Dedication

Dedication

We, the Class of 1927, respectfully dedicate this Annual to COACH CLIFFORD H. BUCK
and
the "Spartan Spirit."

Due to the faithful, untiring efforts of Coach Buck and the splendid cooperation of the Spartans, Salida High School has enjoyed a most successful football and basketball season this year, and has gained a place of prominence in the annals of Colorado athletics.

Coach Buck has not only taught the boys the real meaning of service, loyalty, ability, and team-work, but he has also showed to the high school in general the value of true school spirit. The Class of 1927 hereby wish to give due recognition to a valuable contribution to Salida High School.

Foreword

Our purpose has been to present an interesting history of our high school days; and if in the years to come the Le Resume of 1927 recalls any happy memories our efforts will not have been in vain.

Senior Class History

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the peppiest class in many a year.
On the fifth of September in twenty-three
Or about that date it seems to me
We began our famous high school spree.
A Senior said to his friend, "What can this be,
This strange phenomena that I now see?"
The friend made answer, "That which you see
Is the Freshman class of twenty-three."

The record this famous class did make
Shall be told to you without mistake.
The first thing our class did attempt to do
Was elect its officers, who proved most true.
Joe McCauley was chosen head
If he failed, we still had "Ed".
As recorder and treasurer of the class
We chose "Jo" Turner, the wee little lass.
Our athletic representatives proved to be
Clifford Gibson and Margaret Davie.
And under whose guidance were these things done?
Able Miss Fisher was the one.

Our first attempt in the social line
Was a Hallowe'en party, which ended most fine.
In scholastics we "strutted our stuff";
On the Honor Roll we had more than enough.
In athletics we were known
By the record our girls had shown
In defeating the Junior basketball team
In a game both fair and clean.
And that is how we came to gain
The Championship title in that domain.
As to our finances we had a roll;
Twenty-five dollars in pure gold.
An orchestra we also had,
Not very good nor yet very bad.

September rolled around once more.
This time we numbered seventy-four.
As Sophomore sponsor Miss Mosgrove served
And treated us better than we deserved.

An apron and overall party so gay
Was the next event we had to display.
At our picnic we had the most fun,
Diving and swimming at Mt. Princeton.

Our Junior year we had begun
Under the direction of Miss Halverson.
The officers we elected were these:
Fred Coupland, president, if you please.
And the one to help Fred lead the band
Was Jack O'Connell, his right hand man,
To keep a record of each little thing
We chose, as secretary, Alice Kasling.
Lela Starbuck, keeper of the funds;
When the bills came in, she paid the duns.
The Junior-Senior banquet came that year
And how to raise the money was our greatest fear.
This fear we quickly did allay
When we counted the returns of our class play.
Our Junior year was auspiciously ended
By a picnic most enjoyed and splendid.

At last our Senior year did arrive,
This time we numbered forty-five.
Miss Wilcox, the sponsor for our Senior year,
Will always remain as one near and dear.
Donald Madden, the president, and Ed Grout
We chose to lead and show us the route.
As secretary and treasurer we chose "Pat"
To keep our bank roll straight and fat.
The financial project we undertook
Was one which I must not overlook.
The P. T. A. a proposition did make,
That if the responsibility we would take
Of the Lyceum Course and its ticket sale
They would pay all losses if we should fail.
All profits, they said, would be our gain.
So we tried this plan, but it proved in vain!

We had more stars than there are in heaven
Having nine boys on the football eleven.
In the Honor Society there were one plus five;
A Kasling, a Strayer and a Davie did arrive.
The boy members numbered three,
Carter, Levin, and Lawrence Wilsey.
The Senior class edits the Le Resumé;
To make it a success is far from child's play.
But with the co-operation and the class' good-will
We call it a success and we hope you will.
As Commencement Exercises are drawing near;
Each of our classmates grows more dear.
And now I'll finish my lame little rhyme
With a motto we quote many a time;
Of every good Senior is it the aim
"To Build for Character, not for Fame."

Senior Class Will

We, the Seniors of the class of 1927, City of Salida, County of Chaffee, State of Colorado, U. S. A., considering the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, and being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory and almost super-human understanding, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, hereby revoking any and all wills hereunto made by us, and do dispose of such estate as it has pleased the Fates and our own strong hands and brains to win for us.

We give and bequeath to the dear faculty, who have been our instructors in all the wisdom of the ages, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams. No longer need they lie awake through the long watches of the night to worry over the uncertainty of whether this one is doing her night work, or that one will have her mathematics in morning class, or the other one will remember every iron-clad rule of compositional technique in the preparation of her essay. It has been a hard strain on them, for Seniors are said to be at all times and under all conditions difficult to manage. But they have all done their duty, and verily, now shall they have their well-earned reward.

We give and bequeath to our beloved Superintendent, Prof. C. E. Tanton, our sincere affection, our deepest reverence, our heartiest gratitude, and the whole unlimited wealth of our eternal memory. In an attempt of partial payment for all that he has done for us during our long years at Salida High, we make over to him, here and now, a heavy mortgage on our future in the Great Unknown beyond.

Again, we give and bequeath to our beloved faculty all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examination papers. We know that much we have imparted to them in this way must have been entirely new to them, as well as to all teachers and students everywhere, and would throw much new light on many a hitherto familiar line of thought, throughout the whole world of science and learning, even outside the halls and walls of Salida High School. If the faculty see fit, they are hereby authorized to give out such of this information to the world as they may feel the world is ready to receive.

We give and bequeath to the leading papers of our city, The Salida Record, and The Salida Mail, and to the editors thereof, all the events of our lives, past, present, and to come, with all the wonders, sensations, hairbreadth escapes, glorious attainments, and other deserved or undeserved notoriety and fame with which we may have been or may hereafter be associated, trusting that they may furnish plenty of material for news items and brilliant editorials for ages yet to come, and serve as an inspiration for those younger students who so naturally look to us for examples.

The Seniors of the Commercial department, especially the bankers, leave to Mr. Lindberg their success in keeping the Juniors in good order and being a good example to them.

The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we hope they may be accepted, not as worthless things lavishly thrown away because we can no longer keep them, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them, and a continual reminder of the generosity of heart, displayed in our free and full bestowal:

1. To our class room teacher, Miss Wilma Wilcox, the profound admiration and ever-enduring friendship of the class of 1927, in individual as well as collective manifestation.

2. To the football team of next year, the ability of Elvis and Leon Starbuck. We could not induce Eddie Grout to surrender his.

3. To the Junior class, as a student body, William Wilson's knowledge of physics, chemistry, foreign languages, mathematics and the universe in whole or in part. We trust the class will be able to survive it.

4. To anybody who needs it, Jack O'Connell's bluff. Apply early and avoid the rush.

5. To Clarence Beauregard, Fred Coupland's motto: "In love, variety is the spice of life." Take heed, Clarence!

6. Charlie Stewart's aloofness to Dorothy Waggoner.

7. Erwin Sage's success with Dan Cupid to Fred Neff.

8. Esther Vaughn's noisy and intruding manner to Jean Avery.

9. Lela Starbuck's peaceful and pleasant methods in playing basketball to Sarah Mazzula.

10. Levin Charles' standing in the National Honor Society to Bob Allan and trust that in the years to come that Bob will derive some benefits from this bequest.

11. To Glenn Cassatt, Clifford Gibson's basketball ability, but not his beauty, for Clifford still feels the need of that, and we could not coax him into leaving it behind.

12. Josephine Turner and Gertrude Strayer's close friendship to Anna Drobnick and Leon Giles, and hope that they may cultivate it to a great extent.

13. Lyle Bratton's pep to Orville Gibson as we know that he is sadly in need of some of it.

14. Katherine Cullinan's beautiful marcel to Elvina Stancato.

15. Francis O'Brien's Irish wit to Helen Hyatt. "Opportunity knocks but once." Heed the call.

16. Carter Hutchinson's giggle to Webster Bly.

17. Alice Kasling's gift of gab to Verna Schrader.

18. Donald Madden's dizzy spells, caused by his thirst for knowledge, to Walter Woods. We hope that Walter is, or will be, immune to this terrible thing.

19. Melville Kaess' height, which was willed to him by the class of 1926, to Ethel Hyatt, hoping she will make better use of it than Melville did.

20. Alice Davie's wonderful personality to Elizabeth Kuhn.

21. Rosena Post's vampish ways we present to Gertrude Harpending.

22. Pauline Robbins' peaches and cream complexion to the Junior girls. Please don't crowd!

23. George Perschbacher's alertness to be on time to class to Charles McDonough.

24. Imogene Ronald's devil-may-care disposition to Edith Wood.

25. Emerine Jacobs' light and swift gait to Bess Fields.

26. Mona Hanks' innocent baby stare and her standing with Miss Fisher and the Girl Reserves to Louise Reidel.

27. Mary Brazil's quiet manner to Betty Rubin.

28. Janet Gilray's ability to make friends and her sense of humor to Kathryn Morris.

29. Ophelia Patterson's melodious alto voice to Vivian Willingham, and Fern Alexander's ability to sing tenor to Dorothy Mazzulla.

30. Margaret Davie's pug nose to Magdelene Peterson.

31. Eddie Grout's standing as the Salida High School sheik to Bob Graf.

32. Lyle Light's ability to read fluently to Frederick Merten.

33. Jack Rorer's skill as a cartoonist to Pauline Winters.

34. Eduard Bode says he will give his reputation for dancing to George Sullivan, if he gets through; if he doesn't he still wants it.

35. Lawrence Wilsey leaves his love of study to Galen Ashenfelter; full instructions how to use it furnished on application.

38. Robert Swope wills his easy-going manner and his dreamy eyes to Henry Crotzer.

39. James Holman wills his business-like manner of speaking to Wilma Thompson.

40. Bert Slater leaves his fickleness in love to Lawrence Rosen.

The subjoined list will be recognized as entailed estates, to which we do declare the class of 1928 the real and rightful successors:

1. Our seats in the class room. May they endeavor to fill them as advantageously, as promptly, and as faithfully as we have done. Our seats in Assembly Hall may be taken by whomsoever is able to grab them first.

2. Our Senior dignity. May they uphold it forever, with all seriousness and gravity, endeavoring to realize its vast importance, in spite of their natural light-mindedness and irresponsibility.

3. Any stubs of pencils, erasers, or scraps of paper that we may inadvertently leave behind us in the excitement and haste of gathering up our cherished treasures for the last time. May they feel free to make use of them, and feel, perhaps, that these may, in some mystic way, impart some of our great knowledge to them.

To the Freshman class that is to be—any overlooked cuds of gum we may have left adhering to the underside of desks, banisters, assembly seats, or any likely or unlikely places. We have some times had to rid ourselves of these in too much haste to be able to pick and choose the most desirable means of disposal.

Last comes the one thing hard for us to part with. To our successors we must leave our places in the hearts and thoughts of our principal and teachers. They will love them, unworthy as we feel they are, even as they have loved us; they will show them all the same tender kindness and attention that they have bestowed upon us; they will feel the same interest in their attempts and successes; the same sorrow when they fail. We trust that the class of 1928 will appreciate all this as deeply as we have done, that it may be their most precious possession, as it has been ours, and the one we are most loath to hand over to them.

And we do hereby constitute and appoint the said Principal, Mr. L. D. Hightower, sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, We, the Class of 1927, the testators, have to this, our will, set our hand and seal, this sixteenth day of May, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven.

O. G. P. '27.

Senior Class Prophecy

One evening I sat down before my radio set and happened to tune in on Station S. H. S. Alumni. I remembered that this was "World Events" night; these programs are usually very interesting, so I decided to keep this one. There was a beautiful piano solo just before the announcer was heard.

"You have just heard a piano solo by Miss Josephine Turner. You will remember that she is the pianist for Deak Bode's orchestra so well-known for its discords.

An entirely different program will now begin—short topics from 'Who's Who.'

Jack O'Connell, who is a rising young lawyer, has won national fame in the recent Bratton case. It was charged that Cecil Kaess, who is president of the Society for the Protection of Dumb Animals, caused the arrest of Lyle Bratton, the well-known Maysville chili king. Kaess went to the restaurant for a hot-dog sandwich and found the license still intact. Mr. Bratton was arrested for cruelty to dumb animals.

Jack Rorer, the philosopher and artist, is now on a trip seeking a place to catch up with lost sleep, undisturbed. His wife, Jean, is rather worried about his condition.

Rosena Post is making a tour of northern Siberia in order to promote complete woman suffrage.

Robert Swope has been sent to investigate the trust owned and controlled by Fred Coupland. The chief products of the factory are: round squares, left-handed monkey wrenches, and A. C. storage batteries.

Jimmy Holman has at last realized his life-long ambition as a dog-catcher. He's making wieners for a hot-dog stand.

Erwin Sage perfected a synthetic milk attachment that runs on a Ford. Elvis Starbuck, in behalf of the United States Dairy Association has brought suit against Mr. Sage on the charge that cattle will be exterminated if the attachment be allowed to stay.

Hap Starbuck has gone to Hollywood as a film sheik. He owes his success to his former football career.

Lawrence Wilsey has become the world's wizard typist. He is able to keep a typewriter going with each hand at one time.

Tom Hazelhurst made a fortune out of radios. With each radio he sells he gives the guarantee that the radio will be absolutely silent.

Alice Kasling delivered a four-hour speech, the subject of which was, "Women Ought Not to Hold Office Where Public Speaking is Required."

Eddie Grout has introduced a new dance on the stage. He calls it the Horsefly-Wiggle.

Melville Kaess has opened a correspondence school for lovelorn lads and lassies.

Fern Alexander and Ophelia Patterson are playing banjo-ukes in a Hawaiian musical troupe.

Pauline Robbins is the founder of Polly's dancing school in Boston, Mass.

Lorene Camp has started a hospital for hopeless Kaesses.

Carter Hutchinson is manager of the Classé Model Shoppe in New York City.

Bert Slater is developing great football material in the kindergarten in Denver.

George Perschbacher is on Wall Street dealing in stocks. We hear that his favorite stocks are cats and guinea pigs.

Clifford Gibson is now coach of the S. H. S. Spartans, and he turns out a winning team every year.

Mona Hanks is the owner of several large dog kennels in which she raises poodle and lap dogs for the society women of Denver.

Mary Brazil is writing bedtime stories for the Salida Mail and the Record.

Emerine Jacobs has become famous as the world's greatest woman dramatist.

Charles Stewart and Levin Charles are the managers of a chain of drug stores, which is nearly as famous as the Piggly Wiggly stores.

Pat O'Brien is playing first violin in the opera, "The Cat's Serenade on the Backyard Fence."

News has just been received that Gertrude Strayer has a good position in Alabama, teaching the pickaninnies how to Charleston and how to do the Black-bottom.

Kathryn Cullinan has taken Miss Fisher's place as Freshman guide and Spanish teacher at S. H. S.

Janet Gilray is the successor of Edna Wallace Hopper and her famous beauty compounds.

Donald Madden has become an extensive planter. He plants people for the Travers and Boham undertaking parlors.

Margaret Davie succeeded Mrs. McPherson as head of the Angelus Temple in California.

Alice Davie, who has written several books in the past, has just completed a masterpiece, "Why Men Leave Home." The author's wide experience in that line makes the story very realistic.

Esther Vaughn has begun a campaign for the preservation of horses. They are rapidly becoming extinct.

Lela Starbuck is a Ford efficiency expert. She is now in Chicago getting a load of tin cans to forward to the Ford plant.

Bill Wilson is in the hospital following an explosion in his laboratory. It is said that his whiskers were singed so that he no longer looks like a science teacher.

Now, Radio Friends, in conclusion, we wish to present to you, Mr. Lyle Light, who will give a humorous sketch, which we hope will be enjoyed by all.

J. H. and W. W., '27.

"The Rivals" was presented by the Senior Class at the Higs School Auditorium, May 13. It was, perhaps, one of the most pretentious undertakings of any Senior Class in recent years, but the results justified the attempt. Its success was unquestioned, and much credit is due to the director, Mrs. Harry Rubin.

Junior Class History

It was in the fall of 1924 that the class of '28 came to life and no one could well be ignorant of their existence. A group of over one hundred inexperienced Freshmen assembled under the guidance of Miss Fisher. The class was organized with John Gloyd as president, Ethel Hyatt as vice-president, Frances Adlock as secretary, and Helen Perschbacher as treasurer. The first social gathering was held in the gym on Hallowe'en. The year was closed with a picnic at Hortense.

The next year a somewhat diminished group of eighty students gathered in the Sophomore room, this time with Miss Mosgrove as sponsor. Ethel Hyatt was elected president, Jack Rorer, vice-president, Elvina Stancato, secretary, and Helen Perschbacher, treasurer. The class party was held on November 14th, in the gym. In May, they had their annual picnic at Hortense.

Thus down to the present time—the Junior year, under the leadership of Miss Halverson—the class was organized. Orville Gibson was elected president, Howard Caviness, vice-president, Buena Long, secretary, and Walter Woods treasurer. The Junior year brings with it a great deal of responsibility—the way and means of entertaining the Senior class. The class of '28 chose to give a play entitled, "The Intimate Strangers," to raise the money for the Junior-Senior banquet.

The class has been well represented in all lines of activities—athletics, Beta Phi, Girl Reserves, and Glee Club. Three of their members were elected to membership in the National Honor Society.

Junior Class Play

The Juniors decided to give the play, "The Intimate Strangers," in order to raise money for the Junior-Senior banquet. The play was presented on Friday, March 25, in the high school auditorium. It was due to Miss Halverson's efficient coaching and untiring work in directing the play that it was a success.

Sophomore Class History

On September 5th, 1925, there gathered in the auditorium a new class of students. Their smiling faces and verdant actions immediately won our sympathy and undying affection.

Under the guidance and leadership of Miss Fisher, however, they outgrew their verdant ways and became a fine class. They had quite a representation of boys on the football squad, and those boys are to be congratulated for the splendid loyalty and spirit they showed.

At the election of class officers, the following were put into office: Francis Pauly, president; Lawrence Finnessey, vice-president and Louvay Bradford, secretary and treasurer. The class gave a Hallowe'en party in the latter part of October and proved what they could do in the social line. They also boasted of a bank account.

This enjoyable and successful year was closed by a picnic at Mt. Princeton.

The next fall the class, somewhat decreased in number, met in Room two. Miss Mosgrove took the responsibility of guiding them through this year. The officers for their Sophomore year were: Francis Pauly, president; his assistant, William Burns; secretary, Blanche Mundlein and Lillian Merritt, treasurer.

Several of the Sophomores were on the first team in both basketball and football. The Sophomore girls won the girls' inter-class championship in basketball, and so, altogether, both the boys and girls of this class have showed good school and class spirit. If they keep up this excellent record, the chances are good that they may become one of the best graduating classes in Salida High.

Freshman Class History

School opened on September 7th and in marched an enormous lot of "Freshies". The Seniors abused us, and all the classes said we were green, but we couldn't see it.

In the same month we held a business meeting and elected the following officers: president, Robert Ream; vice-president, Wade Heister; and secretary-treasurer, Robert Kasling. Black and gold were chosen as the class colors.

After a hilarious Christmas party we had a little much-needed rest from the gruelling tasks of high school. Then came our mid-year exams which nearly all of us passed, thus showing what a bright class we are. Surely, if we passed, it was not due to easy tests.

We are proud of the achievement of our class, for we have had from six to twelve on the Honor Roll every six weeks. No class in high school has ever equalled us in this. One of our members, Betty Rubin, won a place on the Declamatory team which was chosen from two local preliminary contests.

As the year drew to a close we were saddened by the death of Edward Logan, one of our classmates.

SALIDA

Salida is a little town
 Out in the golden west.
 Of all the towns I ever saw,
 Salida is the best.

There are mountains all around it;
 The streams are full of fish.
 If you come into Salida,
 You'll have no other wish.

There is skating, there is swimming
 In this little western town.
 There are singing birds that live there;
 There is grass all o'er the ground.

There are no "awful" murders
 In this little western town,
 In Salida, "The Gem City"
 And the city of renown.

THE ENGLISH CLUBS

Early in the school year each class in the Junior High organized a Correct English Club.

Possibly the reason we have all enjoyed this work so much is because the benefits derived are so evident to all. The ability to preside over a meeting, to serve as secretary, or to talk to one's fellow students for a few moments in correct, pleasing English, should be the proud possession of all who have been members of the Correct English Club for two successive years in the Junior High. Abundant practice in each of these activities has been given to all.

It has been our pleasure and privilege to receive and answer a letter from the Greek Red Cross Juniors in Athens and to send a letter to our Junior Red Cross friends in Ikutso, Japan, from whom we received four beautiful crayon sketches.

SEVENTH GRADE

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL DRAMATIC CLUB

The eighth grade pupils of the Kesner Junior High School organized a Dramatic Club early in November, 1926. At the first meeting of the club it was decided that the dues should be five cents per month. The following officers were elected:

Caroline Turner	- - - - -	President
Leonard Skipton	- - - - -	Secretary
Thomas Hoffacker	- - - - -	Vice-President
Oren Vaughn	- - - - -	Treasurer

Later, election was held again and the former president and vice-president were re-elected. Edward Budd was elected for secretary and Leah Murdock for treasurer. The club agreed that the money collected as dues should be spent for a picture to be left the school as a gift. The colors of the club are copenhagen and pink. Miss Butler is the sponsor of the club.

At the first meeting in November four new members were initiated: Ethel Wolfard, Wilma Gough, Edward Budd, and Hugh Burton. The members of the club are: Virginia McNew, Harold Runyan, Mona Hutchinson, Laura Barnhill, Jane Curfman, Delia Duran, James Welch, Genevieve Zingone, Donald Proctor, Lucille Allen, Leah Murdock, Pearl Cope, Grace Cooley, Naomi Wilson, Evelyn Rogers, Ida De Grazio, Wilma Zilhaver, Alma Starbuck, Lillie Mazzulla, Eva De Grazio, Nellie Stancato, Frances Snell, Thomas Hoffacker, May Hockett, Louie Muto, Caroline Turner, Edward Budd, Ethel Wolfard, Wilma Gough, Charles Gabardi, Sidney McCurdy, and Hugh Burton.

A play is now being prepared to be given after spring vacation. The name of the play is, "In Lem Haskin's Store."

M. H. H., '31.

THE SALIDA JUNIOR AUDUBON CLUB

The Salida Junior Audubon Club was organized November 4th, 1926, with over fifty members, Miss Rogers acting as sponsor.

Officers for the first semester were:

Mona Hutchinson	- - - - -	President
Marguerite Hegler	- - - - -	Vice-President
George Curfman	- - - - -	Secretary
Leah Murdock	- - - - -	Treasurer

The officers for the second semester were:

Leah Murdock	- - - - -	President
Edward Budd	- - - - -	Vice-President
Roberta Robbins	- - - - -	Secretary
Virginia McNew	- - - - -	Treasurer

Much of the enthusiasm and success of the club has been due to the faithful work of these officers.

Leaflets with bird pictures are given out and carefully studied at each meeting, bird pictures are painted, and a prize is given for the best work.

Bird study, hikes, making bird houses, feeding and caring for wild birds, and protecting them from harm are the duties and pleasures of the members of this club.

The birds they have studied are: scarlet tanager, red-eyed vireo, ruby-throated humming bird, mocking bird, starling, and ruffed grouse.

In the April meeting Mrs. Kesner gave them an interesting talk about Jack Miner, the Bird Man of Canada, and his great work for migratory birds. Mrs. H. A. Hulse presented the Audubon Club with a very fine set of bird pictures. This set will prove helpful to the club as they are pictures of the birds found in this locality.

A food sale was given in April to raise money to buy a set of books to be left as a gift from the first Audubon Club of Salida to the Junior High School library.

Madge—"Never mind, darling. I've plenty more in my vanity case."

"William the Conqueror," read Leonard S. from his history book, "landed in England in A. D. 1066."

"What does A. D. stand for?" inquired the teacher.

"After Dark," replied Leonard.

"My grandfather," said the English boy, "was a very great man. One day Queen Victoria touched him on the shoulder with a sword and made him a knight."

"Aw, that's nothin'," the American boy replied. "One day an Indian touched my grandfather on the head with a tomahawk and made him an angel!"

Win—"I think long hair makes a man look intelligent."

Nev—"Not always; if my wife finds a long hair on my coat it makes me look like an idiot."

"You say you were married by accident? How did that happen?"

"I got a cinder in my eye when on the train, and the woman across the aisle thought I was winking at her."

Texas—"When does the last train leave for Denver?"

Conductor—"What do you care? You won't live that long."

When ice cream grows on macaroni trees,

When Sahara's sands grow muddy,

When cats and dogs wear B. V. D.'s—

That's the time I like to study!

The Athletic Council is of high importance in a high school. It manages all the business of the school thru the vote of the Council and the Advisory board. The members are elected by the students at the beginning of the first semester to represent them in the business of the school. This year the council has accomplished many things; among the most important is the building of the fence around the athletic field, although the council was assisted by the school board, this is a very important undertaking. The proceeds that are left over after all the bills are paid goes toward the fence fund. Financially, the council has succeeded very well this year, as the football and basketball games were all attended by large crowds. Over one thousand dollars was spent on football equipment alone last fall and the council is working on a plan to raise money in order to equip our teams next year better than they have ever been.

A mythical all-state team was chosen by the coaches and sport writers of the state and the Spartans had two men placed on this squad. The men named from Salida were, E. Grout and E. Starbuck.

SPARTANS 6—LEADVILLE 0

The Spartans began the season by beating the Leadville Panthers in a very slow game. The Spartan's goal was at no time endangered by the visitors from the mountain city. The Spartans played very loose football and they could have beaten the Panthers by a much larger score had they collected themselves and shown the "fight" as in the latter games.

SPARTANS 13—DEL NORTE 0

The Spartans, although outweighed but not outclassed, fought their way to a 13-0 victory over the Del Norte Tigers. This was one of the best games played during the season; the heavy Del Norte line was torn to shreds by the tricky Spartans, and the Spartans' "Backs" ripped off long gains throughout the game. The superior charging Spartan line caused the Del Norte "backs" to fumble constantly and these fumbles resulted in two touchdowns for the Spartans.

SPARTANS 27—GUNNISON 0

Having been defeated constantly by the Cowboys, the Spartans entered this game with but one idea, and that was, to be on the long end of the score. Less than one minute after the game had started the Spartans had their first touchdown. The Cowboys were no match for the Spartans, who showed excellent ability and were an example of superior coaching. In this game occurred the only blot on the season's success; that was the injury of "Butch" Gibson, who received a broken collar bone.

SPARTANS 27—LEADVILLE 0

The Spartans journeyed to the mountain city of Leadville to feed upon the Panthers. This game was by no means a duplicate of the one played at Salida, for the Spartans ran wild, scoring at will. The Panthers showed lots of "fight" but they were no match for the Spartans. This was the third team to fall to defeat by the Spartans without scoring on them.

SPARTANS 19—HOOPER 6

When they met the aggregation from the San Luis Valley the Spartans were not the team they had been in the two preceding games. Although they won this game, they seemed to fail to have the final "punch." The Hooper team was the first to score upon the Spartans in 1926; the score came through failure to protect a pass which was intercepted.

SPARTANS 25—PUEBLO 0

Probably the greatest surprise that Pueblo Central ever received was when the final whistle blew that ended their game with the much superior Spartans. The "Wildcats" came to Salida expecting an easy game but their minds were soon changed when Coach Buck sent his fast, hard charging, never-losing Spartans out to cage them. The Wildcats were in no way equal to the unbeaten Spartans who scored against Pueblo at will.

SPARTANS 41—LAMAR 7

This game was one of the most important games in the history of the school. The title of the West-Central and the Arkansas leagues was at stake. Football critics throughout the state figured that the Spartans would win by a single touchdown. The game was very interesting; the first half ending 14 to 7 in favor of the Spartans. Coach Buck encouraged his men at the half and they seemed to gain new life. They tore the heavy Lamar team into bits, making four touchdowns in the last half. Thus they won the Arkansas league title and retained the West-Central League Championship.

SPARTANS 2—CANON CITY 7

This was the best game ever played on the local gridiron. The Spartans played a hard game and without a doubt outplayed and outfought their visitors. Canon's touchdown was made in the second quarter by a trick play. The Spartans' only score was made when Rosen, flashy Spartan guard, broke through and blocked a kick which was recovered by the Tigers, giving the Spartans two points.

SPARTANS 6—FLORENCE 0

The Spartans entered this game with nine men who were playing their last game for S. H. S. With all their old "fight" and "pep" gone, they won a slow game from Florence, at Salida, on Thanksgiving. Had they been the same peppy team as that which played the week previous, the Florence team would have received a considerably worse defeat than 6 to 0.

"Peninsula! A long neck stretching out to see."

Shop Walker—"I know what you mean, sir. Mr. Perkes, show this gentleman a pair of rim-sporned hectacles."

The Spartans have won the West Central League Championship for the past two seasons and have lost only one game to a conference team during that time.

GRAND JUNCTION 19—SPARTANS 17

The season opened with the fast aggregation from the Western Slope; and in spite of the fact that the Spartans had been practicing but a single week, the invaders had no easy time beating them. Although the boys lost the game by a single basket, the local fans were very much pleased with the showing they made in their first game, and everyone was sure of a championship team.

CRIPPLE CREEK 6—SPARTANS 42

The team showed much improvement in this game as the score shows, 42 to 6. The Spartans were just getting into their old form and with their first conference game but two weeks off they were very busy touching up the defects of the team by playing practice games.

DEL NORTE 15—SPARTANS 26

The Spartans had an easy time defeating the San Luis Valley Champs and at no time were they in danger of defeat. In this game the team showed more "fight" and speed than it had shown in their previous encounters. Their passing and accuracy in shooting baskets showed marked improvement.

LEADVILLE 21—SPARTANS 12

The Spartans journeyed to the mountain city and were defeated; this being the first defeat they had encountered from a conference team in two years. Our boys played a hard, fast game but were handicapped by the extremely low ceiling in the Gym where they were playing. They were not discouraged over this defeat but came home with the one idea in mind, to avenge this defeat by winning the League Championship.

BUENA VISTA 7—SPARTANS 19

Our team easily defeated the Buena Vista team at Salida. The Buena boys were no match for the fast breaking Spartans, and during the whole game they made but one field goal and the rest of their scores were made through fouls.

WESTCLIFFE 14—SPARTANS 15

The fastest conference game of the year was played at Salida with the Westcliffe quintet. At no time was either team assured of victory. The score see-sawed back and forth all through the game, both teams fighting to win because the championship really was to be decided between these two teams. When the final gun sounded the Spartans were the victors by a single point.

BRECKENRIDGE 6—SPARTANS 43

The Spartans had no difficulty in defeating this mountain-city quintet, which was no doubt a good team but had no chance with the fast team of Salida High.

DEL NORTE 20—SPARTANS 22

The team went to Del Norte on February 11th and although they had beaten the Tigers once earlier in the season they knew that they would have no cinch on this game if they did not put everything they had into it. The game was exciting from the start to finish and the Spartans as usual came out on the long end of the score.

CENTER 19—SPARTANS 16

Salida engaged a game with the large consolidated school at Center when they toured the San Luis Valley. The Spartans fought hard and the score was doubtful until the final gun. They were defeated only after a hard battle.

WESTCLIFFE 10—SPARTANS 14

The Spartans cinched the West-Central League Championship by defeating the Westcliffe team on their own floor. This game was not a duplicate of the former game played with this quintet, as our team was at no time in danger.

LEADVILLE 14—SPARTANS 26

The Spartans had no trouble defeating the team that had defeated them earlier in the season. They were in fine form when they played this game and had it cinched from the first gun.

GUNNISON 17—SPARTANS 19

It seemed that our boys could not get started in this game and at the end of the first half the score was 16 to 9 in favor of the Cowboys. The game looked bad for us, but after the "rest period" the boys seemed to get new life, and Gunnison did not have a chance after that. The Cowboys scored one free throw in the last half and the Spartans netted 10 points.

FLORENCE 14—SPARTANS 26

The Huskies were defeated by the Spartans in their last home game. The Huskies were clearly no match for the fast Salida team, which out-passed, out-played, and out-fought the visitors.

BUENA VISTA 8—SPARTANS 26

The Spartans had no trouble in defeating the Buena Vista quintet for the second time this season. The game was in favor of the Salida boys from the first whistle and they were at no time in danger of defeat from their visitors. The Buena team played hard, but it was easily seen that they were no real match for the Spartans.

The Spartans went through a most successful basketball season in that they lost only the one conference game. They lost to Leadville in the beginning of the season and then in their next meeting they easily defeated the Panthers. The Spartans not only won the conference honors but also proved to the state that Salida could boast of a team that would merit recognition from any part of the state.

STATE MEET—FT. LEWIS 17—SPARTANS 19

The Spartans were just a trifle nervous when they went on the floor to face the best team from the San Juan Basin and at the end of the first half they were on the short end of the score, but in the next period they seemed to shun the crowd and play the brand of basketball that won for them the right to enter in the state meet; and in the next half they eliminated the Ft. Lewis quintet.

STATE MEET—STERLING 17—SPARTANS 23

Our team next faced a task to test their ability; that was to beat the strong Sterling team. Sterling was the winner of the tri-state meet held in Nebraska and they were also doped to be strong contenders for state honors. Salida took the lead from the first and they were never in danger, as they were playing their best brand of basket-ball. This victory advanced the Spartans up to the semi-finals.

STATE MEET—NORTH DENVER 32—SPARTANS 11

The North Denver team eliminated the Spartans in the semi-finals which included three teams: Salida, Colorado Springs, and North Denver. Although the boys lost this game, they were considered one of the best teams that was entered in the meet.

Grocer—"Ivory, I guess."

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The interest in girls' athletics, which has been hampered by the lack of funds, is rapidly increasing, and next year Miss Dean hopes to have an organization well worth the time of any high school girl.

A Girls' Athletic Association has been formed and a point system is being worked out, for which letters will be awarded. The points will be counted for gymnasium and all kinds of sports, such as hiking, tennis, baseball, basketball, and track.

At the first meeting Geneva Woodward was elected president, and Fern Alexander, secretary. Next year this organization is planning to join the Colorado League of High School Girls' Athletic Association. Come out, girls, and help us build up our association and girls' athletics!

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

On March 11, the Girls' Interclass Basketball games started. The first game was between the Freshmen and Sophomores. The final score was 17-31 in favor of the Sophomores.

The line-up on both teams was as follows:

FRESHMEN	SOPHOMORES
C. Pearl Lytle	C. Isabelle McCall
L. G. Lucile Light	K. G. Lorena Massard
R. C. Ruth DeGrazio	L. F. Eva Rogers
L. F. Eulalia Millard	R. F. Blanche Mundlein
R. F. Sarah Kerrick	R. C. Sarah Mazzulla
L. F. Lena Rout	L. G. Carolena Post
R. G. Ruth Harris

March 18, the second game took place between the Seniors and Juniors, in which Margaret Davie sustained a badly sprained ankle. The final score of this game was 20-24 in favor of the Juniors.

The line-up on the two teams was as follows:

JUNIORS	SENIORS
R. F. Geneva Woodward	C. Alice Davie
C. Elvina Stancato	R. C. Ophelia Patterson
C. Mildred Green	L. G. Lela Starbuck
L. F. Martha Curfman	R. G. Margaret Davie
R. C. Ethel Hyatt	L. G. Kathryn Cullinan
R. G. June Maine	L. G. Rosena Post
L. G. Buena Long	R. F. Gertrude Strayer

BOYS' INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL

After the return of the Spartans from their successful engagements at Fort Collins, it was suggested that we play some inter-class basketball. The teams were picked and the following schedule was arranged:

First night—Seniors vs. Frosh, Sophs vs. Juniors.

It was also arranged that the winners of each game play for the championship and the losers play for third place. The Seniors had no difficulty in defeating the Frosh, and the Juniors defeated the Sophs.

Second night—Seniors vs. Juniors, Frosh vs. Sophs.

The Seniors easily defeated the Juniors for the inter-class title, and the Sophomores finally emerged from their affray with the Frosh on the long end of the score.

March 25, the Championship Game was played between the Sophomores and Juniors. The Sophomores showed very plainly that they were the best all-around team and when the final whistle was blown the score was 39-23. The line-up on both teams was the same as in former games.

ATHLETICS IN THE SALIDA HIGH SCHOOL

Athletics have come to mean the intensive training of a small group of individuals; a team, to compete against a small group of trained individuals from another school AND WIN.

There are over three hundred boys and girls in Salida High School, and each year more than two thousand dollars is spent in training less than fifty of the boys to win championships. The remainder of this large group is on the sidelines, or is supposed to be, urging the teams to victory. This display of ability and loyalty is a fine thing and has a high training value; but does it represent the greatest value to the greatest number? Would they not be better developed physically, better able to co-ordinate mind and muscle, carry on team-work, and think clearly and quickly while in action, if they, too, had the chance to participate in athletics?

Specialization has meant elimination. Generalization would mean larger participation. Which do we want?

E. G., '27.

THE BENEFIT OF ATHLETICS

If you were asked when you finished school, "What do you remember from your high school days?" Undoubtedly "Athletics"—if you have ever been a participant—will be the one answer. Why? Because it was such fun and because it gave you training in sportsmanship and fair play—two prominent and valuable ethical and social "lessons" which, perhaps, you would never have gained so thoroughly in any other way. In addition, an athlete learns how to cooperate, how to put forth his best effort, how to play team-work, how to "size up a situation and act quickly," and the value of consistent and conscientious practice. These are important things to cultivate in athletics and hold in any line of work you choose to follow.

If you have an inclination to take part in athletics and in this way represent your high school, come out next year. We need you!

Dr. Wilson—"Will you take gas?"
Walt Woods—"Yeh! Better look at the oil too."

Miss Halverson—"It doesn't take much intelligence to tell when a pupil copies. I can tell every time."

Prof. Tanton—"Allow me, before I close, to repeat the words of the famous Webster."

Skip—"Gosh, he's going to start in on the dictionary."

Bug Pat—"I can do something better than anyone else in the whole world."

G. L. S.—"Hump! What is it?"
Bug—"Read my own shorthand notes."

Miss Rogers—"Had the Indians any distinct social groups?"
Texas—"Sure; haven't you heard of those Indian Clubs?"

Jimmy H.—"This government report states that the life of a paper dollar is only seven or eight months."

Bill W.—"Well, I have never had one die on my hands."

GRIDIRON OF THE S. H. S.

You want Grandpa to tell you a story, Bill?
Which one do you like best?
Well, I will tell you the story
Of the Spartans of S. H. S.

There's a new team out on the gridiron now.
There's a new coach there, too, Bill;
But whenever I close my eyes to rest
The old team is playing still.

They've been gone from the gridiron a long time now.
There's a new bunch to carry the gleam;
But the path through fairness to victory
Was made by the first Spartan team.

They played the game both fair and square;
Like their namesakes they learned to fight;
And as they played on the football field
They played as they went through life.

Sometime you may play on the team, Bill.
Sometime you may break through a line
With the spirit of the first Spartans close beside,
Cheering you all the time.

Play the game as fair and as square, my boy,
As the Spartans have learned to do.
Though there'll be a new coach on the field, then,
I'll swear that Coach Buck is there, too.

You will often hear tell of great men, Bill,
Of the short and the fat, and the tall;
But of all the men that I've ever known,
Coach Buck stands out from them all.

A man in a thousand was he, Billy.
A prince was he among men.
He taught the boys more than football,
That was never forgotten by them.

So down the long generations
The children, the women, and men,
Will hear of the fame of the Spartans.
Will tell and retell it again.

Though there will be new boys on the gridiron,
Though the old Spartan team is at rest,
They will always live in the hearts of all
On the gridiron of S. H. S.

BASEBALL

Faculty vs. Seniors

The Seniors accepted the challenge issued by the members of the Faculty to play a game of Armory ball. The date was set for Tuesday, April 12, but the Faculty considered the matter and asked for one night of practice before the crucial game. So the game was called for 3:36, Wednesday evening, on the local diamond.

Before the two teams came out on the field there were loud cheers both for the Faculty and for the Seniors—of course, more for the Faculty because final exams were near at hand.

The Seniors won the toss and decided to take their first bat. We're sorry to say the Seniors did not do so well the first eight innings and the score was 8 to 5 in favor of the Faculty. In the last inning the score was tied and another inning resulted in seven runs for the Seniors, making the final score 15 to 8 in favor of the SENIORS!

COPY OF LETTER SENT TO AMERICAN LEGION

Salida, Colorado,
April 19th, 1927.

The Members of the American Legion,
Salida, Colorado.

Gentlemen:

We, the members of the Salida High School Football Team and Coach Buck, wish to extend to you our appreciation of your kindness in presenting us the football sweaters.

As many of the men leave us this spring, they will have something they can look back upon; they will remember this eventful year and—that organization of boosters, the American Legion.

With such cooperation as was shown by the various organizations, especially the American Legion, we are sure there will be an even higher standard of athletics in S. H. S. and again a keener relation between the school and the community.

Thanking you once more, we remain,

Sincerely yours,
Signed by Coach Buck and The Football Team.

—S. H. S.—

Prof. Tanton (to Elmer and Bert matching pennies)—“We don't allow any games of chance here.”

Elmer—“This isn't that sort of game. Bert hasn't a chance.”

Miss Mosgrove—“What are my chances?”

Dr. Schaffer—“Oh, pretty good. But don't start reading any continued stories.”

Edith T.—“What's that thing on your neck?”

Fred Neff—“That's a freckle.”

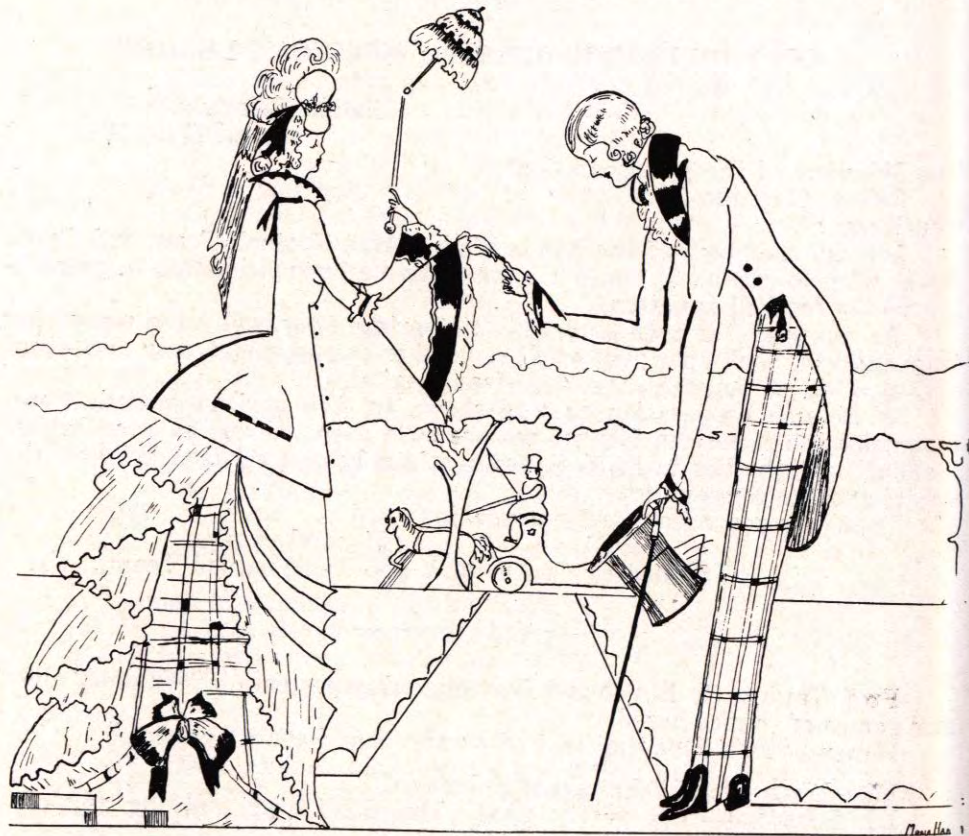

Edith—“Funny; it's the first time I ever saw a freckle walk.”

Jack O'Connell—“Can you help me with this problem?”

Mr. Bakke—“I could, but do you think it would be right?”

Jack—“I don't suppose it would, but take a shot at it, anyway.”

ACTIVITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS

LOCAL DECLAMATORY CONTEST

The local Declamatory Contest held on March 15th and 18th, 1927, was said by many to have been the best ever held in Salida.

In the Humorous division, Pauline Winters and Rosena Post tied for third place. Rosena did fine work in "Chums", but she was criticized for not getting Jimmy successfully out of the chicken house without breaking all the eggs concealed in his blouse. Pauline Winters did equally as well as Rosena, but we shall never forgive her friends for not prompting the poor little girl who recited the poem in the selection. Alice Kasling's interpretation, "An Afternoon at the Chatauqua" was the most difficult in the whole division. There were four altogether different characters to be impersonated, but in spite of this difficulty she put her selection across, much to the delight of the audience, and won second place. Alice's motto is "A Rolling Stone is Worth Two in a Bush". "Rufus Johnson Comes to Town" or "A Good Yoke on Rufus Yohnson" was given in dialect, and this selection which was delivered exceptionally well by Lyle Light won first place. Those who heard him will agree that Lyle was very deserving of that honor. We hope that Lyle still isn't "Yust so mad as he never vas!". Courtney Meachem's "Gardendale Burglar Cure" was splendidly delivered in spite of the fact that he let the burglar go; however, we are sure the "King of Burglars" was cured. The "little kid" that had a "pony with long ears that used to play football with him" was Frederick Merten in the selection "Billy's Pets". James Lewis acquitted himself well when "In the Toils of the Eenemy"; but he was entirely too enthusiastic at the boat race, in the role of Charlie's Aunt, for his own good. In Isabell McCall's "Polly's Tea Party" she truly impersonated Polly and we'll all agree that Aunt Tabitha should have fastened her wig on more tightly when the love-stricken minister called to see her.

In the Oratorical division unusual credit must be given Jack O'Connell, the winner, because of the extremely keen competition. Jack's selection, "Toussaint L'Overature," a famous oration, was very well done indeed. Both Levin Charles with "John Marshall and the Constitution" and Donald Madden with "Abraham Lincoln," deserve special mention and much credit. Hugh Ahern, a Sophomore, who gave "The Responsibility of a Nation," stood his own very well against the three Seniors.

Betty Rubin took first place in the Dramatic division with "The Jewel". This highly dramatic selection was executed exceptionally well. Margaret Underwood was Betty's opponent with the piece "The Man in the Shadow". Her interpretation made one well appreciate the Carter Clews.

COME TO SALIDA

If you are looking for a home,
Or are cramped for want of room;
If you want a place to boom,
Come to Salida.

If your health is rather poor,
Or your wealth you would insure;
If the world you can't endure,
Come to Salida.

If your school is somewhat lacking,
Or you are in need of backing,
And your suitcase you are packing,
Come to Salida.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Salida High School chapter of the National Honor Society received into membership this year Alice Kasling, Alice Davie, Gertrude Strayer, Carter Hutchinson, and Levin Charles, of the Senior class; and Geneva Woodward, Martha Curfman, and Mildred Green, of the Junior class. Lawrence Wilsey, who had been given membership the previous year, was made president for the year 1926-27.

The organization has for its purpose the rewarding of the virtues of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. To be eligible for membership a student must be either a Junior or Senior, and must be in the upper one-fourth of his class scholastically. The faculty selects those pupils that they believe most excel their fellows in these qualities. Mr. Barrett, an alumnus of the society, was sponsor for the group.

DISTRICT SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

Salida won the cup by winning highest honors in the first district scholarship contest. Eight schools participated in this event. Geneva Woodward won highest individual honors, scoring first place in American History and Chemistry. Martha Curfman won the second highest individual honors coming second in Chemistry and History. Miss Curfman and Miss Woodward tied for first place in Chemistry; but when the coin was flipped Geneva won first and Martha second.

The other results were as follows:

Jack O'Connell—Third in General Information.
Ruth Avery—Second in Geometry.
Edith Wood—Third in General Science.
Marvel Stanley—Tied for second in Algebra.
Karl Waggener—Tied for third in Algebra.
Laurena Massard—Tied with three others for third in Geometry.

Rosen—"I hear Francy has adopted the drug store cowboy's motto."

Billie B.—"Howzat?"

Rosen—"Five year's a cowboy and never missed a calf."

Butch—"How's that banana-split?"

Eva—"With a knife."

Strange boy to A. K.—"Where have I seen your face before?"

A. K.—"Right where it is now."

Deak—"I must go on, old top. I can't go to that party now."

Gibby—"Why not?"

Deak—" 'Tis the hand of fate. I have burned my britches behind me."

Lady—"Why does a white boy apply for the position when I plainly advertised for a colored chauffeur?"

Thomas H.—"I thought I might do, Lady. I'm very green."

Mr. Barrett, giving a lecture on the rhinoceros, found his class not giving him as much attention as it should.

"Now, class," he said, "if you want to realize a truly hideous picture of this animal you must keep your eyes fixed on me."

The Mask and Wig Society, a High School Dramatic Club, was organized the last of November with twenty-one members. An initiation of new members was held at the home of Isabell McCall soon after the club was organized.

This Society meets every two weeks and gives a short program consisting of reading, music and plays. On January 25, the club presented a one-act play, "The Burglar", before the Scenic Line Club. On the night of December 20th they entertained at a Christmas party given at the Women's Club House.

Three plays, "Cooks and Cardinals", "Our Mary", and "A Box of Monkeys", were given before the public, April 29th. The proceeds will be used for furnishings for the stage in the auditorium.

The Club is planning a classical play to be presented the last of May. A great deal of credit is due Miss Dean for her good work and help in making the club such a success.

THE SPARTANS

"The town's out to see some football,"
The Coach with us did plead.
"The thing, now, that won't do at all,
Is to give Hooper the lead."

The room was silent as a tomb.
His words were well put there.
"Play real football; then there's no room
For cheating. Do play fair!"

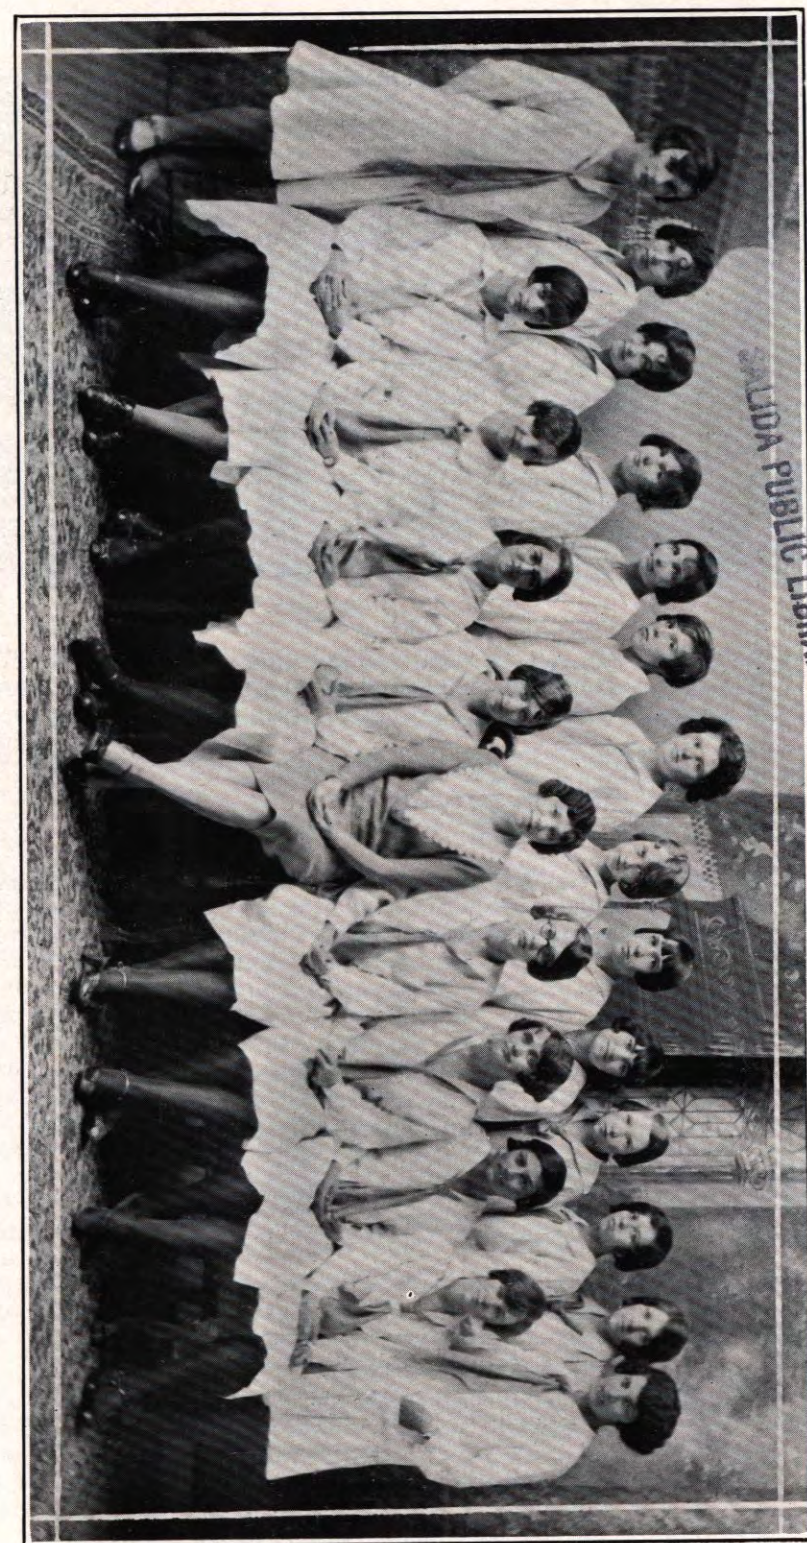

First half passed by and all went well,
But Coach was ill at ease.
"Will six to nothing make you swell?
Last half brought great anxiety
Three touchdowns, Spartans, please."

"I guess we've won the day.
The score stood six to six.
"It woke 'em up," said Coach with glee.
And then began our tricks.

I said to my fellow benchmate,
With two more hard earned touchdowns,
And four minutes yet to play."

And so in life we play a game.
There are hardships and fun;
For some content, for others fame—
Hurrah! the Spartans won!

"BLUES"

What's the use of feeling blue?
Nature's happy-like and true.
Help the world to be cheerful,
And 'twill do the same for you.
When you feel you have the blues,
Find a happy theme to choose.
Don't give up when you're failing,
For some one must surely lose.
Strive the highest to attain;
Never stop 'till that you gain;
Never sympathize with trouble;
Do not stop and say, "in vain."

Blue is all right in the sky,
All right in a maiden's eye;
But don't get it in your system,
For 'twill kill you by and by.

BETA PHI

The Beta Phi Literary Club was organized in the years 1923-1924, by a number of Junior and Senior girls with the help of Miss Mosgrove. Its object was to develop any literary, musical, and artistic talent among the high school girls.

The organizers wrote to a number of schools in Colorado with other states, which had similar societies and obtained their constitutions. From these the Beta Phi incorporated the best points and wove them into their constitution.

The following girls were charter members: Lavina Dickman, Margaret Merton, Mildred Coleman, Doris Davidson and Elaine Miller.

At the close of the year 1926 officers were elected for the coming year: Frances O'Brien was re-elected president; Alice Kasling, vice-president; Alice Davie, secretary; Mona Hanks, treasurer, and Mildred Green, sergeant-at-arms.

Many new members were solicited into the club during the years 1926-1927. During the first semester the Beta Phi entertained the assembly with a one-act play entitled "Fourteen". The characters were: Mrs. Pringle, society lady, Frances O'Brien; Elaine Pringle, her daughter, Mona Hanks, and Dunham the maid, Geneva Woodward.

New officers were elected at the beginning of the second semester: Frances O'Brien was re-elected president; Alice Kasling, vice-president; Alice Davie, secretary; Mona Hanks, treasurer, and Mildred Green, sergeant-at-arms.

Up to the time the Annual went to press, no programs were given during the last semester.

The Girl Reserves of 1926 and 1927 have experienced one of the most successful years. They have a membership of over one hundred girls. Money was raised by the regular dues and by candy and sandwich sales held at football games. The motion pictures sponsored by the club were not a financial success; however, there was money for a G. R. picnic at Poncha last September, for many Christmas baskets distributed in Salida, and for a most enjoyable Valentine party.

Six delegates and the chaperone, Mrs. Bates, attended the Girl Reserve Convention in Denver last winter.

Five girls are working for the Girl Reserve ring, which is the highest honor a Girl Reserve can win. It represents development of the intellectual, the physical, and the spiritual. The girl who wears this ring has not attained perfection, but is making steady growth toward the three fold ideals of the organization. The programs for this year have been more varied and pleasing. There have been discussions, stories, health talks, plays, and musical diversities. The club has appreciated the interest and help of a number of local ladies. They have done much to make the year pleasant and successful.

Prize Stories

"BURGLARS"

On the north side of a town in New Jersey there lived a Jew. Business had not been very good and he had to find some other way to live, or starve to death. In the front of his store hung a sign, "Cohen's Best"; this brought no customers so he decided to go into the "burglar business".

In another part of town an Irishman, Pat O'Malley by name, because of bad luck, had also decided to go into the "burglar business".

On the avenue there was a very beautiful home which was used only one season a year and was vacant now. By chance both men decided upon this same house. About two o'clock in the morning Ikey took his tools and entered a window on the left side of the house, while Pat went around to the right side and climbed up a drain pipe, entering by the upper story window.

Ikey walked calmly over to the buffet, and started to pry open the lock on the silver drawer. He had just succeeded in opening the drawer, when he heard footsteps upstairs and, thinking it was the owner of the house, he made a rush for the window and struck a chair. Seeing the only means of escape, a dumb waiter, he jumped down this and lit with a bump in the cellar.

Upstairs, Pat hearing the noise of the chair below, jumped into a hole in the wall, which also turned out to be a dumb waiter, and lit on the cellar floor with Ikey, only much harder. Ikey thought Pat was his enemy, so they fought until exhausted. Both exclaimed in one voice, "I surrender". Then Ikey shouted, "You don't mean you are a burglar, too?" And Pat replied, "Yes, oim after being a burglar." "Then, said Ikey, "we must be twins."

The next day a paper read, "Ten Thousand Dollar Loot Taken From Jones' Home on Avenue". Also on the same day a sign appeared in front of Ikey's store, "Cohen & O'Malley".

"POKY'S NARROW ESCAPE"

Poky, or Claude Murphy, was living up to his reputation by poking up the back steps of an old, hopeless looking tenement house. Black Pete, better known to the police as "The Beetle", had told him that he was going to pull a stunt that would bring Poky a lot of money and blow the high-hats off the congressmen. Old Poky didn't like the idea of plotting against the government because he knew what would happen if he was caught. He was afraid enough when he got a shock from an electric light, let alone an electric chair. But—it meant money for him.

He slowly opened the door of the top stairs and poked his head in and stood blinking at the darkness before him. Not a sound was to be heard, so he stepped in and closed the door. He had his orders from the "Beetle".

He looked through the dirty window at the clock on the Union Station tower. In just one hour his errand was to be completed. Yes, the taxi was waiting below. He looked to the floor. Three lunch-sacks had been put there, one of which held the fatal bomb that was to blow the high-hats off the congressmen. "The Beetle" was to take the other two sacks with him in case they were chased by government detectives. Poky, remembering that the bomb would explode in an hour, decided not to wait another minute; he grabbed the one sack set aside from the other two and hurried nervously to the taxi, got inside, and started for the White House.

The taxi seemed to crawl along. Poky more than once poked his head out the door and yelled all kinds of murderous things at the driver, who seemed not to pay any attention to him. At last they came in sight of the White House. They were two blocks away. Now one, and then the driver stopped to let Poky out. They were just twenty minutes in making the trip and he had plenty of time.

As he walked across the park his mind was in a daze. He tried to hurry but his paralyzed limbs would hardly move. All the time he was thinking about old Joe who was electrocuted under his very eyes. It was terrible! Poky's heart was pounding hard enough to break his ribs. A man in a uniform stepped up and tapped him on the shoulder. He stopped dead still and his face looked like marble. He was rooted to the spot.

"Well, if it isn't my dear old friend in the army. Old Poky. How are you, old boy? Still handling bombs as good as you used to in France?" And with that the soldier began to laugh, for Poky was a joke in the army as well as at home. Poky was so dumb-founded that he could only answer, "Yes."

Before he could quite catch his senses the soldier was showing him around the White House. Poky moved automatically about, all the time praying that the explosion would come so sudden that he wouldn't know it. He glanced at the clock and his heart fell like so much lead on his toes. It was five minutes after two. Surely he must be dead and didn't know it.

"Why, what's the matter?" suddenly exclaimed his companion. "Still thinking about France? You look like you did the night we got a bomb raid at the old water-hole." Just then the sound of a faint boom came to Poky's ears. He knew all was lost now. He shut his eyes and tried not to feel the pain.

When he came to, some time later, he was propped up against a tree trunk with a crowd of excited congressmen and his soldier friend around him. "They must have all gone to the same place," thought Poky. "Oh, Poky, I didn't mean to scare you like that," cried his excited friend. "In fact I thought maybe you had forgotten about it by this time. That bomb wasn't over in France. It was just on the east side. Some guy tried to play with some stuff and got blown nearly to heaven with it."

And it took Poky some time to get it into his head that he really had taken the wrong bundle.

TRAGEDY

Alone in the snow,
Showing where foe
Has roamed,
Lies a feather.

Who would rather
Have cat
Than a glorious bird
Who has lured
The beast?

He sang in the dawn
O'er the dew sprinkled lawn
In summer;
Now he is dead;
His doom was read
By cat.

ANNUAL TRIANGULAR CONTEST

The Annual Triangular contest was held in Canon City, on April 29, 1927. There were more contestants and more interest was shown in the preliminary contest this year than ever before.

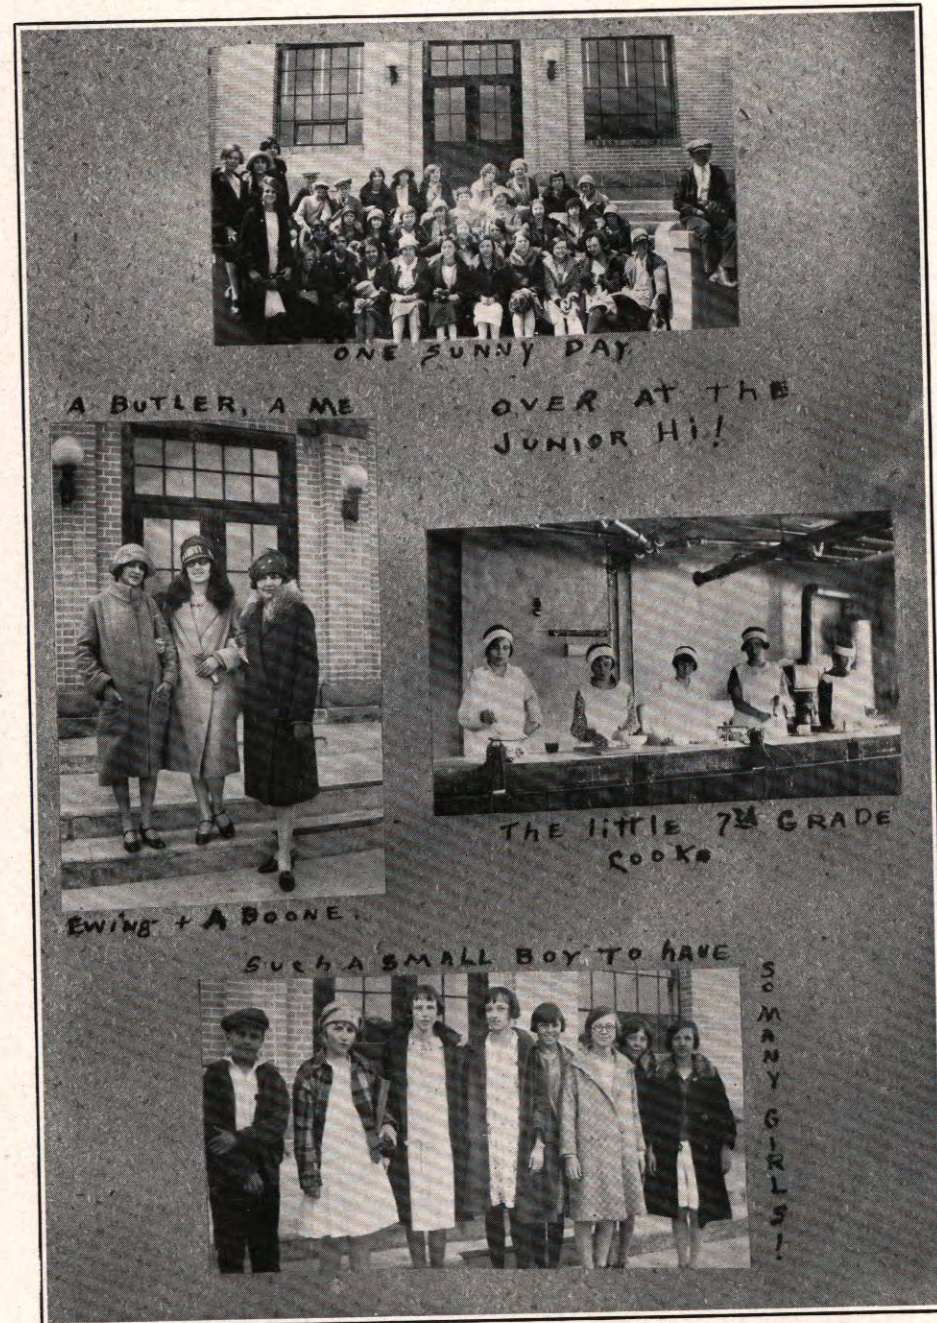

Salida felt she had a better all-around team than in previous years. The team consisted of Jack O'Connell, oratorical; Betty Rubin, dramatic, and Lyle Light, humorous.

Edwin Porch of Canon City won first in the oratorical section with the selection, "The Constitution of the United States." Jack O'Connell was a close second with "Touissant L'Overature." Canon City also took first place in the dramatic division, the hard earned victory being won by Miss Lillian Turner with "Tess of the Storm Country." Betty Rubin, according to many, showed the greater ability and stage presence, but her enunciation was a trifle faulty as she was not accustomed to speaking in a large auditorium. John Carter of Canon City won with the same selection that had brought him victory the previous year. He had an advantage over Lyle Light in that he made use of stage properties instead of imaginary objects, as is the rule in platform contests. We do not know whether the judges were unanimous in their decision for John Carter, but in any case it must have been a difficult task, as both were equal in stage presence, interpretation, voice, and gesture.

Florence came third in each division, but was by no means a slow third.

Miss Fisher, who coached Lyle Light and Jack O'Connell, deserves the gratitude and appreciation of the school for her remarkable patience and diligence. Mrs. Rubin, for the splendid coaching she gave Betty, also deserves our thanks.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET—1926

The Junior class of 1927 entertained the Seniors of 1926 and the faculty at a lovely banquet and dance given at 6 o'clock at the Elks home, May 22, 1926.

The table decorations were wild sweet peas and yellow chrysanthemums—the favors also being in yellow. A delicious menu was served, and between courses the following program was given:

Toast of Welcome	- - - -	Fred Coupland
Response	- - - -	Roy Harris
Solo	- - - -	Alren Morris
Loyalty	- - - -	Mr. Tanton
Senior Rimes	- - - -	Rita Lewis
Friendship	- - - -	Gertrude Strayer
Violin Solo	- - - -	Frances O'Brien
Reading	- - - -	Urcel Sharpe
Parting Words	- - - -	Mr. Hightower

Edward Grout acted as toastmaster and told many funny jokes during the course of the banquet.

The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing, and at 12 o'clock the revelers took leave of one another.

Everyone had a splendid time and the Seniors of 1927 are eagerly looking forward to another banquet of this kind to be given May 21, by the Junior class of 1928.

P. E. O. MUSICAL

Perhaps in no other year of the history of Salida High School have so many local clubs and townspeople honored and entertained various groups of the high school. The Senior class has come in for a full share of entertainment, especially when on Wednesday evening, January 19, 1927, the P. E. O. chapter gave a musical honoring the Senior girls.

After a splendid program of four and eight hand selections by Mrs. Woody, Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Reeves, and Miss Ritter, Mrs. Larimer explained the "girls' loan fund."

Yellow and white, the colors of the club, were very cleverly carried out in the refreshments in the form of yellow ice cream roses, and angel food cake.

Dancing was enjoyed by the girls until a late hour.

DRAMATIC CLUB PARTY

On December 14, 1926, the Dramatic Club held a Christmas party at the Woman's Club house.

A beautifully decorated tree added much attractiveness to the room. The following short program was given:

Piano Duet	- - - -	Buelah Binns and Lillian Merritt
Piano Solo	- - - -	Emma Sneddon
Reading	- - - -	James Lewis
Vocal Duet	- - - -	Dorothy and Bernice Alway
Piano Solo	- - - -	Mabel Hulse

After delicious refreshments were served, dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

THE FIRST ANNUAL FATHER AND SON BANQUET

(Sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association)

The fathers of Salida and their sons met in the Rainbow Hotel, Tuesday evening, November 9th, for a banquet and a social good time together. There were speeches, songs, and toasts, followed by a short athletic program. Dr. Don Tippet of Gunnison gave the principal address of the evening. It was an evening of fun and inspiration for the fathers and their boys.

Invitations were sent to the fathers, and if they were unable to attend their sons were "adopted" by other men, so that every boy in the community would be able to attend the affair.

The mothers of the P. T. A. prepared the dinner, and any funds that were left over after the expenses were paid went to the High School athletic fund.

This banquet was such a success that the P. T. A. plan to make it an annual affair.

AN OYSTER SUPPER FOR THE FOOTBALL SQUAD

On a Tuesday evening, December 14, 1926, eighteen boys and one man wandered into the Taliferro and Mueller Cafe, and with much noise and commotion seated themselves wherever the chance offered.

As soon as the waitresses brought the crackers and water the fight was on; and before the oysters arrived there were crackers all over the place. When the oysters actually did arrive those who had "oyster stomachs" pitched in and cleaned up the bowl; but those who had "backward stomachs" gazed at the oysters a while, grabbed one in a spoon, swallowed it whole and crammed in crackers to follow.

Those who didn't care for the oysters tried to slip some to their neighbor, but for the most part this didn't work, so the unfortunate took his oysters back and again tried to swallow them whole.

Carter Hutchinson, who had an anti-oyster stomach, was the only first team man not there. All in all, those of oyster stomachs and otherwise had a wonderful time. At nine o'clock yells were given for everyone concerned in helping give the supper, and the squad departed as they had come, yelling and singing.

THE SENIOR

Eleven years are gone;
The twelfth is passing fast.
The Seniors' years are numbered,
For the twelfth one is the last.

And now when we remember
Something that happened here,
It somehow brings us nearer,
And our memory seems more clear.

A few years in the grades,
In high school just a day;
And then when school is o'er,
We start upon life's way.

And now our "Alma Mater"
We say goodbye to you
As we leave the old school
And enter in the new.

THE FRESHMEN PARTY

The Freshmen had a merry time at their yearly party. It was a Christmas frolic party and all the good cheer and jollity that always prevails at Christmas time seemed crowded into one short evening's fun.

First of all there was a play entitled, "The Doll Shop." It was a little fantasy and one could scarcely believe that the charming dolls were mere Freshmen.

Baby pictures of the Freshies and teachers were then thrown on the screen. These were amusing, and even funnier than the pictures were the blushes and giggles when each picture was shown, for this stunt had been kept a secret and was a rather amazing surprise.

After the party the students exchanged presents at the gym, where there was a jolly Santa Claus and a Christmas tree. They played several games and found that even Freshmen are not too old to enjoy a game now and then.

Back in the high school, the boys and girls enjoyed a lunch, delicious, and very daintily decorated in red and green. Amid laughter and merry shouts the party broke up.

THE GIRL RESERVE PARTY

Every year the Girl Reserves have a big party, and besides having a good time they try to include something educational also. So this year, on February 19th, 1927, about ninety "boys" and girls, dressed in becoming costumes, assembled to pay proper tribute to St. Valentine.

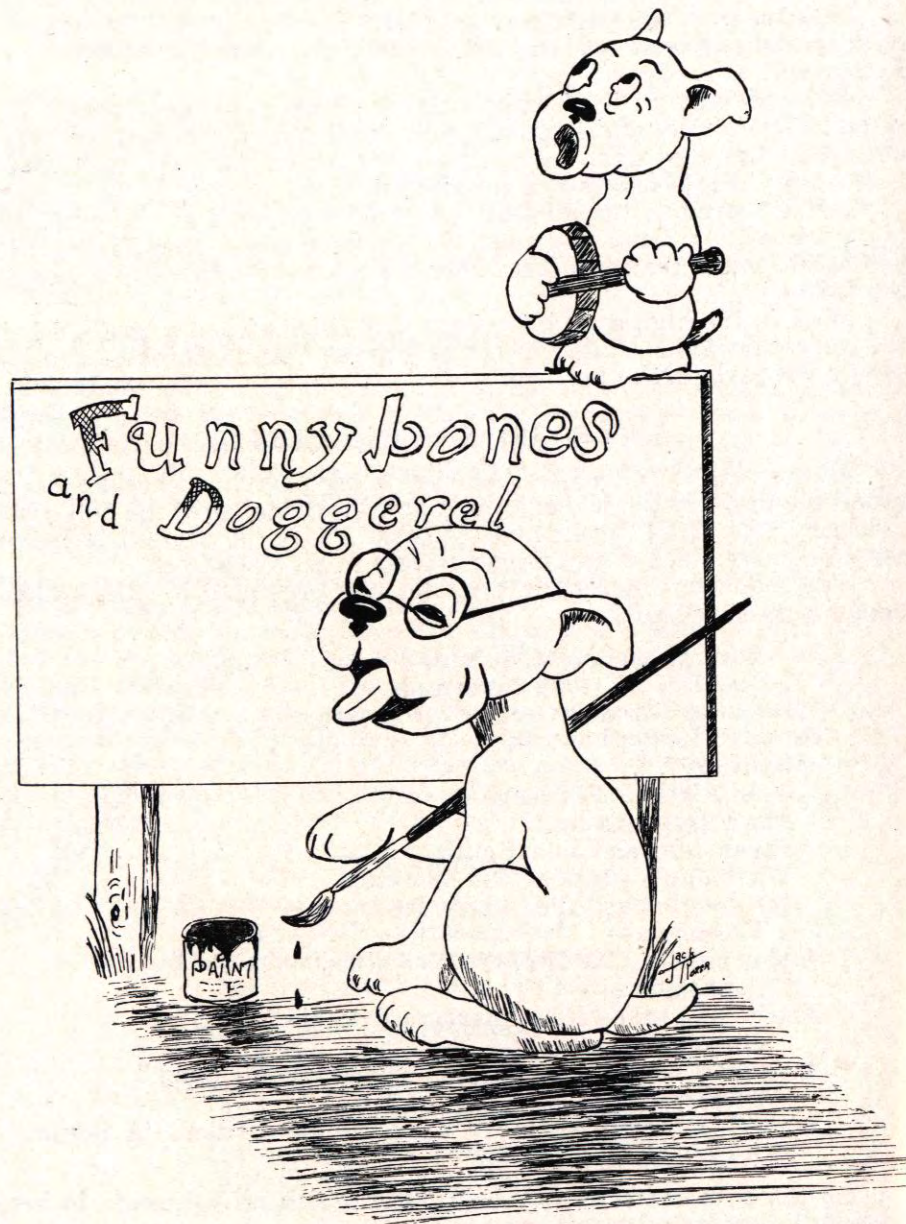

The following interesting program was presented by the Junior and Senior high school girls:

- Seventh and eighth grades—
"Yankee Doodle" sung backwards.
"Marching Through Georgia" (topsy turvy).
Series of Living Pictures:
Spirit of '76.
John Alden and Priscilla.
The Pilgrim Exiles.
Pocahontas and John Smith.
Washington Crossing the Delaware.
Washington and the Cherry Tree.
Freshmen—
A play entitled, "A Mother's Valentine."
Sophomores—
Acted out a take-off on "Barbara Fricchie."
Juniors—
A touring race, and parody on "The Prisoner's Song."
Seniors—
Sang G. R. songs and gave a pantomime entitled, "A Scene in a Chinese Restaurant."

At the gym contests were held, after which refreshments in keeping with St. Valentine's day were served.

Leah—"What about the monkey?"

Virginia—"Why, that's you, dear."

Laura B.—"When I was at the dressmaker's today a horrid little old mouse ran up my sleeve."

Leonard S.—"That's nothing. While I was at my tailor's yesterday a sewing machine ran down my pants."

Eleanor R.—"I spent about ten hours on my history last night."

Mildred J.—"Really."

Eleanor—"Yes, I put it under my pillow when I went to bed."

Miss Boone—"How near were you to the right answer?"

Hugh B.—"Two seats away."

Louvay B.—"Why, father! How nice you look in your new suit."

Mr. B.—"You're too late, daughter; your mother beat you to it, and took all the change I had."

Jean—"You boys are all alike."

Jack—"Then why do you girls all want three or four?"

Jimmy H.—"If you were walking along a dark road at night alone, how would you protect yourself?"

Melville K.—"I'd whistle 'Hail, Hail! the Gang's All Here!'"

Father Nelson—"Don't you want me to tell you all about heaven?"

Richard Kemble—"Naw! I want it to be a surprise."

Everett—"Is this wrong: 'I have et'?"

Elwin B.—"Yes."

Everett—"What's wrong with it?"

Bush—"You ain't et yet."

Miss Mosgrove—"Rosena, you musn't say, 'I ain't goin'. You must say 'I am not going', 'He is not going', 'We are not going', 'They are not going'."

Rosena—"Ain't nobody goin'?"

Miss Fisher—"What do you mean 'Bond salesmen were looked upon askance in Caesar's day'?"

Doug M.—"Didn't Brutus say—'Who is here so base that would be bondsman?'"

Senior: "You'd better keep your eyes open tomorrow."

Frosh: "Why?"

Senior: "Because, little one, you can't see with them shut."

One of the Junior Hi boys handed in the following in an examination-paper on United States History:

"General Braddock was killed in the Revolutionary War. He had three horses shot under him, and a fourth went through his clothes."

On the last day of school prizes were distributed. When one boy returned home, his mother was entertaining callers.

"Well, my boy," said one of the callers, "Did you get a prize?"

"No," replied the boy. "but I got horrible mention."

A Policeman brought a Scotchman and a Jew into court with the charge that they were drunk. The judge doubted it and asked the policeman why he thought they were drunk. "Well," replied the policeman, "the Scotchman was throwing pennies out into the street, and the Jew was picking them up and bringing them back to him." They both got thirty days.

Did you ever hear about the Scotchman who fried his bacon in Lux to keep it from shrinking?

Another one! A Scotchman was asked where he got married and he answered, "Out in the backyard." When asked the reason he replied, "Well, because when the people threw the rice at us it would na' be wasted. The chickens could eat it up."

Prof. Tanton—"For what reasons?"

Miss Wilcox—"For any reason."

Clarence—"What time does the two o'clock train go?"

Hughie—"At two o'clock; any fool knows that."

Clarence—"I thought so; that's why I asked you."

JEST CHECKIN' UP

One day a little colored boy went into a drug store and asked to use the telephone. The druggist said, "Certainly, you may use it." So the little colored boy looked up the number of Smith's Garage and when Mr. Smith answered the phone, the little colored boy asked, "Mr. Smith, do you all need a little niga boy to grind that gas pump of yours?"

Mr. Smith replied, "No, I just hired a little colored boy the other day." And then the little niger boy said, "Does you all intend to fire that little niga boy very soon, so I can have de job?" Mr. Smith again replied "No, he is doing very good work," and hung up.

The little colored boy turned to go out and the druggist stopped him and said, "You are just the boy I am looking for to carry ice cream and candy and drugs to the different houses for me." The little niger boy looked at him and indignantly replied, "I's not looking for a job, boss cause I's de little niga boy that Mr. Smith hired to grind that gas pump and I wuz jest checkin' up on ma self."  Caroline T.—“Oh, that’s all right. I walk on them all the time, anyway.”
 Lorney—“Did you hear that noise?”
 Billie—“What noise?”
 Lorney—“Illinois.”
 Billie—“Ha! Ha! Wait till I pull that on Reams. Hey! Bob, come here.”
 Bobby R.—“Whatcha’ want?”
 Billie—“Hear that racket?”
 Bobby—“What racket?”
 Billie—“Illinois.”
 Gibby—(getting a shave at Miller’s)—“Hey, Harry, give me a glass of water.”
 Harry M.—“Whatsa’ matter? Got a hair in your mouth?”
 Gibby—“No! I just want to see if my neck leaks.”
 Deak says he has a girl friend who washes every day; but you ought to see her ‘neck’.
 Perchy says the difference between a flapper and a cop is that you’d better stop when a cop tells you to.
 Gertrude S.—“Do you like to play with blocks?”
 Eddie G.—“No! I’m grown up.”
 G. L. S.—“Then, why are you forever scratching your head?”
 Lawrence—“Did you ever see anything go faster than those racing automobiles?”
 Rick—“Yes. Number 1 going through Salida.”
 Senator Taylor—“You may be president of the U. S. someday.”
 Lyle Light—“May I count on your influence, sir?”
 Mr. Cooley—“What, marry him? I leave you out of my will if you do.”
 Dorothy—“Who cares. I’ll have a will of my own then.”
 Coach Buck—“Do you play football?”
 Bob G.—“Well, I worked on a team all last summer.”
 Coach—“Marvelous! What position did you have?”
 Bob—“I was the groom in a livery stable.”
 Prof. Barrett—“What is the reason for shooting stars?”
 George Cope—“Don’t know, sir. I’m not yet acquainted with the state’s game laws.”
 Johnny Gloyd—“Hey! Why are you running?”
 James Lewis—“To stop a fight.”
 Johnny—“Who’s fighting?”
 James—“Oh, just me and another Freshman.”
 He was such an expense at college that his father called him Bill.
 Hutch—“How long has Charlie worked for you?”
 Shields—“About four hours.”
 Hutch—“Four hours? Why I thought he’d been here a long time.”
 Shields—“Oh, yes, he’s been here two years.”
 “Mighty mean man I’s wukkin’ fer.”
 “Wat’s de mattah?”
 “Took de laigs off de w’eelbarruh so’s I kain’t set it down an’ rest.”

WILSON PUBLIC LIBRARY

Husband (to clerk)—“Will you show my wife a cooking range, please?”
Ed Pat.—“Pleased to, sir. What kind would you want?”
Husband—“Oh, we don't want to buy. I just want her to see what one is like!”

John Hockett—“Give me a nickel's worth of nuts, please.”
Merchant—“What kind?”
Johnny—“Oh, any kind, but don't put in too many cocoanuts with them.”

Stranger (at gate)—“Is your mother at home?”
Richard K.—“Say! Do you suppose I'm mowing this yard because the grass is long?”

Jack C.—“I haven't slept for days.”
Billy K.—“Wat's the matter, sick?”
Jack—“Naw! I sleep nights.”

Chas. G.—“Did you see that terrible fight?”
Milton K.—“What fight?”
Charles—“Why, the janitor's cat licked his paw.”

Mervin A.—“I left some jokes on your desk. Did you see them?”
Miss Mc.—“I read them, but I didn't see them.”

Bill W. was going along with a fishing rod over his shoulder and met
Bob A. Bob shouted to him: “Hello! Goin' fishin'?”
Bill (deaf to Junior)—“No, I'm goin' fishin'.”
Bob (deaf to Senior)—“Oh, I thought maybe you was goin' fishin'.”

Miss McEwing—“Henry, give me a sentence containing the pronoun I.”
Hank S.—“I is—.”
Miss Mc.—“Not 'I is'; you should say 'I am'.”
Hank—“All right. I am the ninth letter of the alphabet.”

“Are you the trained nurse?”
“Yes.”
“Well, let's see some of your tricks.”

Hickory, dickory, dock
The mouse ran up a clock,
The co-ed screamed,
The mouse, it seemed,
Had run right up her sock.

Frances—“Did the bell ring?”
Alice D.—“Sure. Did you think it would knock?”

A son at college wrote to his father:
“No mon, no fun, your son.”
The father answered:
“How sad, too bad, your dad.”

“What is your son in college?”
“A halfback.”
“I mean in his studies.”
“Oh, in his studies he's away back.”

"Hope you liked those queer little Chinese back-scratchers I sent you, dear."

"Is that what they are? Mercy! I've been making my husband eat his salad with them."

Though they had not met be-4,
 What cause had she 2-care?
 She loved him 10-derly
 For he was a 1,000,000-aire.

Judge (to prisoner)—"When were you born?"

(No reply)—"When is your birthday?"

Prisoner (sullenly)—"Wot do you care? You are not going to give me anything."

She—"Does the moon affect the tide?"

He—"No, the untied."

A baseball player is seldom a good musician. He always slides when he reaches base.

Donald M.—"Would you accept a pet monkey?"

Rosena P.—"Oh, this is so sudden. I would have to ask mother."

It was midnight on the ocean
 And was storming to beat the band,
 But the sailor did not mind it—
 He was sitting on dry land.

"My heart is in the ocean," said Alice D.

"You have done me one better," moaned her seasick friend, Levin Charles, as he took a firmer grip on the rail.

"Dearest Alice," wrote Bert, "I would swim the mighty ocean for one glance from your dear eyes. I would walk through a wall of flame for one touch of your little hand. I would leap the widest chasm in the world for a word from your lovely lips. As always, Your Bert."

P. S. "I'll be over Saturday night if it doesn't rain."

Miss Mosgrove asked the Seniors to write an editorial for a theme, and in giving suggestions said that "puppy love" might be an interesting topic to work up.

Donald Madden, who was busy copying the assignment when the above statement was made, looked up and innocently inquired, "Does it have to be a personal experience?"

Gertrude S.—"Jo, why don't you play the pipe organ any more?"

Josephine T.—"Because I think I'm too old to play with my feet."

Prof. Barrett (in Biology)—"Where do insects go in the winter, Charlie?"

Fat S. (absent-mindedly)—"Search me!"

Fritz—"Hey! Your headlights are out."

Jack Doveton—"Yea, I put wood alcohol in the radiator and the darn thing's gone blind."

Bill Ronald—"Daddy, I peeked into the parlor last night when Jack and Jean were in there."

Mr. R.—"What did you find out?"

Bill—"The light."

LONG YEARS AGO

Long years ago
When I was young
I roved the meadows green.
This was the life
For me to live
And pass thru life, unseen.

Long years ago
When I was young
I never had a friend.
But since that time
I've learned my wrongs
And started to amend.

A stranger then
You were to me;
But now I love you true.
I want you near
Me all the time,
And all my hours with you.

Written by our love-sick swain

THE SALIDA RECORD

When you wish something that stands out above the ordinary type of printing, you can always depend on your Salida Record.

The 1927 High School Annual Staff is to be congratuated on, for the wonderful way in which they have planned and arranged the book, but as wonderful as this is, were it not for the high class manner in which it is printed, you would not have pride in reviewing it in the years to come.

SALIDA

Situated at the base of the mountains on the eastern slope, has a population of 5908.

Municipally owned water works supply abundant pure water from springs in the nearby mountains. Has excellent fire department.

Has well equipped municipal camping grounds for tourists.

Its public schools are unsurpassed and additional buildings have recently been erected, costing $110,000.00.

It has many churches.

The Elks have a very beautiful and well appointed and equipped Home at Salida, and this organization is very active.

The altitude is 7,050 feet, and climate conditions both winter and summer are excellent.

Salida is surrounded by a rich farming and dairying country. Mountain vegetables are extensively grown, including head lettuce, telephone peas, cauliflower, etc.

A marked revival in mining has occurred, because of our immense deposits of gold, silver, copper, zinc and other precious metals.

Industrially Salida is known. Excellent monumental granites, both gray and pink, are being shipped in both finished and natural states to various parts of the United States.

There has been erected during the year 1926 a creosoting plant by the National Lumber & Creosoting Co. and also a plant for the extraction of precious metals by the Gordon Metals Extraction Co.

A Tourist Bureau is located at "F" and Third Streets for the information of auto tourists. A rest room is also provided for out-of-town visitors in the same building.

Correspondence is handled by The Salida Chamber of Commerce.
