SENIOR CLASS OF '43

CLASS HISTORY

The "Mighty Seniors" of '43 entered the Salida High School as green as any freshman class with 136 members enrolled under Mr. Soles as sponsor. They were properly initiated and to show the school that they were really "something," held a Freshman Week. Included in this were a skating party, a paper, a treat to the school, an assembly and a dance. The little "Freshies" entered a float in the homecoming parade and later had a picnic.

With a class of 100 they advanced to sophomores under Miss Scott as sponsor. During this year an assembly was given on the Kay Kyser order.

The class advanced to juniors with 99 members. Their sponsor again was Mr. Soles. Third prize was received for their float in the homecoming parade. The class play "Young April" was presented under Mr. Custer's direction. The theme of the annual Junior-Senior Prom was of a Hawaiian nature. The banquet was banished because of the war.

While seniors, the class presented a very successful initiation with Mr. King as sponsor. The climax was an assembly where the freshies showed they could "take it." The motto "The best hearts are always the bravest" was adopted by the 59 seniors. Red and white were chosen as the class colors. The red rose was chosen as the flower. Helen McCauley won both as Queen of the Winter Festival and Homecoming. A United States flag and a Colorado flag were presented to the school. An assembly and a class play were given later in the year.

JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class has given three pay-assemblies this year to sponsor the Annual Junior-Senior Prom which was held May 15, 1943. They very effectively carried out the theme of a flower garden.

They also gave a class play called "The Bat" which was produced on February 9 and 10. Elaine Matthews and Shayle Smith carried the leading roles while Katherine Theotokatos and Brian Macartney did very well in supporting roles. Others in the play were: Bob Nevens, Catherine Davenport, Douglas Dishno, Doris Keeling, Harvey Swain and Arden Good.

There were 77 Juniors in the class this year.

FRESHMEN

The Freshman Class of 1942-43 came to our school as "green" as any freshman class.

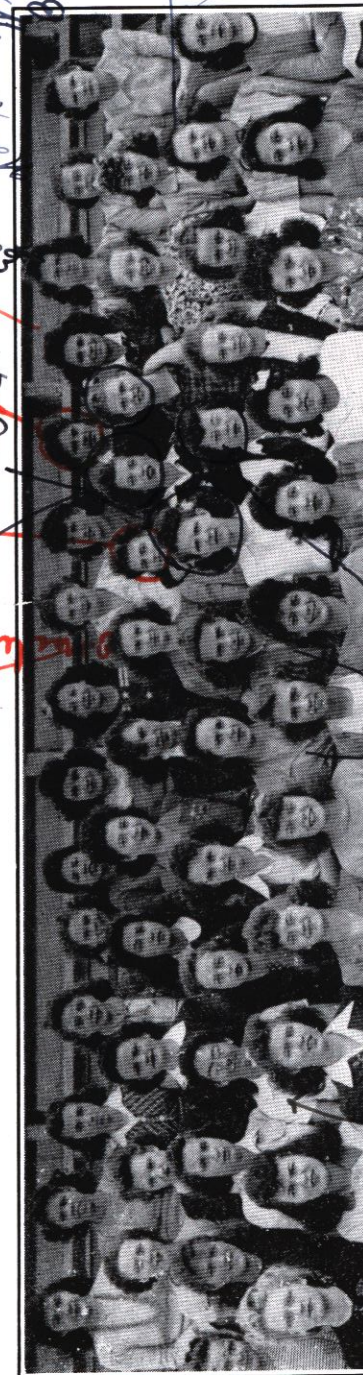

When they first came into high school they elected officers.

Secondly they entertained the school with an assembly.

The freshmen also entered a float in the homecoming parade.

Jeraldyn Alfont won recognition by having a poem accepted for publication in the "Anthology of High School Poetry."

Shayle Smith, Center      Eugene McClure, Halfback

The football season proved to be one of the best for the Spartan squad. After very successfully winning their practice games, they entered into league play and won the championship the second consecutive year.

They entered the State play-offs by playing Las Animas in the quarter finals, and progressed to play Grand Junction in the semi-finals. On December 5, 1942, they met their first defeat of the year to lose the state championship to Loveland, 26 to 18.

SPRING FOOTBALL AND TRACK

Annual spring football training went into effect this year on April 12, when 45 boys checked out uniforms. The training period as usual lasted for three weeks or until April 30, when Seniors, and under-classmen fought it out in their annual game to prove who was the better.

During May an inter-class track meet was held for the students.

The Spartan Squad had one of the most outstanding seasons this year. They came in first place in the West Central League which therefore gave them the right to go to the district tournament at Alamosa. At Alamosa they played five games and won all of them, this entitled them to go to Denver to the State playoffs. At Denver they won two games and dropped two games to lose the consolation title.

BOTTOM ROW—Steve Makris, Joe Beck, Melvin Cuenin, Eugene McClure, Jimmy Stotler, Leonard Paquette and Lloyd Moore.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming started with a parade which left Alpine Park and after going through the down-town district terminated at the highschool football field.

The queen, Helen McCauley, and her three attendants, Jane Etter, Mary Parker and Susan DeBuona, were seated in the Senior float and were driven around the field before the game.

At the half, Helen was crowned by Otis Camp and maneuvers were made by the Band, Glee Club and Pep Club.

The football that was used was autographed by all the members of the team and then was auctioned off for war bonds. E. L. Stotler was highest bidder and so was awarded the ball.

The day was climaxed by a Spartan win over Central, 34-0.

OPEN HOUSE

The evening of November 23 was Open House for Salida High School. For the benefit of the parents of the pupils and the patrons of Salida schools, the teachers and pupils planned classes to be carried on as regular "day" classes.

After the classes were over, the audience convened to the auditorium where they enjoyed music presented by the Glee Club and dramatics by the Dramatics Club.

Due to gasoline and tire rationing the crowd was much smaller than usual.

CLUBS

This was an active year for the various clubs and organizations of Salida High.

The theme of "Armed Service" was carried through the year in Hi-Y. Each meeting a branch of the service was discussed. A joint meeting with the Girl Reserves was held. The Hi-Y dance was given at the Assembly Hall February 12. The Club had charge of a most impressive Thanksgiving day assembly.

The "S" Club is made up of the letter-men of the football and basketball teams. On March 26, they gave an amusing assembly. A Mother-Son banquet was held April 6 in the home-ec rooms. A very successful year was drawn to a close with a picnic.

The International Relations club had a most progressive year. Several outside speakers were brought before the club. Among them was Mrs. Miller who was at Pearl Harbor on December 7. At the first of the year a hay ride was enjoyed by all the members. The annual Winter Festival was successfully held December 18 in the gymnasium.

This was an interesting year for the members of Beta Phi. Thirteen new members were elected into this organization. Many social affairs were held, among them a buffet supper before the initiation of the new members. The assembly was given January 22, a quiz program being presented. A party took the place of the annual banquet.

The Girl Reserves had as a subject this year "Social Relations," mainly—boy and girl relations. At Christmas, a basket was prepared and sent to the home of a needy family. A breakfast was held for the mothers of the girls. The St. Patrick's day theme was carried out.

The Pep Club was very active during the athletic season. Only girls could belong. The girls marched in various formations at the football games. The goal posts were always decorated. A Sadie Hawkins dance was given March 26.

The Library Club is an organization of girls under the direction of the school librarian. The girls take care of the library and desk during the study halls. A Christmas party was given for the members and their guests. The club carried on a book campaign the latter part of the year. The assemblies presented by this organization were most impressive.

The Commercial Club is made up of those students who are taking a commercial course. They had several luncheons throughout the year.

The Student Council had a progressive year. They sponsored a scrap drive in the early part of the year. A Salida High School Honor Roll was made with the names of all the former Salida High men in the armed services. A Student Council dance was given.

Pictures for the annual were taken by the Camera Club. This organization also took pictures of all the football games.

The Band has had an active year. They presented a concert and sponsored a jeep campaign. War stamp corsages were sold to the school students. The Band played for all the football and basketball games and played on various occasions down-town.

The Glee Club and A Cappella choir had a most successful year. They presented several concerts and their annual Variety Show was a huge success. At the end of the year George Howerton musical director at Northwestern, was brought here to supervise the musical department for two days; at the end of this time a concert was presented.

The Paper Staff had a very successful year. They put out a paper every two weeks as regular routine work. They also put out two football extras.

The G. A. A. gave a very interesting program in the form of a circus. This is an all-girl organization. The girls marched in various football parades.
