Tamer follows through on his swing, later stating that his day was not what he had been expecting.

Senior Clay Hiser stated that: "I am excited for state. I am definitely prepared. Win or lose I'm glad I made it my senior year."

Ruth Bartel '15

"I park in the dirt parking lot, even though it's sketchy, because I'm tough."

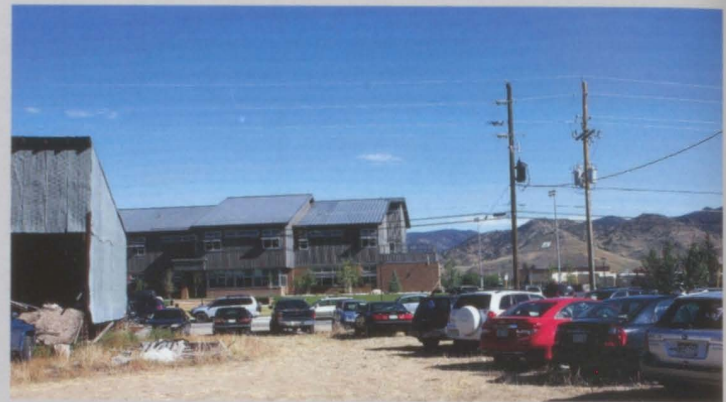

Jhett Trenary '16

"The dirt parking lot is sort of a place for upperclassmen to park."

Chris Bowers '16

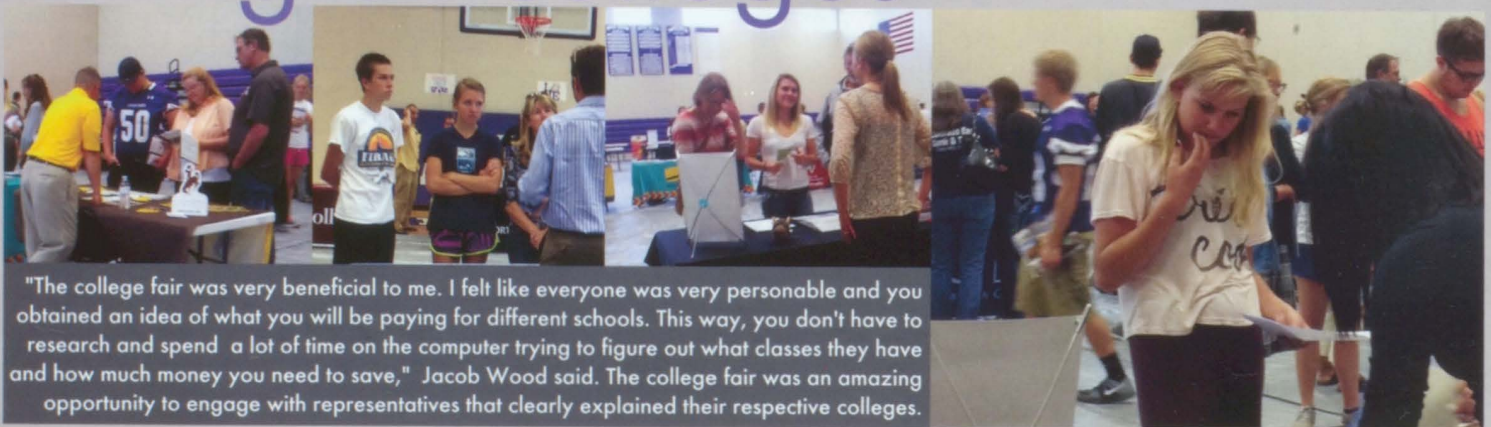

"The shed is pretty creepy, so I stay away from that place."

Parking in the front of the school is a luxury for juniors and seniors, however the layout of the school doesn't provide much student parking in the front. Students dubbed the lot behind a dilapidated shack in front of the school their new parking lot. The lot is private property owned by a man who lives in Alamosa and allows the students to use his land.

calling all colleges

"The college fair was very beneficial to me. I felt like everyone was very personable and you obtained an idea of what you will be paying for different schools. This way, you don't have to research and spend a lot of time on the computer trying to figure out what classes they have and how much money you need to save," Jacob Wood said. The college fair was an amazing opportunity to engage with representatives that clearly explained their respective colleges.

The Salida Yearbook staff traveled to Dakota Ridge High School for a yearbook seminar. They learned new techniques and team building activities that taught them how to work together while constructing art.

"I loooovvvveee biking!" Cole Sites gasped as he fell to his knees after crossing the finish line. Cole was the first freshman boy to cross Sunday after the first race.

Mountain Biking //
At the Cloudy City race located in Leadville, the Salida Mountain Bike team took 4th overall in Division 1. Four team members placed on the podium along with other teams that moved up in ranking.

Matt Risinger '16

// I don't like the Surfaces, because I like iPads and laptops better. The keyboards are hard to type on, but I don't mind using them as long as I don't have to type anything out.

Mrs. Moore

// They're a great tool and they seem really easy to search the internet. I like that they have a word processor, and students get more of an individual learning experience.

Savannah Krivanek '17

// The Surfaces are convenient but they are hard to type on because of the keyboard; I usually try to avoid using it. I would rather just type directly on the tablet. I prefer iPads.

Q: We asked Salida High School students whether they preferred the iPhone or Galaxy S5 better.

iPhones

37%
Galaxy S5

"The Galaxy S5s' are better than iPhones because you can do two things at once, I know where everything is, and most of the apps are free."

// Odette Shin, '16

"The Galaxy S5 is better than the iPhone because of the air gesture, most apps are free, and it's a bigger screen which is nice for big hands."

// Evan Smith, '15

"I like the iPhone better because it connects to things such as iCloud and that helps me save everything so I never lose it."

// Cole Tanner, '15

smiles worldwide

// Medicine for Mexico

"I'm a lot more grateful for everything. I work at a restaurant and it's horrible how much food I see goes to waste. The hardest thing for me was immersing into the language. People would talk to me but I wouldn't have a clue what they said because they talk so fast."

//Joe Gilmore, '17

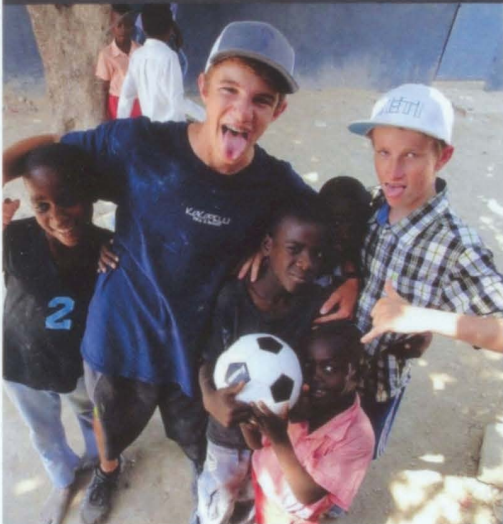

Over the past summer, a little over 25 Salida High students traveled to Mexico and Haiti to help the children get some of the things they wouldn't regularly get.

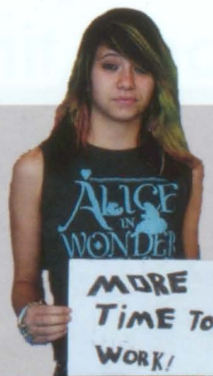

// Hope for Haiti

"The kids were so happy to go to school, even if it was just in a shack; they were thrilled to play with a ball, even though it was old. That made me realize that our problems are nothing and that we have this great life that a lot of people take for granted."

//Sienna Rahe, '15

free Fridays

A majority of students prefer having a four day school week. Whether they spend the extra day working, playing sports, or doing homework, almost everyone agrees that four day weeks are better. Since our test scores have improved since the change from five days, there seems to be no reason to switch back. Students Eldy Evangelista, senior, Jaymie Fullmer, freshman, Emily Karls, sophomore, and Kelsey Lindbloom, junior, show why they appreciate having Fridays off.

running as a family

Home Cross Country Meet and Senior Night.

The home cross country meet was filled with tears and hard work. The team did very well at the meet, finishing with a solid group of runners in the top ten. Besides being their one home meet, it was also senior night for the team. At the end of this season, cross country will be losing multiple seniors that were very beneficial to the team. Lauren McDonald, Jessica Adamson, Evan Smith, and Reggie Gramman celebrated their cross country career with their parents and fellow team members after they ran their final home meet. Senior Jessica Adamson said, "Cross country was an amazing experience. I wish I had joined the team earlier in my high school career."

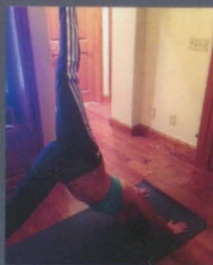

"We run as a family because we love each other like a family."

hustle, hit, and never quit!

"Volleyball teaches you to appreciate how to be a team player. Without volleyball I wouldn't think about how things affect other people. It has affected me a lot and taught me great life lessons," said Modesta Everett, sophomore. "I think we played really well against BV. They are a strong team. Our coaches said that we did well against them even though BV wouldn't let us catch a breath and they were always there. It was a good game."

Oct. - Nov.

Now that students are back into the swing of things, they have begun to capture themselves in-between the study breaks and amidst the hallways. The temperature is slowly dropping but fall sports and activities are just starting to heat up. As Halloween and Thanksgiving approach, we have the opportunity to express who we are through costume and give thanks for the people that have gotten us this far. As the leaves fall and pile up, so do the memories of Salida High School that we, as a student body, decide to capture.

"We are really improving this year. This weekend, we had a lot of top ten finishers, putting the team 3rd overall and that's pretty great."

Kade Sites, '17

"Our team raced really well and it showed in how we placed. I'm excited to see how we improve from here."

Alex Ottmer, '16

"The mountain biking team is fantastic this year. We're all one big supportive family and everyone gives it their all, so people are placing on the podium."

"Our school is the most advanced piece of technology in Salida," Sawyer Cliff, freshmen, stated. Many students attribute the school's high test scores to the technology and information that is provided by the district. This year Salida High achieved District of Distinction for the second year in a row, which has motivated students to work to earn the award next year to make it three years running.

 Sam Tameler, freshman, said, "My favorite food was the peach pie. Something new I tried was Pan de Muerto (bread of the dead) and I really liked it."

creative carving

Taking writing to the next level.

The seniors of Miss Francis' creative writing carved pumpkins to get into the Halloween spirit while creating spooky stories. Students wrote stories that corresponded with the face of their pumpkin. They then wrote the stories on the back of the pumpkins and shared them with the rest of the class. All of the seniors enjoyed digging in and getting their hands dirty, something they don't usually do in an English class. Students also enjoyed writing chilling stories, and felt it was a creative assignment that really made the holiday come alive.

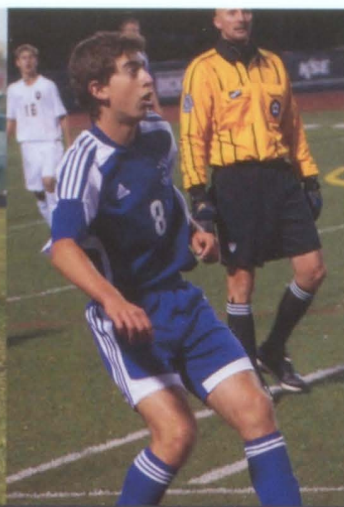

"I thought that carving the pumpkins was one of the best projects we have done. I liked carving pumpkins but making the story was the best."

13 years later

Salida Volleyball's Varsity team went to the playoffs in Pagosa Springs for the first time in many years. Despite losing there, players were thrilled that they made it so far.

shooting for success

Will is always just so solid. He always has the ability to calm himself down on the field and play a good game. He creates a defensive wall.

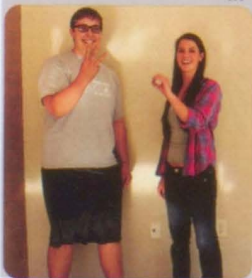

// Cannon DePriest, '17

BATTLING TO THE END // With an overall record of 15-4 and a league record of 5-0, there is no doubt that the soccer boys' season was successful. Even though the team lost six seniors last year, coach Rob Gilchrist said, "I'm not surprised we made it this far into the playoffs. I've always known this team had the potential to do it." The team gained a new goalie this year, sophomore Desmond Lau. It was his first year playing on the high school team, but he quickly became a very important asset. Sophomore Cannon DePriest said, "If it wasn't for Des, we wouldn't have had a chance. He was spot on." A distinguishing characteristic of boys soccer is their combination of Salida and Buena Vista players. This special bond overcomes the usual rivalry between towns, and many of the teammates become best friends. This makes boys soccer one of the student body's favorite sports to watch.

// birthday buddies

Nick Mann, '15 // "We both knew that we shared a birthday and we are both okay with it."

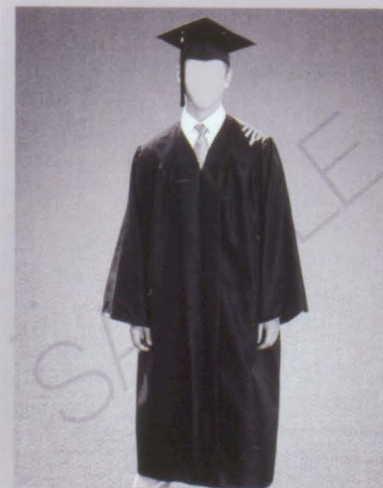

Paul Schubert, '17 // "I didn't know I had the same birthday as anyone in our school."

Sunny, Tingler '16 // "If I had a choice I wouldn't share my birthday with anyone else other than Lauren."

starting traditions

The class of 2015 came together and voted on changing the color of caps and gowns from purple and white to all black. This change caused a lot of strife between the class, parents, and alumni.

making chemistry bright

Tye-Dyeing // All juniors that are in Chemistry agree that taking the class can be stressful, but there are some perks to difficult classes. One of those is tye-dyeing t-shirts. Students choose what they wanted to tye-dye. Some popular choices vary from soccer socks to neck ties.

"Chemistry is a difficult class, but it is definitely worth taking. It's not very hard if you just take the time to study hard and keep an organized notebook."

// Karlie Scherff, '16

"We are tye-dyeing to see how mortens and dyes affect different types of fabrics. I'm tye-dyeing a shirt, and the shirt I'm wearing now I tye-dyed in sixth grade."

// Kordell Redmiles, '16

"My favorite part of chemistry is that it is a flipped class and we get to watch videos of lectures at home and then do homework in class."

// Annq Schehrer, '16

Despite losing a large number of seniors last year the Drama Club successively put on their fall production, The Heidi Chronicles.

The Heidi Chronicles
The drama club presented one of the best plays they have done. In the play Greta Housten, '17, played the main character, Heidi. The play was about Heidi living through the feminist movement and her point of view about the movement. The play got really good reviews and was an overall hit.

rodeo reward

Jhett Trenary, junior, won first place as a heeler with his partner as the header. Jhett took home $58,000 after splitting the prize money, which is the most money he's ever won. He plans on investing the prize into his college savings. After a week of competition, this was his last opportunity to win money. "Rodeo is something we do as a family. It's been passed on from generation to generation. I can travel with my family and meet new people all over the country. I want a side job, but rodeo will be my main job after high school." Jhett Trenary, '16

Mr. Salida High

Nine of Salida's most gutsy guys strut towards glory.

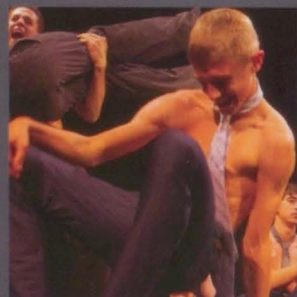

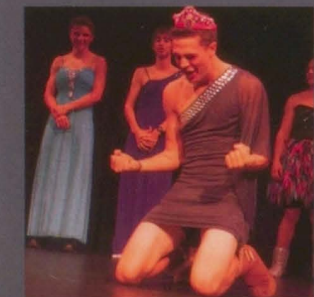

Foreign Competition// Last year Mr. Salida High saw it's first ever foreign exchange student contestant, and this year's batch of exchange students didn't disappoint. Eugenio Brovero and Guillem Oliver, sophomores, were happy to show off their ballet and hip-hop dance skills in front of the packed auditorium.

The Veteran// Senior Derek Scott participated in Mr. Salida High for the fourth time this year, and as a veteran helped out many of the new contestants when it came to learning the opening dance.

Fresh Talent// Besides the veteran, none of the other competitors had participated in the parody pageant before. However, many students believed that this Mr. Salida High was the best one yet; talents were more creative than ever, Q&A answers were clever and hilarious, and the opening dance made a lasting impression.

"I thought it was super fun and I will definitely do it again in future years. My favorite part was when Graham and I did our make up routine together. Derek deserved to win after 4 years of trying, so I was happy with 2nd place."
 - Shade Hadley, '18

first place goes to...

Derek Scott, '15, took first place in his fourth Mr. Salida High, but was closely followed by Shade Hadley, '18, who took second. Eugenio Brovero, '17, took third and was the first exchange student ever to place.

// Jessica Adamson, senior, tediously cuts strips into a piece of cloth in order to make it into pants for a costume.

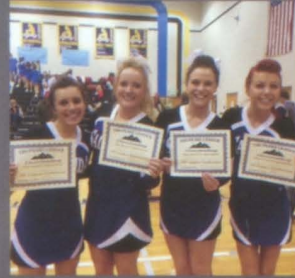

// Using only the materials provided to them, seniors Kelsay Lundberg and Meghan White try to create an umbrella prop.

DI Extreme// In an all night Destination Imagination Extreme competition, seven Salida High seniors, Faith McKenna, Jessica Adamson, Meghan White, Kelsay Lundberg, Sienna Rahe, and Hannah Sites, used their creative problem abilities in order to solve the given challenge.

Jamie Granzella, Harmony Hartranft, Kelsey Peter, Haley McCoy and Shelby Kroschel were awarded All Conference.

The Spartans hold their first place trophy and All Conference certificates after beating Buena Vista by almost 60 points.

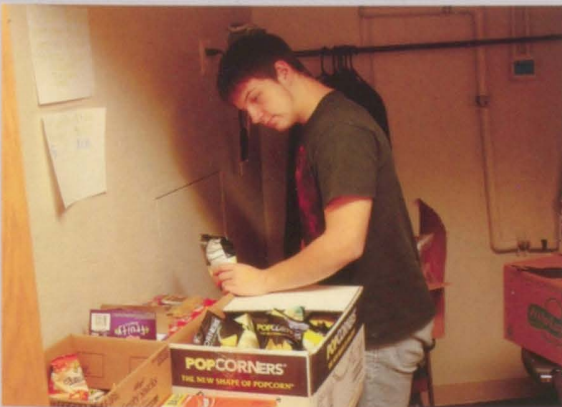

The team gets set while waiting for the music to begin. The Spartans were first to perform which allowed most of the other teams to watch the routine.

Jamie Granzella, Katrina K-M, and Haley McCoy hit their final pose in the first pyramid before starting the cheer portion of the routine.

doom room vs vending machine

Although both of these food sources are new to the school, they sell very different items. While the vending machine focuses on healthy snacks for students, the "Doom Room" supplies student requested snacks, drinks, and Spartan merchandise.

Dec. - Jan.

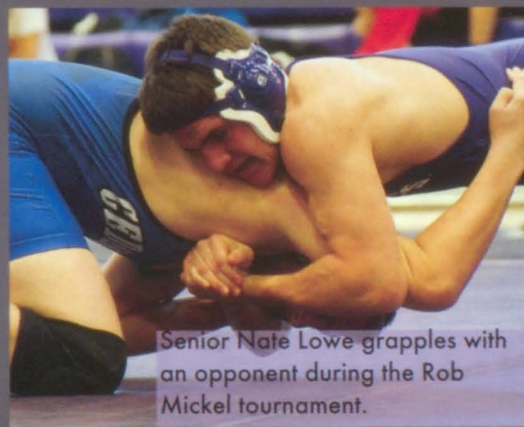

As one semester comes to a close, many students start thinking about what's coming next in their lives. Whether it's a new sport, or a new start outside of high school, this transition brings about many new beginnings. Freshman have gained more confidence, sophomores are looking forward to becoming upper classmen, juniors are beginning to consider their future, and seniors are on the home stretch. However, with all the hustle and bustle, students still find time to capture and appreciate the fresh start a new year brings.

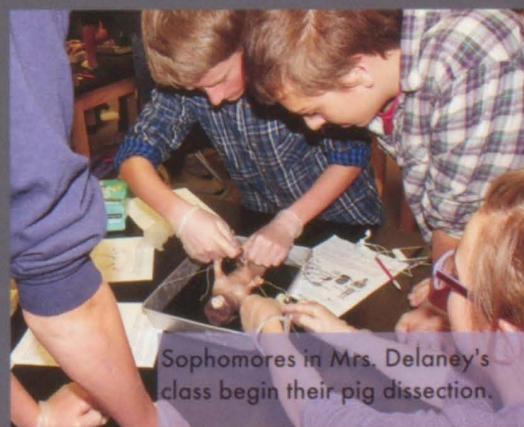

The early graduates of Salida High celebrate with confetti.

Sophomores in Mrs. Delaney's class begin their pig dissection.

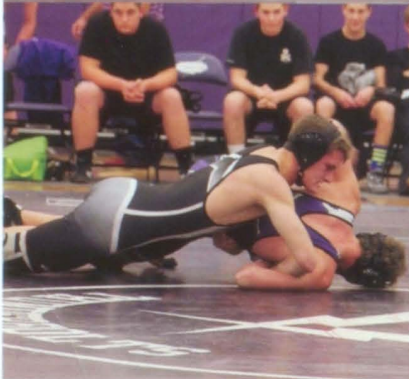

“I'm pumped for this season because I get to wrestle with seniors I won't get to see anymore after this season.”

- Brenden Sena, '17

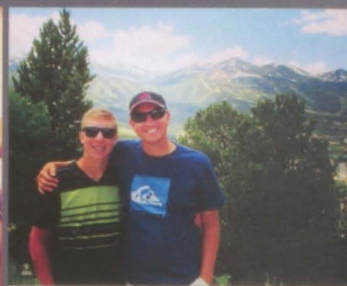

Wrestling work-out // As a team, the Salida Spartans won their first tournament in Rye. With one of their youngest teams, and missing a few weight groups, Spartans can still hold their own. Other teams didn't stand a chance against the energy our young team brought to the mat. Freshman Mac Lusero said, "We have some really good wrestlers. I'm very proud to be on this team."

Thanksgiving is a day for being grateful for the things in life that mean the most to you. Pictures are worth a thousand words and instagram posts are a popular way of showing someone how much you appreciate them. From our beautiful surroundings, to all the great memories we share there is plenty to be #THANKFUL for.

DON'T STOP BELIEVING // The Salida High School competitive cheer team traveled to the State Spirit championship and battled against 18 other Colorado co-ed teams. They came away with a 6th place finish and a fire in their hearts. For the captains, it was a grand finale of four years of blood, sweat, and tears. For the rest, it was a taste of family and dedication. The men and women that make up SHS cheer started work in early June to learn choreography, how to perfect tumbling, and how to stunt accurately. They use the sideline as a chance to cheer on their school and practice crowd participation. Those long months of practice at five in the morning and late game nights come down to the last competition. Each season is a chance to grow together as a team, conquer fears, and establish a love for the sport that they share.

Abby Ceglowski, sophomore, comes up for air during the 100 meter fly at the first home meet of the season. Abby is known to volunteer for almost any event, even when it is one of the hardest, such as fly.

Senior Stephanie Feather helps her teammate Kelsey Quick, senior, keep track of her laps during one of the longest events at the meet, the 500 meter freestyle. Since this event is so long, it is easy for the swimmers lose count of their laps.

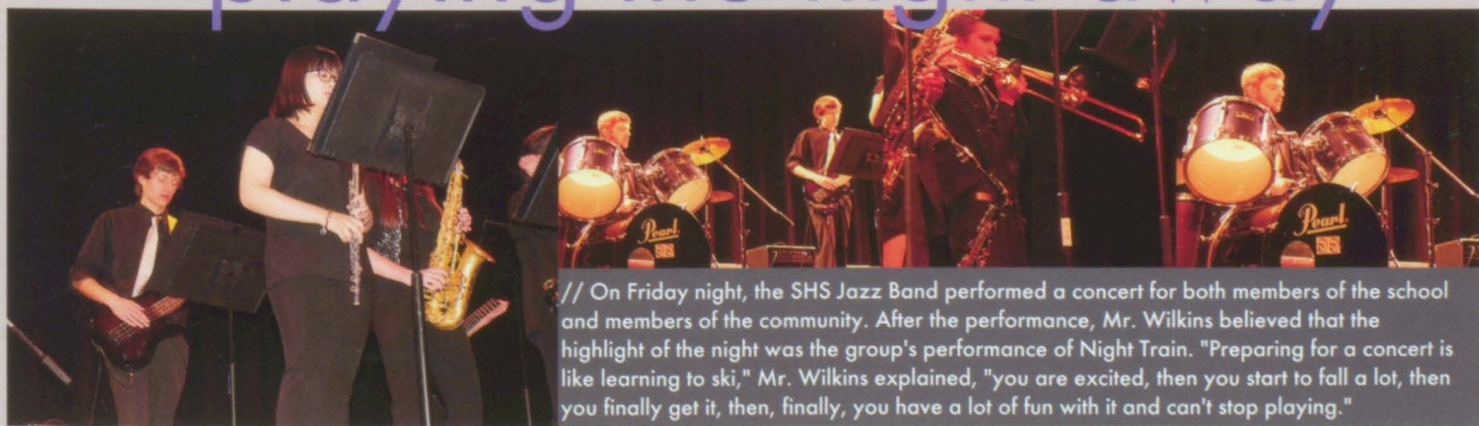

Kori Davis, sophomore, prepares to dive off the block and start her first event of the home meet. In the first meet of this season, Kori stunned the student body by breaking two school records, with times that qualified her for state.

Well known for her success in running, sophomore Bari Beasley has transferred the hard work and determination that carried her so far in that sport into swimming. Bari has now found success in a variety of sports.

playing the night away

// On Friday night, the SHS Jazz Band performed a concert for both members of the school and members of the community. After the performance, Mr. Wilkins believed that the highlight of the night was the group's performance of Night Train. "Preparing for a concert is like learning to ski," Mr. Wilkins explained, "you are excited, then you start to fall a lot, then you finally get it, then, finally, you have a lot of fun with it and can't stop playing."

Sophomore Alex Maes speeds up in the last leg of her 100 meter breaststroke race. Breaststroke is one of the favorite strokes of the team.

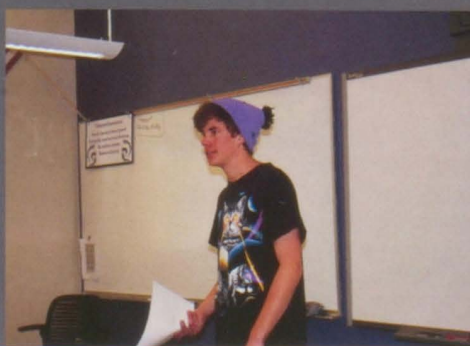

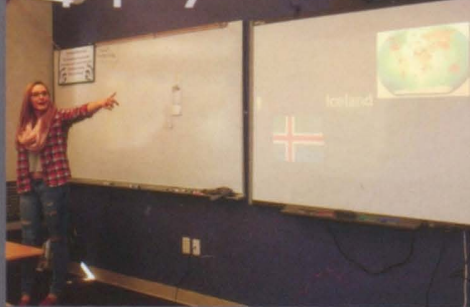

Ainsley Bright, junior, has battled a reoccurring shoulder injury for several years that has prevented her from swimming and from goalkeeping during soccer season. This year she is healthy enough to swim again, and even participates in the fly which is often called the most difficult stroke.

spartan pep

Student council created a game for the students to participate in a battle of the classes. With the show theme of "Family Fued" questions of all sorts were asked, such as, "What teachers play a musical instrument?" and "What makes Jamie Treat cry?" The close points between the competitors caused some controversy between the audience. The juniors came out with the win by only a few points. Although no one had seen this before everyone was entertained.

"I do Classic Nordic skiing because it's different from any other sport. It's very unique because it's technical, aerobic, and requires a lot of commitment," says sophomore Harper Powell about the ski team.

Junior Taylor Stack works through the course of his skate skiing race. This is the first time Salida High School students have joined the Leadville ski team, but they feel very welcomed by the other team members and the coach.

Juniors Russell Orris, Taylor Stack, and sophomore Harper Powell joined the Nordic Classic and Skate Ski Team in Leadville in order to do something out of the ordinary that they all enjoy.

"Leadville has a great, super nice, relaxed team that knows how to have fun. We also have an amazing coach who knows how to connect with athletes. It's awesome to go out and meet new people in a sport that is so unknown."

// chess club: always a move ahead

Chess Club // With a new semester comes a unique, new club. Juniors, and founders, Abbey Boadle and Sarah Killorn meet weekly for a chess match along with other members of the club.

"Sarah and I have been playing chess for a long time. When we realized more people were interested, we decided to start a club for anyone who would like to play."

// Abbey Boadle, '16

"The club has been a huge success, we usually meet Friday mornings at coffee shops to make it even better. The only problem is we have to provide our own boards, and they are limited."

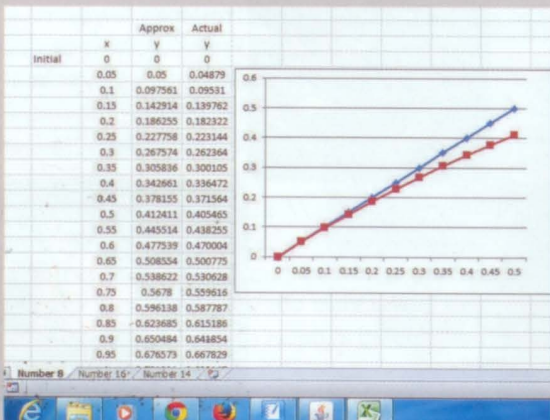

// Angelena Anttila, '16

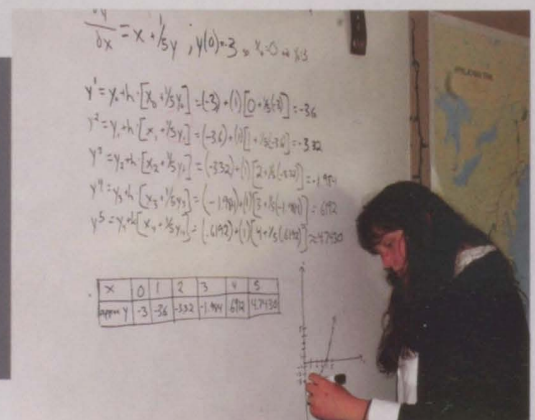

"In the future, I would love to expand our club to include more diverse members; right now the only members are girls. I would also like to fundraise to pay for more boards."

Kelsay Lundberg, '15//
"I dress in mostly comfortable clothes because I'm senior, so I don't have to impress anyone anymore! Plus, it's nice to sleep in more in the mornings when you don't have to try and dress nicely."

Olivia Lowe, '16//
"I'm a three sport athlete, so I don't really like to get dolled up very often," says Olivia of her athletic style. "Nike is definitely my favorite brand of sport-style clothes. They're so nice and comfortable!"

Salida takes on Vanguard and Lamar.

Boys C Team//
 After a tough game against Vanguard, the Boy's C Team rallied in their next game against Lamar.

JV Teams// The boys JV team had a close battle against Vanguard. They only lost by two points. But like the C team, they came back to beat Lamar. The JV girls found success against Vanguard beating them by a large margin. However, in the game against Lamar a number of players fouled out of the game leaving the girl's with a team of four.

Varsity Girls// The Varsity Girls had a killer game against the Vanguard girls. The Lamar Savages posed no threat to the Lady Spartans who won the game beating Lamar by a solid 20 points.

Varsity Boys// While the Varsity boys struggled against both teams they gave their best effort and played through the entirety of each game. However, the future of the team looks bright with freshmen already getting experience at the varsity level, and strong leadership from upperclassmen.

new traditions

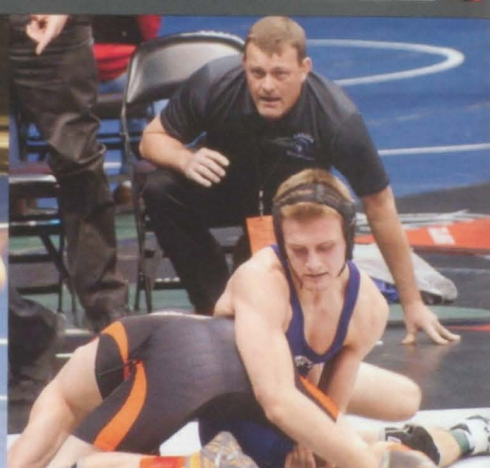

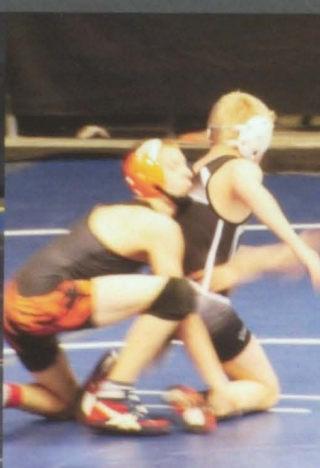

Starting second semester Principal Thompson, alongside StuCo leaders, began a monthly tradition involving selecting a teacher of the month. Teachers are nominated by students, and the nominees are then reviewed by a randomly selected board of students who determine the month's winner. The first recipient of the award was Dr. Gilchrist.

to state or not to state?//

Approaching the end of the season, the wrestling team has three competitors that made it through league in Florence and Schoenfeld all advanced. Freshman Ryan Moltz said "I'm excited to compete but I'm nervous to wrestle in a place as big as the Pepsi Center." Schoenfeld and Lowe both podiumed with Schoenfeld taking 3rd and Lowe 4th.

Swimming // A very exciting season for the swim team ended with five girls attending the state competition; Susan Wadsworth, Kori Davis, Aspen Lofton, Odette Shin, and Ainsley Bright. Sophomore Kori Davis said one of her favorite parts of state was watching the top eight finalists walk out. "They play music and even if you're just watching you can feel the nerves and it pushes you to try harder next year to get in the heat." Kori placed 17th in the 50 free, 14th in the 100 fly, and the relay team placed 15th. Aspen Lofton, sophomore, says that she enjoyed the early practices and morning weights. The state team was happy with the results because it was a really big 4A meet. The competition was fierce and the team hopes to bring even more energy next year.

// horses, hunting, and hustle: Taylor Miller

"I love riding horses. I own my own horse named Paint."

"I started hunting when I was twelve years old, and now I bow hunt and rifle hunt."

"I used to play a lot of sports, but the only one I kept with is track. It's definitely my favorite."

//creatively carving

Jesse Leathers
// "I'm glad that I took this class and it will help me with becoming a home builder. I plan to continue taking this class in the future."

Lexi Byars
// "My goal for this class is to make a longboard. I think it will be really cool to be able to tell people that I made it."

Caleb Hallett
// "This class is one of my favorites and the most important thing about this class is that you have to be very patient."

// flower power

Valentine's Day Roses // In order to fundraise for their club, the members of Key Club annually sell roses for Valentine's Day. Students can buy these roses for their friends. When the roses are delivered at the end of the week, they are accompanied by short messages written by the sender. These roses have become an SHS tradition.

"Kelsey Quick sent me a rose. I didn't send one but it felt awesome getting one! I loved it. I think I might send a couple next year."

"Mrs. Delaney sent me a rose. It was my first time getting one. It made me feel really special!"

// Mrs. Moore

"It was sweet. Ryan O'Connor sent me two roses. I didn't even know that they were selling roses till I got mine!"

// Lucy Deluca, '18

"In the later part of the game I started crying on the court because I realized that it was my last few moments in this gym, and I had just fouled out."
-Cole Tanner, '15

// Senior Night

Both the Girl's and Boy's basketball teams hosted their final home game of the season against opponents CSCS. The night was bittersweet as it also included the team's senior where seniors wrote letters of thanks to their families in recognition of their support over the senior's high school careers.

future looking bright

State Bound // Future Business Leaders of America attended the districts competition to compete for one of the top three positions to move on to the state competition. Among those moving on, freshman Tristan Ricci and Caleb Richardson were awarded second place in entrepreneurship, and Lillian Wood, freshman, took third place in marketing. All freshman are really excited to go to the state competition as it will be their first time.

rowdy rivalry

Salida Spartans take on Buena Vista Demons.

Game Face// Freshman Ashton Martinez whips past a Buena Vista Demon during the JV Girl's game. Later in the season, Martinez got to join the varsity squad.

On Your Feet// The Boy's Varsity team rises to their feet as Josh Scott, junior, drains a three in the second quarter of the rivalry game. Those few points pulled the team ahead of the Demons, and the Spartans continued to lead for the majority of the game.

Sevrin Kaess// "I'm breaking ankles and shattering dreams," freshman Sevrin Kaess said after the Varsity game.

In a Blur// Jesse Schoenfeld, sophomore, races down the court trying to out-run one of the BV players on a Spartan breakaway.

No Pressure// Time seemed to freeze as Morgaan W-S, senior, shot free throw after free throw in the final seconds of the Girl's Varsity game after being intentionally fouled repeatedly.

|| It was a lot of fun. It was a great game. It is sad that it is my last game against BV, but I wouldn't have played any other way. We performed really well as a team. ||

the pottery process

Wedging, centering, and pulling are just a few steps in the process of creating pottery. Three seniors, Faith McKenna, Jessica Adamson, and Audrey Gilmore, in this semester's ceramics class had the opportunity to learn the process of designing clay pieces including bowls, mugs, and anything else they wanted to attempt. This is huggs, and it seems as they explained by Jessica, who said, "It's all about practice. A piece could take anywhere from three minutes to three weeks."

nerds vs. yerds

Le Resume vs. The Tenderfoot Times // Since the dawn of time, the rivalry between the journalism classes offered at SHS has been a strong one. Le Resume, lead by senior Meghan White, creates a book at the end of the year full of memories for the student body to enjoy. The Tenderfoot Times on the other hand, lead by senior Sienna Rahe, releases one paper monthly containing news and stories that circulate throughout Salida. Both classes are close in numbers this year, and all staff members are working set to continue the previous traditions set by old editors.

//Ms. Clark,

As a staff, we want to thank you for putting up with a full year of our crazy antics, messy food days, and constant mayhem. Not only were you there for advice about grammar and color schemes, but also as a mentor and role model. Thank you for being the stability our class needs, and thank you for the orange bell. Stepping in as our adviser was a very brave thing to do, and we couldn't have built this book without you.

Sincerely,

//Lucy DeLuca, '18

In her free time, Lucy works with her dad restoring old cars to their past glory; an activity she has been doing since she was 5 years old. She enjoys detailing and waxing cars of all different varieties, however, her favorite car is a 1970 Chevrolet. Lucy wants to continue this hobby as a part time job after graduating.

//Hannah DeKing, '18

From skiing to biking, Hannah has a wide variety of interests. With red hair and a favorite "hobby" of eating spaghetti, she thinks of herself as somebody different. When asked what her future plans were, Hannah said, "I want to move to New Zealand, Argentina, or anywhere out of the United States when I'm older."

//Anya Evaskovich, '18

Anya is a girl of many talents and interests. Her life goals range from hang gliding to finishing her own historical fantasy novel. She currently rides horses, works on the drama crew, and is involved with 4H. While many freshmen don't yet know what their plans are for after high school, Anya plans on studying to be a fashion designer at the Art Institute in New York.

Charlotte Price

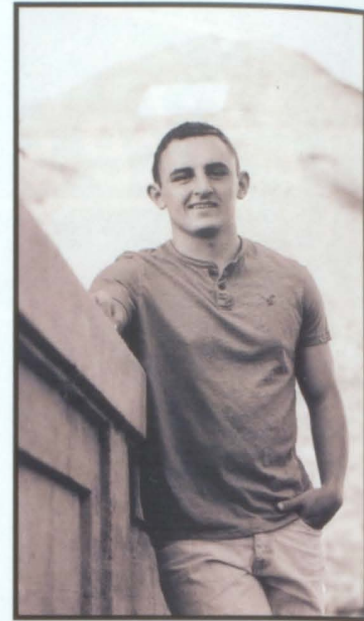

Charlotte,
You've always had an independent spirit which has given you the ability to explore opportunities both within yourself and around your world. Your aspirations to succeed and contribute to a positive future leaves your family overwhelmed with pride and eager to see where your next stage in life takes you, even though it's hard for all of us to let you go. We'll always be here for you - never forget that, and go out there and make your dreams come true!

Love you very much,
Mom, Dad and Graham

Jimmy Fontana

Jimmy,
From a funny cute baby, to a handsome young man. With laughter, learning, and especially love, you have arrived at a milestone, ready for the world. God bless your journey.

We love you, Dad, Mom, and John

Lauren McDonald

Lauren,
We are so proud of the young women you have become. You set goals as a little girl and it's amazing to see you continue to attain them. You have made sacrifices that most are not willing to make. The path you have chosen is not the easiest. You have been blessed to have good friends and some great teammates. We will continue to watch you become the best person you can be. Continue to love unconditionally and don't forget the secret formula! Never quit and continue to work hard. We can't wait to watch this Spartan change uniforms to the green and white of the ASU Grizzly. We are forever proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Jared and Grammy

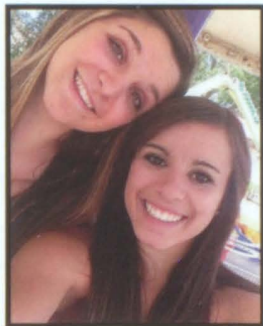

Jamie and Brooke

From the beginning at SonShine Inn through today as you graduate, the journey you have taken together from endless camps, traveling Europe, Vegas, vacations, sleep overs, endless parties, dinners and family gatherings, you have taken the path of being true to yourselves and each other.
 "You are each other's person"...
 Grey's.

We couldn't be more proud of the independent, strong young women you both have become. You own your future and success shall follow the both of you. May your bond always remain as strong tomorrow as it is today.

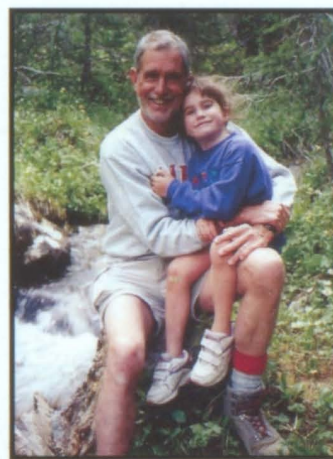

Love you both,
 Casey, Kim, Rocky, Lisa

Jamie,
I am so proud of who you are and who you continue to be throughout school. You have experienced so much in the last few months that few get the chance to. You will do amazing things in this world. I love you more than you know.
- Big Sis

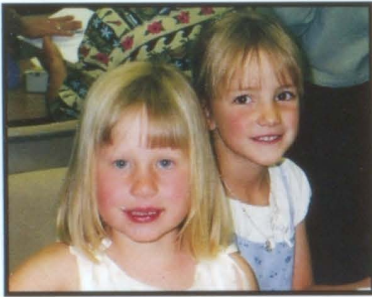

You are an exceptional young woman. You have always been your own person no matter what obstacle or situation you were faced with. You are true to yourself, kind, stubborn, focused and beautiful. Your individuality is what has always made you special. You are never afraid to take the hard road and you actually look forward to it. You always seem to amaze us over and over again. Your future holds so much and we cannot imagine how far you will fly once you leave.

It's been a fun journey to watch you change from our little "Tulip" to the incredible young woman you have become. May god continue to bless you with great health, awesome adventures, laughter, and faithful friends. You are such a wonderful blessing and we couldn't have asked for a greater daughter, sister and granddaughter. Philippians 1:6 says " For I am confident of this very thing, that he who began a good work in you will perfect it until the day of Christ Jesus." Jamie, keep your eyes fixed on Him the author and perfecter of your faith and He will continue to direct your paths throughout your life.

Love always,

Mom, Dad, Jon and David, Grandma Hughes and Grandma and Grandpa Treat

Morgaan Walters-Schaler

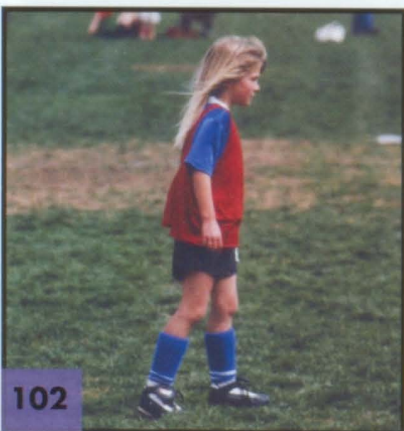

Morgaan,

So how is it we have arrived at this place in time so soon? It really does seem like only yesterday-when we walked to Longfellow so you could begin first grade. Since that time you have brought us immense pride and joy with all your accomplishments and we are so proud of the wonderful young women you have become. We wish you continuing success for years to come.

Love,

Mom, Dad & Cole

Stephanie Feather

As one chapter comes to a close, a new, more exciting one opens for you. We are so proud of the beautiful, smart, young lady you have become. We are so excited to see where your future will take you. Dream big, hold on tight to them, have the courage to pursue them. Take time to love, to hear, to see, to absorb, to experience, to shine, you will gain strength, courage and the confidence to obtain those dreams. Never underestimate this power.

Know that we will always be here for you, to stalk you, flip out on you, lecture you, drive you insane; but more importantly to support you, guide you, teach you, hug you, protect you, hold you, love you with all our hearts and soul. Love you to the moon and back.

Jess Adamson

Jessica,
We couldn't be prouder of the person you have become. Great adventures await you!
Enjoy it all!

We love you!

THANKS FOR READING
THE TENDERFOOT TIMES!

Thanks to all the local businesses that supported 'Le Resume' this year. Without you, creating and printing this book for generations to enjoy would not be possible.

good luck next year

Dear Staffers,

Gracie: Thank you for being flexible, taking on both assignments and the training to be an editor next year. We wish you the best of luck keeping all these crazies organized, and don't forget we're always just a phone call away when things get too out of control. Good luck next year.

Mady: You might have set a new record for the number of assignments a yerd has ever done at once. Thank you for your dedication, and do-everything-all-the-time attitude. Lastly, thank you for giving us the play-by-play in all things boys and drama. Good luck next year.

Ella: We could always count on you to remain calm during deadline time with your headphones in. Thank you for your contributions this year. Stay golden ponyboy. Good luck next year.

Tito: Congratulations on being the first boy in years to survive the Le Resume' class. Seriously, we have no idea how you lasted all year surrounded by such a large group of girls. Stay chill dude. Good luck next year.

Ashton & Tyra: Knowing that we are leaving our book to the Dynamic Duo gives us peace of mind. Thank you for being the voice of reason within our staffers. We can always depend on you to be in class, finish your assignments, and calm everyone else down. Good luck next year.

Saige: Even though there was a constant stream of bickering coming from you and Mady, it made for great creativity within your assignments. We hope that your interest in photography blossoms next year and that you can keep calm and yerd on. Good luck next year.

Gianna: Although you never seemed to get to the point while telling stories in class, your stories in the yearbook always captured our attention. We're excited to hear about your adventures in yearbook next year, and we sincerely hope that you learn some vocal story telling skills. (Gracie that's on you.) Good luck next year.

Dear Seniors,

This year we've created a yearbook, but something so much more. Something that is sweeter than Voodoo donuts, and will last long beyond this final deadline. As we walked into yearbook day one, as either terrified freshman having no idea what to expect, or as Sophomores trying to fill a class hour we were clueless that we'd be joining such a crazy, dysfunctional, yet somehow beautiful group.

To Snow White, our fearless leader keeping us little dwarves in order with the magic bell, you inspire us all and one day you're probably going to rule the world with your awesome smile and brilliant mind. No idea what next year will be without you, but expect desperate phone calls. Thank you for everything.

To Mama Mia, thank you for teaching us all to turn on cameras, and eventually take decent pictures. Sorry if we make you pull your eyes out, but as Gianna says you're the "Mama Yerd" taking care of the baby birds. Thanks for making sure everyone is always okay, and that we have rides home. You're irreplaceable.

To Morgaan the "queen baller", thank you so much for keeping the food closet full, and our hearts happy. Without you we wouldn't have sold a single yearbook. We truly appreciate all you've done.

To Charlotte, the traveler: Although, we only got to have half a year with you, we still got to experience your crazy organizational skills, and thank you for always having good ideas, when we were completely lost. Hope you had an amazing semester traveling; we all lived vicariously through your adventures.

To Kelsey, the dedicated: Thank you for always being committed, and showing us how to master yearbook with a good attitude. You did a great job stepping up to be coverage editor, and encouraging us when we were completely stumped.

To Tristyn the bold: Tristyn for jumping into yearbook for the first time, you've become a pro. Thank you for doing everything 100% and putting in the effort needed to make such an awesome book.

To Harmony, the crazy hat wearer: I don't think any of us will be able to forget the legendary yearbook trip hat. Thanks for the endless funny stories and encouragement. You make everyone feel invited, and a little happier inside. Next year won't be the same without your funny dances.

To Kelsay the cheerful: Kelsay you brighten up the yearbook room, and make even stressful deadlines lighthearted. I think we've all found a new friend in you. Thanks for being so welcoming and kind, yearbook will definitely not be the same without your goofy, wonderful self.

To Hannah the "yerd ninja", thanks for being calm when we were not, silent and deadly, you killed the interviews. We missed you at the end of the semester.

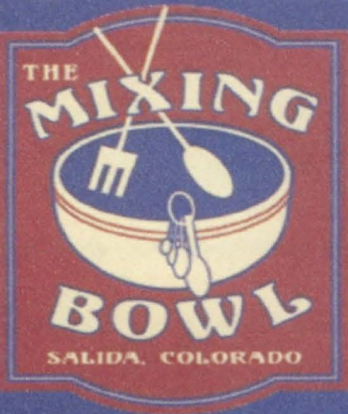

To Maya the honest, thank you for always telling the blunt truth, but with a smile. Even though you left before the book was done, your attitude brought a funky vibe to class.

We know this year was different, with a new advisor and your last year in SHS, but thank you to Ms Clark, and all our senior yearbook girls for encouraging us, never giving up on us and making yearbook a pleasure to be a part of. We wish you all the best future you could possibly have. Thank you for an unforgettable class.

Our yearbook is finished, our hope is diminished. From the endless food trips to the help and the tips, we've created a bond that will last far beyond. Good luck next year, please come visit.

Love,
Ashton, Tyra, Mady, Saige, Tito, Ella, and Gracie.

Capture the Moments, volume 102, was produced by the Le Resume' yearbook staff at Salida High School in Salida, Colorado, and was printed by Jostens. The account was serviced by Matt Staub. The 2014-2015 volume was printed using various color schemes including Orchid, Charcoal, and Mist. All body copy was set in 12, 10, or 8 point font AYT Function MD, subheadlines were set in AYT Function Demi, and headlines were set in AYT Function Book. Layouts were submitted to the plant by internet.

Capture the Moments was produced using Jostens Yearbook Avenue Designer. In order to publish the the 126 page Capture the Moments yearbook, one editor-in-chief, one photo editor, one business manager, three coverage editors, one adviser, and 15 staff members dedicated many hours inside and outside of the publications room. Capture the Moments provides information and recaps the school year, capturing each and every memorable moment. The yearbook was made for students, by students. This year's yearbook includes Aurasma technology, indicated by purple triangles over pictures that will play videos connected to Aurasma. The Le Resume' staff presents this yearbook, hoping it provides you with many memories as you Capture the Moments.
