The Rio Grande Hotel Co.

FIRST-CLASS EATING HOUSES are great conveniences of travel. The tourists over the line of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad will find that this necessity has been provided for in a generous and ample manner by MESSRS. E. A. THAYER & Co., managers of the RIO GRANDE HOTEL CO., which comprises the hotel and eating-house service of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad. No efforts have been spared to meet the wants of the traveling public in this direction, to the fullest and most satisfactory extent. The result has been an universal verdict of praise rendered by those who have patronized these hotels. The table is first-class in every respect, the service prompt, polite and efficient; the furnishings costly and luxurious, and the charges reasonable. The eating-houses on the through line are situated as follows: The Depot Hotel and eating-house at Pueblo; the Monte Christo Hotel and eating-house at Salida; the Black Cañon Hotel and eating-house at Cimarron; the Lunch-Counter at Leadville, and the eating-houses at Grand Junction and Minturn. All houses have lunch-counters attached. The eating-houses at Pueblo, Salida, Cimarron and Grand Junction have ample hotel accommodations for the convenience of passengers wishing to stop over from one train to the next. Cimarron affords both excellent fishing and hunting; mountain trout and large game are abundant.

SALIDA.

Salida is an important railroad, business and residence town. It is the gateway and supply point of the Arkansas Valley, upper Sau Luis Valley, Monarch, Cleora and Bonanza mining districts, and, outside of Denver and Pueblo, it is the most important point in the State. The terminus of six railway divisions and the site of extensive railroad shops. The payroll is upwards of $40,000 per month, this of itself forming a solid basis for business. It has good public schools, a fine academy under the care of the Presbyterians, six churches, fine brick business blocks, several wholesale mercantile houses, and all the merchants and tradesmen of the town are prospering. Population, 4,000. Altitude, 7,050. Distances: Denver, 216 miles; Pueblo, 97 miles; Leadville, 61 miles; Villa Grove, 30 miles; Monarch, 20 miles.
