FOREWORD

When a school system serves a community for over three score and ten years, it is bound to have some "history" bound up in it. When over two thousand persons have received diplomas to say nothing of the other thousands who have attended but not graduated, then it is a certainty that the school system has played some part in the lives of a great number of persons who now are scattered all over the country.

With the thought in mind that perhaps a compilation of some facts and figures and names from out of the past might be of help to future generations, we have undertaken, with the help of a former student, to list for posterity the alumni (both by years and in alphabetical order), the faculty (both by years of service and in alphabetical order), the National Honor Society members, the list of county superintendents, city superintendents (of which there have been but few), the principals, football captains, and a few other lists, all of which may sometime be of help to someone.

The attempted compiler of this history has now finished a quarter of century of service on the faculty of the Salida schools and has thoroughly enjoyed going back into records and archives and the search has brought back many pleasant memories.

We express an enormous amount of appreciation and credit to Craig Larimer, who now is Dr. Craig Larimer of Colorado Springs, Colorado, who authored a history of the Salida schools as a school project when he was a senior here in 1936. We have borrowed liberally from his book only bringing the material up to date in some cases.

We also express a great debt of gratitude in the preparation of this history to Miss Helen Baird for her untiring efforts in preparing the manuscript and in editing and typing the material.

We will take the full blame for errors that have crept into the book--and we are sure there are errors here--but we hope that it will serve as a "memory refresher" to those who care to review the past and we hope that it may be of help to those who wish to determine "who graduated when" and "who taught when." If the book is of any help to anyone for either purpose, then the work was not in vain.

The Salida schools owe a great debt of gratitude to those men and women who have spent many years of their lives on the Board of Education and in the classroom and in administrative work to make the Salida schools what they are today. To those men and women--both living and dead--this book is affectionately dedicated.

A Brief History of the Salida, District No. 7, Public Schools

On June 12, 1879 a petition was submitted to E. R. Naylor, County Superintendent of Schools, asking that he form a school district on the territory near where the Little River joined the Arkansas River.

On June 26, 1879 a meeting was called to order by H. C. Crawford and all present voted in favor of organizing a district in Salida. I. C. King was elected president; Mrs. N. West, secretary; and H. C. Crawford, treasurer, of the newly-formed district. Those who were present at this first meeting included: N. A. Davis, E. T. Alling, John T. Blake, Levi Williams, G. N. Bover, F. Murray, F. L. Wilson, J. E. Gorrell, G. C. Brown, H. Crawford, H. C. King, E. E. Hallouk, John Todd, W. E. Corkhill, Charles Freedner and Mrs. J. M. King.

The first meeting of the new, three-member board was held on September 8, 1879 and a Miss Jennie Smith was elected at $40.00 a month for a three months school for Salida. A room was rented for about 25 pupils. A stove was purchased and a load of wood was secured. Rented rooms were used for school purposes for the first three years of the Salida schools history and rooms used included: what is now the Salida Hotel, what is now the Lippard Electric Shop and what is now the Presbyterian Annex.

After 1879, the district began to grow but it was not till 1885 that it passed Buena Vista in size to become the largest district in the county.

By 1884, the school was divided into three parts: a primary, intermediate and a grammar section with the equivalent of two years in each. It was not till 1890 that anyone graduated from a three-year highschool and not till 1899 that the school became a four-year highschool.

In 1882, Hunt, Twitchell and Roller donated a strip of land at the corner of Third and D to the new school district for school purposes. In 1882, a bond issue of $4,000 was floated to construct a two-room, stone building which was the first school built in Salida. The stone wall of this original building can still be seen in the south wall of the present McCray school.

By 1884, another $7,000 bond was floated to add rooms to the "Central" school building.

By 1891, another $20,000 bond issue was passed to erect a school on H Street between Seventh and Eighth Streets--the building was erected for a high school and was used for that purpose for a long time, but is now used as an elementary school (Longfellow). This building was constructed at a cost of about $18,000.

In 1900, two more rooms were added to the Central school and by 1904 the school district bought the old Salida Presbyterian Academy at the corner of Ninth and D Streets, with its ten acres of ground. This site was used in 1909 for the building of a senior high building after a bond issue of $34,000 was floated to build the new addition to the Salida school system.

In 1922, another bond issue of $110,000 was floated and three buildings, a junior high and a gymnasium were erected.

In 1930, the name of the Central school was changed to "McCray" to honor the late Mrs. G. N. McCray, who spent many years as principal of the building.

By January, 1931 it was decided to remodel the McCray School when the District received considerable money from a bonding company following the defalcation of a county official.

In 1933 it was decided similarly to remodel the Longfellow School.

The boys' and girls' lavatories were remodeled in the senior high in 1938; lights were added to the football field in 1941, cupolas were added to the rear of McCray and the front of the gym in 1943 and at the rear of Longfellow in 1952. A new floor was laid in the gym in 1952. Improved drinking fountains were added in the upstairs of the Junior High in 1945 and on the first floor in 1952. Over a period of several years from 1942 on, fluorescent lights were added a few at a time in the various rooms and hallways throughout the system.

In the fall of 1952, kindergartens were added in both schools and the sixth grades were moved from the elementary schools to the Junior High School.
